LONG LIST OF CHARGES TO BE FILED AGAINST GREEN

Northern Dry Chief Must Answer Grave Accusations; Flatly Denies Any Wrongdoing

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22. (Exclusive)—The machinery of the government was moving swiftly today, grinding out the grist of charges against Ned M. Green, prohibition administrator for Northern California and Nevada, to be laid before the Federal grand jury Monday.

Accusations that originally were set forth in the general terms of criminal negligence, misconduct and the appropriation of seized liquors to his own use, today began to take on more specific aspect.

The administrator is charged by his accusers with having protected certain bootleggers, with having fitted up the official speed boat Lady Lou for the purpose of entertaining his friends aboard, with diverting certain seized liquors to a physician friendat a local hospital and receiving liquor prescriptions from him, with engaging in drunken brawls, with being seen intoxicated in public, with associating with women of the underworld, with staging riotous parties in local hotels, with making certain raids for the purpose of obtaining liquor for use on his parties with using the official automobile and chauffeur on wild parties, with associating with rum-runners socially, and with ordering certain search warrants destroyed.

There is no evidence, however, of him being bribed.

AGENTS QUESTIONED

Secret conferences were being held today in the office of Alf Oftedal, chief of the intelligence unit of the Internal Revenue Department, whose agents are said to have been investigating Green's private and public activities for several months.

It is known that many prohibition agents, members of the personnel of Green's office, and others have been called into these conferences for questioning by Oftedal and have been sworn to secrecy as to what takes place there.

It was also revealed that the charges against Green were made direct to Washington and that Oftedal got his instructions from there to make undercover investigation of the administrator's activities. Green's appropriation of seized liquors for his own use is said to have made up the larger part of 271 papers dispatched to Washington as the result of Oftedal's investigation.

Green himself may appear before Oftedal if he chooses but he will not be urged to do so, it was announced today. The administrator said that he would willingly visit Oftedal if invited. He is contemplating writing to Frank Dow, secretary to assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews, national prohibition head, absent in Europe, asking Dow what the investigation here "is all about."

INQUIRY AID ORDERED

Telegraphic instructions from the United States Treasury Department are said to have been received by Oftedal today directing him to extend all possible aid to United States Attorney Hatfield and to Mrs. Mabel Walker Willebrandt, special assistant to the United States Attorney-General in prohibition matters, who will lay the charge against Green before the grand jury Monday.

It is understood that Thomas J. Sheridan, former United States Attorney and an attache of Hatfield's office, who is expert in drawing up indictments, has been wired to return immediately from his vacation for a conference with Hatfield.

According to certain high officials connected with the preliminary investigation of Green's activities, attaches of his office are also said to be involved in the misconduct charges but it is doubtful whether they could afterward be indicted if called as witnesses in a grand jury investigation resulting in Green's indictment.

Meantime nearly a score of approximately twenty-five subpoenas have been served on hotel managers and assistants and employees, on hotel residents, on attaches of Green's office and others.

DENIES COMPLAINT

While Green stated Wednesday that the management of the Hotel Whitcomb had discharged a house detective in consequence of Green's complaint that empty liquor bottles were being left at his door and in his wastebasket, Manager Drury of the Hotel Whitcomb denied today that Green had ever brought a complaint of that kind to the management.

"As for William Millay," said Drury, "he was employed as a detective at the hotel only on special occasions and his services were dispensed with only because large entertainments at the hotel were few during the summer."

U. S. Atty. Hatfield said today that his office had nothing to do with the charges being brought against Green.

"The investigation was authorized direct from the Treasury Department in Washington and all evidence to be presented was obtained by Oftedal and agents under him."

Oftedal and Hatfield today called into conference Harry Taylor, former prohibition agent, who was dismissed from the service recently when two young women were arrested coming from a dinner party at his home with several bottles of liquor they said he gave them.

ACCUSED GREEN

Taylor is said to have told Hatfield and Oftedal that on the night of his dinner party Green was regaling himself in like fashion in a San Mateo home.

The accusation that Green diverted quantities of seized liquors to the sanatorium of Dr. Charles Morton and that Dr. Morton furnished Green with prescriptions for liquor was denied by both men today.

"It is true that Green was a patient in my hospital for about three weeks about a year ago when he underwent two operations," said Dr. Morton, "and I believe that he was administered liquor as his condition warranted. But I have no recollection of having given him liquor prescriptions after he left the hospital."

Green in his denial said:

"I was given only such draughts of liquor as to aid recuperation. Records show that Dr. Morton drew only one-fourth of the liquor to which he was entitled."

Green reiterated his categorical denial of all charges and accusations against him.

GENERAL DENIAL

"As I have not been officially informed of any charges preferred against me, I cannot make any official statement denying them," Col. Green said. "In a general way I deny any and all charges of misconduct in office. My record is clear during the ten months I have been in office. The more the grand jury investigates, the better I will be off, for that body will then know what I have accomplished.

"I took this job last September unwillingly, at the request of Assistant Secretary of the Treasury Andrews. He, I understand, intends to resign in September. Whatever intention I had of resigning with him is altered. I will not resign now until this thing is cleared up.

"My record of twenty-five years as an army officer has been smirched. Even though the charges will be proven untrue, an irreparable damage has been done me.

CHARGES HELD IDIOTIC

"I have been charged with almost everything, I hear, from getting into rows with hotel bell boys to diverting confiscated liquor for my own use. They are all idiotic on the face of them. I have been in the liquor store room in the Subtreasury three or four times in my life. A record is made of every bottle seized and none could be abstracted without the matter coming to light.

"I have nothing to do with the issuing of permits of any kind, leaving it all to the department heads and holding them fully responsible. I have shown favors to no one. Not a single politician has made a request of me except once, when I first took office. Then I declined to hire a man because he had been recommended by politicians. Since then I have been let alone."

FOUR MEET DEATH IN ALBANY STORM

ALBANY (N. Y.) July 22. (AP)—Four deaths and a score of persons hurt, two critically, was the toll taken in Albany and vicinity today by the record heat wave and the terrific lightning and wind storm which brought it to an end late today. Heat prostration, lightning and falling trees and structures caused the injuries.

James M. Droogan, 30 years of age, succumbed to the heat.

Pearl Muskat, 14, an inmate of the House of the Good Shepherd, Troy, was pinned under a tree felled by the wind and killed. She and other children on a picnic were fleeing for shelter from the storm. The girl suffered a compound fracture of the skull.

An unidentified laborer also was fleeing for shelter and was killed when about to enter a shack. Wind bowled the shack over, scattering the boards. At the same moment, a bolt of lightning struck the spot. The laborer was killed, either by the lightning or the debris from the shack. A companion was struck by lightning and seriously hurt.

Daniel Horn, 55, of Binghamton, was electrocuted when chopping away a tree that had fallen across a highway and carried with it a high-tension wire.

RELIEF FORECAST FOR ATLANTIC SEABOARD

WASHINGTON, July 22. (AP)—The heat wave which has swept the country for the past several days has been broken as far east as the Appalachian Mountains and the Weather Bureau tonight predicted that relief will come tomorrow to the Atlantic seaboard.

Local thundershowers throughout the Middle West and the Southwest brought relief there today.

Lower temperatures tomorrow, but with a rising thermometer again Saturday west of the Appalachians was forecast by the bureau, which said that there will be scattered local thundershowers Friday in the East Gulf and South Atlantic States and in portions of the Middle Atlantic States and Saturday in the extreme South.

The death toll from the two-day heat wave in the national capital was increased to four today with the death of two persons. The temperature of 103 deg. was but one degree under the record July temperature of yesterday.

CONVICTS MAKE RAID ON PRISON

Escaped Pair Kill Guard and Free Six Friends

Liberated Men Flee in Fast Automobile

Night Attack Throws Jail Into Panic

HUNTSVILLE (Tex.) July 22. (AP)—Two convicts who escaped recently from the Ferguson prison farm near Midway in Madison county returned shortly before midnight Wednesday and shot and killed Will Rader, 50-year-old guard, shot at two other guards, liberated six of their friends from the prison cellhouse and escaped with them in an automobile headed for Crockett.

Prisoners who remained on the farm after the raid told the first complete story of the night's events to Warden Speer in person this afternoon.

SHOTS TIP OFF RAID

The prison camp had settled down for the night by 11 p.m. and the first inkling of the raid came when three shots from an automatic shotgun were fired point-blank into the body of the guard, Rader, the prisoners said.

Just as the shooting began, the building tender, Pat McCoy, a trusty, switched off all lights in the prisoners' quarters. The man who did the shooting called out the names of six prisoners and told them to strike matches and get ready to leave. He went directly to the keys to the inner compartment and opened the door to the prisoners' lock-up.

When the first shots were fired, John Kittlebank, who was guarding the outside of the building from a point in the rear of the camp near the stock lots, made a dash for the front door. He was stopped by a shot from the raider's companion who was stationed in front of the building.

GUARDS ENTER FIGHT

Frank Dowlin, guard, who was to have relieved Rader at midnight, awoke with the first shot and rushed out of his sleeping quarters. The prisoners and raiders had gathered in front of the building by this time and one of the men fired at him. Kittlebank began firing at the fleeing party at this juncture, and Dowlin also emptied his pistol at their backs.

The convicts and their liberators hastened to the parked touring car on the Midway road, fired two more shots and departed.

None of the other prisoners in the building attempted to escape, believing the shooting outside of the building meant a pitched battle between guards and escaping men.

When Kittlebank and Dowlin returned to the building, they found the body of Rader crumpled on the floor.

The convicts who escaped were George Dixon, Charlie Pryor, Richard Naylor, E. H. Holland, Robert Barnard and Ireland Alvin. Dixon, who had served two terms in California prisons was serving a thirty-year term for robbery.

YOLO COUNTY DECLINES

"Yolo county repeatedly was invited to co-operate with the State and the adjacent counties of Napa, Colusa, Lake and Solano, in the establishment of a fire-protection organization. The State agreed to furnish a ranger and pay his salary if the county would put up a reasonable amount—about $500—for actual fire-fighting expense, but the Yolo county Supervisors repeatedly declined this offer.

"When the Capay Valley fire broke out, it spread despite the efforts of individuals whose property was threatened; yet it was not until last night, after the towns of Brooks and Guinda had been threatened with destruction, that the Supervisors became interested and offered to foot the fire-fighting bill if a State ranger were furnished. Ranger George Leverett was sent in from Colusa county and today the fire is under control—but at a cost of approximately $100,000 in property damage instead of the few hundred dollars co-operative fire protection would have cost."

FIRES MAR BEAUTY

"I went to Redding yesterday in an effort to arouse interest in the fire situation and found that the overwhelming sentiment of people and public officials there favors the uncontrolled burning of brush, irrespective of the fact that such fires may destroy property and mar the beauty of the Pacific Highway.

"I was even told that these brush fires were a fine thing for the county."

Pratt said the State protects at its own expense certain timber areas in Shasta county, but does not feel that it should take over the whole burden of combatting brush fires in other areas.

To date, twenty-two of California's fifty-eight counties have signed co-operative fire-protection agreements with the State Forester; all of the other counties, however, Pratt pointed out, are not in favor of "more and bigger brush fires." Some of them, such as Los Angeles, have excellent fire-fighting organizations of their own. Others, such as Plumas, are in national forests, where the problem of fire protection is a Federal one.

The twenty-two counties which have signed co-operative agreements are Amador, Butte, Calaveras, Colusa, El Dorado, Fresno, Humboldt, Lake, Lassen, Mendocino, Nevada, Placer, Riverside, Sacramento, Santa Clara, Santa Cruz, Solano, Siskiyou, Sonoma, Tehama, Tuolumne and Yuba.

CHICAGO VOTE RECOUNT ASKED

Senator Reed of Missouri Seeks Action

Officials Find 4,000,000 Unlawful Ballots

CHICAGO, July 22. (AP)—A complete recount of the vote cast in Cook county, Chicago, for the United States Senatorial nomination in both Republican and Democratic parties was ordered today by County Judge Jabecki at the request of Senator Reed of Missouri, chairman of the Senate Campaign Expenditures Committee.

The court acted as true bills reported to have been voted against fifty-four judges and clerks of election in the April primaries were awaited in the criminal court.

SEEKS COUNTY AID

Senator Reed sought the aid of the county court in determining how the Senatorial ballots were handled as his committee prepared to assemble here Monday for an inquiry into the Senatorial primaries.

The fifty-four judges and clerks were indicted on charges of conspiracy to make a false count, in connection with irregularities at the polls.

The indictments, the third group returned, brings to 109 the indictments returned against judges and clerks. Eleven were named in the first writs and forty-four in the second group.

The writs have been returned as rapidly as a recount of the returns showed false tabulations.

Officials engaged in a recount of votes cast for county candidates, both Democrat and Republican, thus far have uncovered upward of 200,000 false ballots, and have estimated that nearly 4,000,000 individual votes will have been thrown out or otherwise changed, when the recount is completed. In many instances it has been asserted that election official did not even bother to make a count, but gave the various candidates an agreed number of ballots.

Col. Frank L. Smith, Republican Senatorial nominee; George E. Brennan, his Democrat opponent, and losing candidates opposed to them, with their campaign managers and officials of various orgahizations, have been called to testify before the Senate committee.

Alexander O'Grady, attorney for the unions, elicited from Cauley the admission that he came to San Francisco on March 28 at the behest of the Industrial Association and received his transportation from Los Angeles.

Violence was renewed in the carpenters' strike today when Nicalo Dinella, Oakland, a nonunion carpenter employed in San Francisco, was attacked by four autoloads of strike sympathizers.

Called from the building by the men, Dinella was knocked out by a blow on the jaw delivered by one of the gang when Dinella admitted he did not have a union card. The men fled.

MOULDER ATTACKED

Michael Zombey, 35 years of age, a nonunion molder residing at 1900 Golden Gate avenue, was attacked from behind and knocked unconscious at Second and Market streets while on his way to work this morning.

Zombey, who is employed by the San Francisco Brass Foundry, told the police later that he believes he was hit with brass knuckles, but that he did not see his assailants nor the weapons they used.

Zombey was assisted by pedestrians to his place of employment and later taken to St. Lukes's Hospital, where he was treated for a lacerated wound of the jaw and minor bruises. The matter was reported to the police but no trace of the assailants found.

CHARGE COAST GUARD PLOT

Entire Unit Asserted to Have Voted to Engage in Rum-Running Business

ASBURY PARK (N. J.) (AP)—A confession that members of one [illegible] Guard station voted unanimously to go into the rum-running business featured the first day's inquiry by Supt. M. W. Rasmussen, [illegible] the Fifth District, into the Jersey Patrol.

Rum runners in another instance were declared to have been instructed by the wife of a station commander as to the best time to bring in cargoes.

Ten men are under arrest as a result of the disclosures, a dozen have been suspended and additional arrests are expected momentarily.

Commander J. W. Wheeler, assigned from Washington as special investigator, and Walter U. Brower, are assisting Supt. Rasmussen in the inquiry which is planned to cover the entire patrol in this section.

Coast Guard officials declined tonight to comment because of strict orders from Washington headquarters. The investigation developed from asserted Coast Guard opposition to the activities of Game Warden Hamilton Evernham.

With the aid of Mrs. Mary Arnold of Point Pleasant, eighteen persons were arrested by Evernham for selling wild ducks and geese illegally and fined $200 each.

Included in this number was Tom Beers, Jr., a son of the captain of Love Lady Station of the Coast Guard. Evernham drove to a hearing of the accused before Justice Potter of West Creek in a borrowed automobile and during the trial a member of the Coast Guard appeared with a bottle of whisky he said was found in the Game Warden's car. Evernham charged the whisky was placed in his machine by a guardsman and last Tuesday Rasmussen and Wheeler appeared in Sheriff Grant's office and obtained certain affidavits.

One of these, signed by Thomas Driscoll of Tuckerton, declared that the captain of a station near Beach Haven, and the machinist's mate and two members of the crew had transported eight cases of liquor across Barnegat Bay. The machinist's mate in his confession said the captain helped load the whisky.

The captain's confession was obtained and he implicated another officer who admitted receiving $3 a case for allowing liquor to come in. The money, he said, was split four ways with captains of three adjoining stations.

The police are displaying great activity throughout the country and arrests continue.

BRITAIN TAKES ISSUE WITH MELLON ON WAR DEBT

Contention Raised That No Cause for Discrimination Exists in Use of Money

LONDON, July 22. (AP)—The British Treasury Department has taken issue with the statements recently made by Andrew W. Mellon, secretary of the United States Treasury, and Acting Secretary Winston of the Treasury, in which the contention was set forth that Great Britain had negotiated a large part of her loan from the United States for "purely commercial, as distinguished from war, purposes."

An elaborate rejoinder was made public today by the British Treasury Department, which concludes as follows:

"Great Britain provided sterling and allied currencies to meet all her own requirements throughout the war and, in addition, bore the burden of covering the sterling requirements of her continental allies.

"But for the fact that the United States did not feel able on entering the war to relieve her of this additional burden, Great Britain would have been able to meet from the resources she placed at the disposal of her allies, her expenditures in America, and in all human probability, the French debt to the United States would never have been incurred.

REASON FOR STATEMENT

"The British Treasury feels it necessary to set forth the foregoing facts because they seem to show that no case for discriminating against Great Britain can be founded upon her use of money borrowed from the United States for the prosecution of the war. No complaint has been made by Great Britain against the manner of discrimination with which she has been treated.

"It is recognized that the creditor is entitled to discriminate between nations and that a debtor is bound to comply with the demands of the creditor up to the full limit of the debtor's ability. It is only when reasons are assigned for such discrimination which clearly arise from a misconception of the facts that necessary correction of fact must be made."

MELLON'S STATEMENT

The Treasury communique starts with a reference to Secretary Mellon's statement as referred to by Chancellor Churchill in the House of Commons on the 19th inst.

The Chancellor of the Exchequer quoted the American Secretary of the Treasury as having said that England borrowed a large proportion of her debt for purely commercial, as distinct from war purposes, to meet commercial obligations maturing in America, to furnish India with silver, to buy food and to maintain exchange.

American loans to England, according to Secretary Mellon, were not so much to provide war supplies as to furnish sterling for home and foreign needs and to save England from borrowing from her own people.

Communique then proceeds: "A further statement, reported to have been issued by the United States Treasury, while largely confirming the facts cited by the Chancellor of the Exchequer, refers to certain further points of detail, on which comment appears desirable.

"This statement sets out under certain headings the expenditure incurred by Great Britain in the United States after the latter's entry into the war, showing a total of approximately $7,219,000,000."

TAKES ISSUE

Then quoting five headings of this expenditure from the American Treasury statement, the communique continues:

"It is not understood why the United States Treasury statement appears to treat dollars derived by the British Treasury from the sale of sterling and rupees is not constituting part of Great Britain's independent resources:

"The United States government was provided by Great Britain for the American Army needs in the United Kingdom with sterling, against which the United States paid dollars. This was in essence a purchase of exchange for sterling, and clearly must be regarded as an independent resource of Great Britain. On the United States Treasury's figures therefore, items 2, 3 and 4 account for $1,300,000,000 out of the total expenditure of $7,219,000,000.

"As regards the further sum of $1,853,000,000 obtained from the European Allies in the form of reimbursements, it must be remembered that Great Britain throughout the war furnished the Allies with assistance in obtaining purchases in the United States.

"For example, Great Britain could have satisfied her cereal requirements from the British dominions and Argentine without purchasing wheat in the United States and without borrowing dollars for that purpose. To save tonnage and the risk of U-boat attacks, however, it was arranged that Italy and France should be supplied at Mediterranean ports with cereals grown in the British Empire, whereas we bought for ourselves in America, and borrowed for the purpose.

COST DISTRIBUTED

"The cost of all these purchases was distributed between the Allies, and considerable amounts were repaid by them (out of loans they raised in the United States.) But a large proportion remains at the charge of the British government and is included in the British debt to America.

"Moreover, the reimbursements received from the other Allies were more than equaled by further British purchases in America of essential commodities, and the reimbursements in no way invalidate the fact that British purchases of American munitions, foodstuffs and other commodities essential for the prosecution of the war largely exceeded the amount Great Britain borrowed from the United States.

"The statement of the United States Treasury shows that there is no disagreement upon the actual figures and that, of the total of $7,219,000,000 Great Britain expended in the United States between 1917 and 1920, only $4,074,000,000 was borrowed from the United States."

DAILY MAIL TURNS FIRE ON UNITED STATES

LONDON, July 22 (Exclusive)—For the fourth successive morning, Lord Rothermere's paper, the Daily Mail, in a long editorial, attacks the United States on its debt claims. This morning's issue declares that it is fortunate Secretary of the Treasury Mellon arrives here Friday.

"Needless to say," the editorial states, "we bid him welcome, for his presence on this side of the Atlantic in hours so critical, for he may be of immense service to the world."

The editorial declares that it hopes the opportunity of his presence will be utilized for a discussion of the whole debt question.

"In the present disturbed state of European currencies and trade, it may be necessary to explain to the United States that the installments on the principal are a gesture of good will which cannot be maintained if Great Britain is to receive nothing from her debtors," the editorial continues. "The people of this country cannot possibly continue for two generations to pay what will inevitably be regarded by them as tribute, without receiving anything of what they are owed.

EXCESSIVE BURDEN

"The burden will be one far beyond their capacity to bear; indeed there is no example of a nation in ancient or modern times paying such an amount to a foreign country. If there is only the extremely remote chance of France and Italy being able to pay us any fraction of what they owe us, then our heavy payments to the United States must completely crush our industries.

"It would be a great mistake to suppose that in such an event as the genuine inability to pay debts owed to foreign governments, the credit of the nation which is unable to pay would be affected. These war debts to governments differ totally from obligations of state to private individuals. Their settlement has nothing whatever to do with currency stabilization and does not secure stability, as international financiers a few years ago professed they would.

"The example of Italy proves this. She has settled her debt question; yet her lira is falling violently and oscillating almost as badly as the franc.

DIFFERENCE IN DEBTS

"This difference of war debts from other debts was perfectly explained by Lord Balfour in the famous note. The Allies, as he wrote, were partners in the greatest international effort ever made in the cause of freedom and they are still partners in dealing with some, at least, of its results. Their debts were incurred and loans were made not for the separate advantage of particular states, but for the great purpose common to them all.

"It must be remembered that practically every penny Germany pays in reparations, supposing she ever fulfils the terms of the Dawes plan, will go to the United States, not to European Allies of America who fought, bled and suffered and all overwhelmed with debt, with economic structures shaken from the foundations, to the summit by these violent currency troubles.

"It must be remembered further that the American government did not accept the proposal made by the Allies that as the credits, represented by the debts to the United States, had been given in American goods, so the repayment of those debts should be made by British or French or Italian imports into the United States.

"As we said from the first, when this debt question was raised five years ago, it always has been our firm conviction, though we lose by it more than any other country, that there is only one solution to the problem, which is simultaneous to cancel all war debts between the Allies and give Europe a chance."

HOT DOG'S WOES TOLD IN BOOK

CHICAGO, July 22. (AP)—The common or baseball-park variety of frankfurter has come into its own.

On the shelves of the University of Chicago library with the classics of literature and the latest words of science reposes a volume solely concerned with the well-being of the "hot dog."

It is the thesis submitted for the degree of doctor of philosophy by Lee M. Roderick, who, studying meat spoilage, became so intrigued by the troubles of the frankfurter that he wrote a whole book about nothing else.

POINCARE SUCCESS HINGES ON ATTITUDE OF RADICALS

Results of Strenuous Efforts to Form National Ministry to be Reported Today

PARIS, July 22. (AP)—Results of M. Poincare's daylong efforts to constitute a national ministry will be reported tomorrow to President Doumergue.

While no official statement was forthcoming tonight as to progress made, the bare fact that Poincare, last of the French stalwarts to tackle the financial problem, was at work was sufficient to cause an appreciable upward reaction in exchange.

Former Premiers Briand and Herriot and former Foreign Minister Deselves were among the leaders consulted today, after which Poincare told correspondents things were "going well." This evening he elaborated to the extent of saying his "consultations" were completed and three remained only a few "conferences" before he would go to the Elysee tomorrow with his final answer.

MINISTERS RECONCILED

The ex-President smilingly told the newspaper correspondents that he did not have time to explain the distinction in his mind between consultations and conferences. He accepted the undertaking only in principle, which is taken to mean that his final answer will be in the affirmative only if he is successful in organizing the kind of ministry he wants and can come to agreement with certain powerful influences to support him.

It is deduced from the circumstances that M. Poincare already has recruited his ministers and will have no further consultations on this subject, but that a conference will be necessary with Albert Sarraut, the new Senator from Carcassonne and part owner of the Radical organ, La Depeche De Toulouse, which this morning declared that the Radicals could not accept M. Poincare as head of the government.

M. Sarraut will confer with M. Poincare in the presence of Louis Barthou, and the developments tomorrow may depend perhaps on the outcome of that interview. It is therefore possible that if the paper does not indicate a change in policy in its next issue, M. Poincare may say to President Doumergue that he cannot form a ministry.

BRIAND ACCEPTS POST

It is understood that M. Briand already has accepted the post of Foreign Affairs. M. Painleve has agreed in principle to take a portfolio in the new Cabinet, while M. Schrameck, one of the Radical leaders, is slated for the Interior Department.

That is all that is known with any certainty regarding the ministry, except that M. Poincare will take charge of the Finance Department.

Raoul Peret, former Finance Minister, was elected today as President of the Chamber of Deputies, which post he held from 1920 to 1924. He succeeds Edouard Herriot, Radical leader, who quit the Chamber Presidency to form the ministry which fell yesterday.

CROWDS IN PARIS AGAIN JEER TOURISTS

PARIS, July 20. (AP)—There was another outburst of antiforeign sentiment in Paris tonight. Large crowds collected on the boulevards near the point where the "seeing Paris" busses start. The demonstrators hooted and jeered and their attitude soon became so threatening that the occupants of two of the busses alighted.

Two other busses, however, started and attempted to force a passage through the crowds which barred the street.

Police reserves were summoned and rescued several American and English tourists, against whom the mob was particularly aggressive. The police cleared the street, however, without making any arrests.

BERLIN JOURNALS BITTER AGAINST POINCARE

BERLIN, July 22. (AP)—Press comment in Berlin on the return to the Premiership of M. Poincare in France is marked by the hostile attitude which German newspapers have displayed toward him, especially since the occupation of the Ruhr.

If Premier Poincare were a statesman with European vision, the Vossiche Zeitung says, he would now have an opportunity of correcting the historical opinion of the unfruitfulness of his past policy.

The Berliner Zeitung Am Mittag says that it is only an act of historical justice that Poincare, whose former policy was a "source of the frightful difficulties now besetting France," should undertake the herculean task of relieving the country of those difficulties.

OFFICIALS CONSIDER OUTLOOK AS IMPROVING

WASHINGTON, July 22. (Exclusive) The selection of Raymond Poincare, former President of France, to form a new French Cabinet to succeed the short-lived one of Herriot, which fell yesterday, was viewed by officials here today as holding out a promise of success in straightening out the serious financial situation which is now threatening France. While no formal comment was made it was evident that officials of this government consider that the outlook is more favorable than it was a few days ago and that they have greater confidence in the ability of Poincare to bring some sort of order out of chaos than they had in his predecessor.

While awaiting announcement of the members of the new Cabinet and of the financial program which will be put forward, it was made plain that administration officials here were not dissatisfied with the turn which affairs have taken in France and that they are looking forward hopefully to adoption by the French government of a policy which will check the downward trend and lead later to a permanent adjustment of its financial and economic affairs.

In spite of the fact that Poincare had been announced as opposed to the American debt settlement, it is believed that the new program may pave the way for a final agreement on this question, which is one of the problems, as viewed here, that must be solved before the permanent recovery of France can be accomplished. Much will depend, it is believed, on the make-up of the Poincare Cabinet, for the backing which it will receive and the confidence which will be placed in its announced policies will be guided by the character of the men forming the body.

That every effort will be made to include in the Cabinet men whose names carry weight and who will be able to lend to the new government the greatest possible support is confidently expected. The promise of a Cabinet which will include as far as possible all political groups in France is an earnest, in the opinion of officials here, indication that the French government at least realizes the extreme seriousness of the situation and the necessity of taking prompt and safe action in order to prevent further collapse of the nation's financial structure and that it is determined this shall be done without any further delay.

FRANC OPENS AT 100 TO 95 IN BELGIUM

BRUSSELS, July 22. (AP)—The French franc opened today at the rate of 100 to 95 Belgian francs, but later strengthened to 98. The pound sterling advanced from 200 to 225, while the dollar went from 41.75 to 42. This movement was largely based on the resignation of the Herriot Cabinet, and the report that a national union ministry under former Premier Poincare would be constituted.

The French crisis is being followed throughout Belgium with great sympathy.

Mother Makes Charge Against Dead Son in Suit

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22. (AP)—A charge that Baldwin Wood, San Francisco attorney and clubman, who committed suicide in San Jose recently, deeded his mother's Fresno county home to himself and then borrowed heavily upon it was made in a suit brought in Superior Court here today by the mother, Mrs. Mary Baldwin Wood, in an effort to prevent sale of the property through foreclosure.

The action seeks to prevent sale of the property, which comprises the 337-acre ranch Laguna De Tache near Fresno, by R. McColgan and Lyman Russell, trustees under a deed of trust held by Minnie M. Hitchcock.

A temporary restraining order was granted by Judge Griffin and the trustees were commanded to appear the 30th inst., to show cause why the order should not be made permanent.

SEVENTH CORDOVAN SAILS TO OBLIVION

CORDOVA (Alaska) July 22. (AP)—For the seventh time this year a resident of Cordova has set out in a small boat and failed to return. Search was started tonight for John Groth, 50 years of age, a mine owner. He left here July 12 in a motor dory and has not since been seen.

MAYO THOMAS FILES IN GUBERNATORIAL RACE

SACRAMENTO, July 22. (AP)—Mayo Thomas, Los Angeles, candidate for the Republican gubernatorial nomination, qualified for a place on the August primary ballot today when the Secretary of State received a nominating petition containing the signatures of 3199 Los Angeles county voters.

SUBWAY STRIKE CALLED OFF

New York Trainmen See Futility of Carrying On Interborough Walkout

NEW YORK, July 22. (Exclusive)—The subway strike is over. About 300 of the strikers at a meeting tonight voted to go back to work tomorrow. They acted on the advice of their leaders, who blamed Mayor Walker for the failure of their cause, although the Mayor became a figure in the situation only at the eleventh hour.

During the evening leaders of the strikers were in communication with Supt. Merritt of the subway division of the Interborough. They planned to march in a body to the Interborough yards tomorrow morning and ask to be taken back on the basis on which they were employed when they walked out. The leaders declared they would be the last to take back their jobs, as they wanted to see their followers safe at work again first.

No announcement was forthcoming from the company but a statement made on behalf of Frank Hedley, president of the Interborough, in the afternoon, indicated that all the men would be taken back, if they came as individuals. As to the three leaders, Edward P. Lavin, Harry Bark and Joseph Phelan, there may be some delay, as James L. Quackenbush, counsel and spokesman for the company, has said frequently that the general council of the Interborough Brotherhood, the so-called company union, will have to be consulted before these three men are put back to work.

Mayor Walker's effort to act as mediator failed, and Lavin told the men tonight:

"We had an appointment with the Mayor at 2 o'clock this afternoon. At 12 o'clock the conference was called off. The reason given us for the cancellation was that the Interborough Rapid Transit Company would not attend and hence Mayor Walker considered the conference would be a waste of time. Some of us think that the wires were pulled but that does not alter the fact that we are beaten."

COMMISSION TO ROUGH IT IN YOSEMITE

Party Starts Into Devil's Post Pile Country to Study Proposed Annexation

YOSEMITE, July 22. (AP)—Critics of governmental affairs who like to shy their shafts at the so-called "swivel chair commissions" will have to take off their summer straws to President Coolidge's Co-operation Commission which started out today to adjust the southeastern boundaries of Yosemite National Park.

The commission, headed by Congressman Temple of Pennsylvania, said good-by today to the hotels with their lounge seats and the thickly upholstered sedans and took horses for the Devil's Post Pile country which is about as tough as its name implies. Rocky trails, the ruts and sump holes of old mining workings and brush thickets that will have to be beaten through await the adventurers, although at the same time the country shares much of the magnificence that is Yosemite.

The commissioners will be in the wilds of the Devil's Post Pile country for eight days to determine whether it should be re-annexed to the National Park area or should be continued as a mineral preserve. In 1905 the area was separated from the park due to the presence thereon of a number of mining claims. Mining lagged, however, and a group of out-of-door organizations who like the wilds where they really are wild petitioned the government to restore the Devil's Post Pile lands to the park. The President appointed the commission.

Other members of the commission are Duncan McDuffie, Berkeley; Col. Greely, chief forester of the United States; Stephen T. Mather, director of the National Park Service, and Arthur T. Ringland, secretary of the commission.

STEUBENVILLE (O.) July 22. (AP)—Twenty-one indictments placing criminal responsibility for the crash on May 15 of the $1,000,000 Union Savings Bank of Yorkville, O., were returned by the Jefferson county grand jury today.

Persons indicted are Vice-President Thomas S. Jones, Steubenville; Cashier W. E. Jones, Martins Ferry; Assistant Cashier Brindley Jones of Yorkville; W. B. Francis, a director, Martin's Ferry, and Attorney John O. Belknap, Steubenville.

Thomas S. Jones, W. E. Jones and Brindley Jones are under $40,000 bail each following their arrest several weeks ago. W. B. Francis is a former Congressman from the Eighteenth Ohio District and Attorney Belknap is a former judge of Jefferson county and recent candidate for Congress.

BLUECOATS OF NATION LAUDED

Chiefs Conclave Addressed by Vice-President

Dawes Pays High Tribute to Police Officers

Speaks in Highest Terms of Their Bravery

CHICAGO, July 22. (AP)—The Vice-President of the United States tonight eulogized the nation's bluecoats.

"The policeman on the corner protecting individual and property rights is a visible living representative of the Constitution of the United States, of the government of the State, of the government of the city and of law and order," Brig.-Gen. Charles G. Dawes told the International Association of Chiefs of Police at its thirty-third annual banquet.

Mr. Dawes lauded the bravery of the policeman who "generally goes to the conflict as one man—all alone," unassisted by the influence of mass psychology as is the soldier at war.

"Among the reasons why the policeman does not receive his deserved public acclaim and sympathy is because he is always at work and the record of his heroism is a continuous one, and therefore attracts less attention," said the Vice-President. "Familiarity always breeds inattention at least."

Aggregate statistics often are misleading, Mr. Dawes pointed out, adding that every homicide, "however unpremeditated and unassociated with the continual attack upon law and order by the criminal class, is charged up by the unthinking as an evidence of the lack of efficient police supervision."

He cited figures of Chicago's 1925 homicides. Last year 458 persons were slain here, but only 102 of the deaths involved the elements of malice-aforethought and premeditation necessary to be classified as murders, he said. Sixty per sent of the homicides occurred in two radical groups, he pointed out, as an illustration of how the public overlooks police efficiency. Those groups constitute 12 per cent of Chicago's population.

London law enforcement justly is respected, Mr. Dawes remarked, but London has a policeman for every 384 persons, as against Chicago's one for every 544 persons. Chicago would need 3000 more bluecoats to equal London's ratio, he said.

William E. Dever, the Democratic Mayor of Chicago, was praised by the Republican Vice-President as "one of the best Mayors this or any other city ever has had."

At their business meeting today the chief's chose Windsor, Ont., for their 1927 convention city and elected Daniel J. O'Brien, chief of the San Francisco department, president of the association.

ROAD WANTS TO RUN PARK STAGE LINE

Rail Company Accused of Seeking to Get Monopoly on Yosemite Traffic

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—The Yosemite Valley Railroad Company, which is opposing the application of the Yosemite Park and Curry Company for a certificate to operate a stage line between Bricsburg and El Portal, is seeking the certificate itself if the State Railroad Commission decides there is public necessity for the stage line, it was revealed today at a hearing before Examiner Handford. Fred P. Elsey, president of the railroad, said on the stand he thought his company is entitled to preference.

Witnesses for the applicant were Don Tresidder, president of the Yosemite Park and Curry Company; J. M. C. Rosjean, chairman of the Board of Supervisors of Mariposa county; T. R. Williams, the company's traffic manager; Floyd Judah of the Peck-Judah Company, and C. C. Schlageter, former owner of a stage line franchise from Merced to Mariposa who sold his interests to the company.

The Curry company contends the railroad is attempting to monopolize passenger traffic by trying to block the granting of a certificate to the company to operate stages over the sixteen-mile stretch between Briceburg and El Portal. This is the only part of the new highway over which the Curry company has no operating rights, possessing the right to run stages from Merced to Briceburg and from El Portal to Yosemite. The new all-year Yosemite highway will be dedicated the 31st inst.

SEARCH FOR COL. BRANDT FRUITLESS

Trackers Fail to Find Trace of Missing Service Engineer Lost in Timber

PORTOLA, (Cal.) July 22. (AP)—Although the services of an expert Indian tracker were obtained, all efforts to find a trace of Col. Jacob E. Brandt, who was last seen between here and Calpine, eight miles distant, have failed. It was declared tonight that not a single lead had been discovered which might lead to the finding of the missing man.

Col. Brandt, a service engineer for a large Oakland (Cal.) manufacturing firm, disappeared ten days ago. The region in which he is believed to be lost is heavily covered with timber and brush, and a man unfamiliar with the country might easily wander through it until he perished.

A reward of $1000 has been offered for the finding of the man. Col. Brandt formerly was a resident of Clinton, Iowa, and was well known during the World War.

RADIO RECEPTION NOW ENTERS HITHERTO SACRED PIANO REALM

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—Radio reception has entered the piano.

Taking advantage of the synchronization of vibration between the radio waves and the piano sounding board and strings, the inventor produced volume several times greater than that possible through the ordinary radio amplifier.

The appliance does not interfere when the piano itself is being played.

Federal Clerk Stationed in Shanghai Taken as He Steps Off Ocean Liner

SEATTLE, July 22. (AP)—William Alden Chapman, for five years clerk of the United States District Court of Shanghai, was taken from the steamer President Jefferson on its arrival here today from the East, charged with having "feloniously received and concealed money, bank notes and securities" belonging to the United States. He was arrested yesterday on board the vessel as it entered American waters from Victoria, B. C., where deputy United States marshals had boarded the ship.

Chapman was charged with concealing on the high seas on an American boat $30,000 of government funds. When apprehended he had $1600 cash. A warrant for his arrest was issued in Shanghai on the 17th inst., and is expected to reach Seattle in three weeks.

The accused man declared that he was taking his first vacation in five years and that he was dumfounded and knew of no reason for the charge or arrest.

"I intended to make the round trip on the vessel," he said, "but because of foggy weather coming over decided to return August 7 out of San Francisco rather than to sail on the Jefferson."

He has been in the Orient several years, having served in the Eighth Infantry, later in a civil capacity with the Army in the Philippine Islands, and then with the civil government.

CONGRESS OF INDIANS CONVENES

Spokane Conclave Held to Consider Problems of Redman's Welfare

SPOKANE, July 22. (AP)—Gathered together under the Stars and Stripes of new America and the crimson-tipped eagle feathers of "old America," symbols under which both races battled and made treaties in the days of long ago, redskin and palaface met again in solemn conclave today, to consider the problems of the Indian.

"I am an Indian; how are you going to make a white man of me?" Chief Long Jim of the Chelan tribe demanded at the first meeting of the Indian congress, and answers to his query are being evolved in a bizarre gathering at which gay-beaded buck, feather-crowned chieftain and brilliantly blanketed squaw sit with conventionally dressed farmer and bronze, but serise-lipsticked flapper.

Chief among objects stated by Indians are: Restoration of the fishing treaties of the Columbia River; observance of the Walla Walla game treaty and payment of money said to be due them from the sale of timber on Indian reservation lands.

"Why don't the government give us the money due us now?" Duncan McDonald of the Flatheads, demanded. "Five dollars now will do us more good than $5000 after we are dead. Do they want to bury it with us as they did with King Tut?"

TWO BANKS IN GEORGIA OPEN DOORS

Investigations Into Status of Bankers' Trust Company Reported Progressing

ATLANTA (Ga.) July 22. (AP)—Two small banks in Georgia which closed a week ago after the bankruptcy proceedings against the Bankers' Trust Company opened for business today. Only one of them, however, was a member of the Bankers' Trust Company chain, of which more than eighty banks suspended activities after the suspension of business by their fiscal agent.

Meanwhile two investigations of the Bankers' Trust Company's affairs moved forward, one by a Fulton grand jury and the other by investigators of Solicitor-General Boykins's department.

The Solicitor-General expressed satisfaction at the progress being made and during the day received permission from Judge Sibley of the Federal District Court for investigators from his department to examine the books of the trust company which now are in the hands of receivers.

A number of witnesses are appearing before the grand jury, the Solicitor-General said, and special sessions are being held to speed the investigation.

The two banks which re-opened today were the Farmers and Merchants Bank of Gordon, Ga., and the Lakewood Bank, Atlanta, suburban institution.

The release was effected after a detachment of the British East Surrey regiment had been sent to find the missing men.

BODY FOUND IN SEARCH FOR HERMIT

New Clews Indicate Aged Recluse Missing Month Was Murdered

TAYLORVILLE (Ill.) July 22. (Exclusive)—An ex-convict, a mysterious farm hand and news of the finding in the Mississippi River of a body bearing two bullet marks yesterday contributed their important bit to the theory that "Old Pete" Rosenberger, 74 years of age, the recluse who disappeared fro mhis farm as Assumption, Ill., June 30, was murdered.

The ex-convict, Jack Robinson, 45 years of age, said to have been paroled from Joliet Penitentiary three years ago, was known to have had several quarrels with the old farmer. He is missing now.

The farm hand is Frank Sparr, 37 years of age, an itinerant section hand who went to work for Rosenberger June 20. Ten days later he says he drove his employer to Decatur, where he took a trai nfor Pittsburgh. Sparr, held at the County Jail on the charge of having kidnaped the farmer, maintains he is innocent.

The third clew came to Prosecutor Carl H. Preihs from Dyersburg, Tenn. Officials there sent word that the body of a man, the description of which tallies closely with that of Rosenberger, was dragged out of the Mississippi River last Tuesday and buried immediately. Marks of wounds, recently received, fro ma shotgun were found o nthe body.

State's Attorney Preihs will leave tomorrow for Dyersburg to have the body exhumed.

FINISH LINE IN POLITICAL RACE NEARS

Eight Candidates in Texas Ready for Gubernatorial Primaries

DALLAS (Tex.) July 22. (AP)—Eight candidates prepared tonight for the close tomorrow of one of the most heated gubernatorial campaigns in the history of Texas.

Primaries will be held Saturday to choose the Democratic nominee from a field of six, and to select one from the two asking nomination as Republican standard bearers. Unless some one of the Democratic candidates does the unexpected and receives a majority of all votes cast, a second "run-off" primary will be held August 21, with the contest narrowed to the two leaders in the first primary.

Interest centers in the contest for the Democratic nomination, which invariably has been tantamount to election in Texas. Gov. William A. Ferguson, Atty.-Gen. Dan Moody and Lynch Davidson, a Houston lumberman, regarded as outstanding contenders for the Democratic selection, today continued to wage the vigorous campaigns they have been prosecuting for several weeks. Mrs. Edith Weimans of Dallas, one of three women candidates for the Democratic nomination, also continued an active campaign.

Rev. Q. F. Zimmerman of Morris county, and Mrs. K. Johnston of San Antonio, are the other Democratic hopefuls.

Col. H. H. Haines of Houston, supported by R. B. Creager, Republican National Committeeman from Texas, and E. P. Scott of Corpus Christi, supported by Representative Harry M. Wurzbach of Seguin, are the Republicans in the field.

Star Witness in Rum Trial Disappears

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—After accusations of perjury and wife desertion had been made against him at today's session of the trial of the so-called Dwyer ring, Charles Augustus Smith, principal government witness, disappeared during the noon recess.

When the afternoon session began Smith was nowhere to be found. It was learned that he had gone to the office of A. Bruce Bielaski, government "under-cover" man, with two government agents who had acted as his guards throughout the trial. It was said that he left Bielaski's office to return to court but he failed to arrive after resumption of the trial.

Gasoline Tax Measure Will Go on Ballot

SACRAMENTO, July 22. (AP)—The 3-cent gasoline-tax initiative measure today qualified for a place on the November ballot when a San Francisco county petition containing 35,320 signatures was filed with Secretary of State Jordan. By raising the aggregate of signatures on file to 79,640 the San Francisco petition put the gas-tax measure well over the qualifying requirement of 77,263 names.

At present the tax on gasoline is 2 cents per gallon. The initiative measure proposes to increase this to 3 cents.

WIDOW TELLS OF EXPLOSION

Confirmation of Lightning Hitting Arsenal Given

Board of Inquiry Hears from Pathetic Witness

Woman Sees Husband Run to Duty and Death

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—A pathetic little widow, who twelve days ago saw her husband dash from her side to his duty and his death, today told the court of inquiry investigating the Lake Denmark naval arsenal disaster, where the lightning which caused twenty-one deaths and $90,000,000 damage first struck.

The widow was Mrs. Schrader, whose husband, Lieut. Herman C. Schrader, U.S.N., was killed. Her testimony established for the first time that lightning which struck temporary magazine No. 8, which was filled with TNT, caused the catastrophe.

Mrs. Schrader, first woman to appear before the court, said:

"We were all in our residence, which was just behind temporary magazine No. 8. My husband, my brother, my sister-in-law and my little girl, Frances, were there. The storm was going on. Then came one terrible flash of lightning. I said something. I don't remember what I said, but my husband said:

"'Don't mind it. It's nothing.'

"He didn't realize the danger. We all went out on the porch. He hadn't got seated when I saw black smoke pouring out of that magazine. It was very black smoke, with little flame. I shall never forget the look on Mr. Schrader's face.

"He immediately went to the telephones, calling to us to take the car and go out the gate. But I didn't get the car. We just ran. As I ran I recalled that my husband had told me TNT was stored in that magazine. I didn't hear the fire alarm. We ran as fast as we could. I called to Mrs. Gately (wife of Chief Gunner Joseph Gately who was killed) to come along with us. We got to the gate. I told the marine sentry there that there was a fire. He ran up the lawn to look. The last I saw of him was at the telephone."

"The last I saw of my husband he was going to the marine barracks to get marines to fight the fire.

"Just outside the gate we heard the first explosion, a terrible blast. A car came along. There were four men in it. I called to them and asked them to take Mrs. Feeney and her baby. (Mrs. Frances Feeney of Brooklyn, and her infant, Jane Feeney.) They stopped and Mrs. Feeney got into their car with her baby.

"Then the second blast came. It was much worse than the first. I was knocked to the ground, and so was my little girl, Frances. When I got up I saw Mrs. Gately holding Mrs. Feeney's baby."

Mrs. Schrader then described one of the strange tragedies of the disaster. Mrs. Feeney was fatally injured by flying debris, but the four men in the car and Mrs. Schrader and her daughter and the others with her escaped with shocks.

"After a second blast," Mrs. Schrader continued, "we ran to the dispensary in the army arsenal. Everything was exploding behind us as we ran."

Mrs. Schrader and her daughter were finally taken to Dover where they were treated in hospital for shock.

MELLETT'S DEATH LAID TO 'GANGS'

Assassination of Editor Believed Result of Deep Underworld Plot

CANTON (O.) July 22. (AP)—Assassination of Don R. Mellett, editor of the Canton News, a week ago was the result of a deep-laid plot of the combined forces of the underworld of Canton and vicinity, investigators tonight said they are convinced.

This theory is opposed to the one generally adhered to thus far—that Mellett was shot by one small gang antagonistic to the publisher's editorial and personal fight against vice and criminality.

Mellett's death the investigators now believe, was determined upon by the conspirators of various "rings" after they had agreed his removed was necessary because he constituted a barrier to their illicit trafficing.

Coroner T. C. McQuate today left for New Haven, Ct., with the bullet which killed Mellett and one other, found at the scene of the murder, to get the opinion of firearms experts as to whether it was fired by a rifle or pistol cartridge.

Young Files Affidavit of His Candidacy

SACRAMENTO, July 22. (AP)—Lieut.-Gov. Young today filed with Secretary of State Jordan his affidavit of candidacy for the Republican nomination for Governor. Young stopped off here en route to Butte county, where he is to be the central figure in a schoolday home-coming celebration, arriving from the San Joaquin Valley. Jordan's office opened at 8 o'clock, an hour early, in order to permit Young personally to file his affidavit.

A few hours later petitions containing 6624 signatures of voters qualified the Lieutenant-Governor for a place on the primary ballot.

WORRY OVER ADVANCE OF CANTONESE

Chinese Officials Desire Yuchow Held at All Costs; Outlook Gloomy

PEKING, July 22. (Exclusive)—John Van McMurray, American Minister to China, has received no telegram from the Canton government asking America to recall its delegates to the Chinese tariff conference, although the text of this and a cable sent to Senator Borah have been published here. Far from withdrawing, America purposes to see the conference through. A plenary session will be conducted tomorrow for the purpose of introducing new Chinese delegates and settling the date for a resumption of the conference, probably in the middle of September. The drafting committee possibly may complete its judicial report in a fortnight.

The existing government is greatly worried over the continued advance of the Cantonese in Hunan Province, with Kiangsi also threatened. Marshal Wu Pei Fu has ordered Yuchow held at all hazards, and is dispatching Hupeh troops there with only one Hupeh division remaining to the north. Apprehension is felt that the Cantonese will reach the Yangtze unless the warfare is abandoned in the north.

The operations against the Kouminchun (national army) have become heavier, but indecisive. Foreign military opinion is that it is impossible to defeat the Kuominchun without sacrifices imperilling the Yangtze Provinces. Hence, talk of a compromise has been revived. The foreign legations think the outlook is gloomy, with further disorders likely.

Woman Sues to Recover Trunk Held for Check

OLYMPIA (Wash.) July 22. (AP)—All because the man she ordered to send her trunk here by express last fall has vanished and with him the check of identification, Mrs. Celia B. Kehoe has for nine months had to do without valuable goods held in a trunk in a local depot, says a suit filed in Superior Court today to recover possession of it.

All attempts of Mrs. Kehoe to convince the American Railway Express Company that the trunk is hers have thus far been rebuffed with the rejoinder, "No check, no trunk," she says.

Philippine Bill Curbing Auditor Passes Senate

MANILA, July 22. (AP)—The Philippine Senate today passed a bill providing that decisions of the insular auditor, an official appointed by the President of the United States, shall be subject to review by the Philippine courts.

A similar bill was passed by the last Legislature but was vetoed by Gov.-Gen. Wood on the ground that it would deprive the auditor of powers granted him under the Jones law, which established the government of the Philippines.

In view of his action against the last Legislature's bill, it is assumed that the Governor will veto the present measure.

Lions' Clubs in Fight for Next Convention City

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22. (AP)—The contest for the next convention of the International Association of Lions' Clubs began to develop at today's session of the organization's tenth annual gathering.

Detroit loomed as the outstanding contender, with other cities making a bid for the meeting including Miami, Fla., Des Moines, Iowa, and Houston and Fort Worth, Tex. The selection will be made tomorrow, when the election of officers also will be held.

The outstanding feature of the business session today was an address by Harry F. Atwood of Chicago, on the Constitution of the United States. He spoke before 5000 delegates, urging a greater adherence to the principles of George Washington and the founders of the republic.

GENERAL PETROLEUM LEASES KERN LAND

BAKERSFIELD, July 22. (AP)—Fortune is smiling for Adelheid Heisen, Sacramento widow, as the result of an early-day investment in Kern county range land, held in the family for generation. In a lease filed in this county today, it was revealed that the General Petroleum Corporation has taken over 320 acres near the recent oil strike in the Mount Poso District. Under the terms one-sixth oil royalty is to be paid and sixteen wells are to be drilled. In consideration of a substantial cash bonus, it is said, drilling may be deferred for three years.

TITLE GO HAS TEX UP IN AIR

Blad Promoter Has Claim on Champ's Services

Jack Fooled; Signed Option for But Ten Dollars

Rickard Has Not Yet Given Up Hope for Battle

CHICAGO, July 22. (Exclusive)—E. [illegible], president of Coliseum [illegible] at Chicago, who has secured a lease to promote boxing shows in the State of Illinois today delivered a knockout blow to Tex Rickard's chances of staging the heavyweight championship bout between Jack Dempsey, the title-holder, and Challenger Gene Tunney in Chicago on September 11.

In all appearances Clements has a option on Dempsey's services until August 5. He has secured this option for the unheard sum of $10. This option, according to legal talent employed by Clements, is binding and prevents the champion from appearing for any other promoter.

TEX RICKARD

The whole affair dates back to last fall when Floyd Fitzsimmons, the Michigan City and Benton Harbor promoter, closed a match between Dempsey and Willis. The articles were drawn in South Bend, Ind., and signed in Niles, Mich. Shortly afterward Fitzsimmons allied himself with Clements and the Coliseum Club.

Terms were on and Fitz was unable to find a place in which to stage the match he agreed to sell the bout to the Coliseum Club for a consideration of $150,000. This amount

VON ELM CLIPS THREE STROKES FROM HILLCREST COURSE MARK

George Von Elm

Smashing par by seven strokes and going three under the old mark, George Von Elm, ranking Southern California amateur golfer, set a new course record at the Hillcrest Country Club yesterday afternoon with a card of 65. Ed Gayer and Lewis Scott were joint holders of the old record of 68 which has stood for several years.

Von Elm was in good shape yesterday, picking up his lead on the long holes. He first broke par on the difficult third hole going out taking two strokes where par is four. On the eighth, he shot a three where five is par. His only bad hole was the fourth going out, where he took a six. Par and the card:

NEW YORK HOWLS OVER LOSS OF TITLE FIGHT

BY WESTBROOK PEGLER

NEW YORK, July 22. (Exclusive)—A murmur of complaint, containing certain high, shrill notes akin to the outraged screech of the whipsawed con man, has been audible in New York since Tex Rickard announced that the next triennial unveiling of Jack Dempsey would be solemnized in Chicago.

Of course, a certain element of noise in this roar of displeasure may be traced to the common or Madison Square Garden variety of prize-fighter customer, or fan as he is poetically termed in the literature of the business. The customer is a person of minor importance, however, as long as he remains a customer, and his squawk, far from causing any alarm in the trade, is always regarded as a comforting assurance that his interest is still being maintained.

GENE TUNNEY

The shrill notes akin to the plaintive screech of the whipsawed con man which are now discernible to the nude ear in New York have emanated from the boys and girls along Broadway, who regard a Dempsey production as a world congress of butter and egg persons and who also regard the two weeks preceding such a production as an open season on the human race. No less vehement howl, although somewhat more refined, has actually been voiced into the ear of Mayor James J. Walker by certain members of the New York Association of Tavern Keepers who felt certain that His Honor, with one word to the members of the New York cauliflower commission could have convinced the commission that the Dempsey-Tunney celebration was the one thing that was needed to complete a perfect summer in New York.

The amount of revenue that the taverns will not derive from a Dempsey-Tunney fight in Chicago is not to be estimated except in the vague but impressive term employed today by Mr. Will Gibson, the manager of Gene Tunney, in discussing the enormity of New York's misfortune.

"Them guys," Mr. Gibson stated, "will lose a hell of a lot of sugar."

The element described as the boys and girls along Broadway may appear to be a low element in the make-up of a big city and their character may justify their appearance. But they have their place in the political batting order of the metropolis and they are capable of evincing great annoyance when anyone holding high office denies them what they consider their legitimate turn at bat. Some of the most respected bootleggers in New York are now offended at the incumbent administration because the Dempsey-Tunney fight was driven out of Tunney's home town.

Just why the Dempsey-Tunney fight was viewed as a consummation devoutly to be opposed by a commission, which has repeatedly connived at the performances of Mickey McTigue, the world's worst prize fighter, is only one of the mysterious phases of a situation which is becoming more mysterious every day. The facts are obvious enough, but so are the pyramids of Egypt.

It appears that as the first consideration in the deal, Jimmy Johnston, sometimes known as Jimmy the Snitch, an occasional fight promoter and manager who was convicted in Federal Court of withholding money that belonged to the government is an enemy of Tex Rickard and a friend of His Honor the Mayor. His Honor has known Jimmy for many years and either because of that acquaintance or in spite of it, esteems Jimmy very highly. Jimmy cannot be described as the most popular figure at a ringside in New York, because there is a widespread suspicion that he has acted as the boxing commission's unofficial informant on various matters. Hence the title Jimmy the Snitch.

Apparently nobody knows why Jimmy hates Tex Rickard and nobody would have the slightest interest in the matter, if it were not for the fact that Jimmy Johnston's friends are friends of the commission and his enemies the commission's victims.

SARATOGA SPRINGS (N. Y.) July 22. (AP)—Reports were current in racing circles here today that Chance Play, famous 3-year-old race horse, has been sold by the Log Cabin Stables to J. E. Widener, for $150,000.

ASCOT BOXERS WIND UP WORK

Rivals in Perfect Condition for Big Battle

Expect Record Turnout for Show Tomorrow

Eddie Huffman and Tiger Flowers hung up two pairs of soggy training gloves yesterday afternoon and will not pull on the leather mittens again until they meet in Dick Donald's ring at Ascot tomorrow afternoon for their ten-round decision battle.

TIGER FLOWERS

Trainers of both men assert they are in the proverbial pink of condition and ready for the gong. Nothing has been left undone to get them into the ring tomorrow afternoon in the finest possible shape and both men completed training without an injury of any kind.

While the fighters are resting Promoter Dick Donald is gathering up the loose ends of details connected with the staging of what promises to be the greatest fight, greatest attendance and greatest gate receipts of any mitt battle ever staged in California and his staff of assistants worked far into the night in order to have everything shipshape for the contest.

Ascot arena has been ready for two days. Every seat has been placed, an army of ushers rehearsed in their duties and traffic officials have arranged to have every street and road leading to the arena fully policed tomorrow afternoon from noon until the last spectator has left the arena.

The promoter announced yesterday that the gates would be opened at 11 o'clock tomorrow morning in order to take care of the general admission rush. Although the program of four contests is not scheduled until 2:30 o'clock, Donald believes that there will be a line of early birds at the box office as early as eight o'clock Saturday morning to get the choice locations inside the enclosure.

Managers Charley Cook and Walk Miller, in charge of the camps of Huffman and Flowers, respectively, yesterday expressed complete confidence that Southern California ring fans would see the greatest contest in years.

Flowers will carry more weight in this battle than for some time with the 168 pounds he is expected to scale at weighing-in time at 10 o'clock tomorrow morning. Manager Miller believes that the additional poundage will give the negro champion enough strength to offset the rushes that he expects to meet from the former sailor. Huffman will scale close to the 174-pound mark.

A PLUCKY MERMAID - - By Feg Murray

Copyright, 1926, by Metropolitan Newspaper Service

What would you think about if you were a young girl in the cold, black, angry waters of the English Channel, and ahead of you was a twelve or eighteen-hour tiring struggle against tides and sullen, salty waves that seemed to slap you in the face with an oath at each stroke of your arms and legs, telling you, "You can't do it, you can't do it—I always win—you, too, must lose?" Wouldn't you feel like signaling to your friends in the tug that hovered near to come and pull you out—away from all this coldness and wetness and foolishness—and that you didn't care if no woman had ever swum the Channel—what of it?—you were not going to risk your life any further because of that face?

I imagine that thoughts like those will come into Gertrude Ederle's head as she undertakes her second heroic struggle to conquer the angry body of water between Cape Griz Nez and Dover, but other thoughts will be uppermost in her mind, thoughts far more conducive to success than such cogitations on the hardships of the trip.

I imagine that Gertrude will be thinking several things, and in this order: "I will get across this time because I learned some valuable things in my failure last year. Not to try for a record, for instance, but to take it more slowly. My trainer this year knows more than Jabez Wolffe, who made rather a mess of things last year. Bill Burgess swam across in 1911, while Wolffe failed many times, and never did succeed. I am going to succeed, however. I will swim this darned old Channel—to be the first of my sex to do so, to justify the faith that my family and friends have in me and that I have in myself, and to win that new roadster that my dad has promised me. Out of my way, water!"

CHUCK WIGGINS

For their foul fight at the Olympic Auditorium Wednesday night Messrs. Charley Weinert and "Chuck" Wiggins who played the leads, yesterday became the unwilling recipients of the severest punishment ever meted out by the California Boxing Commission.

Both boxers were suspended indefinitely and, in addition, their purses were confiscated by Capt. Seth Strelinger, chairman of the commission, when they appeared before him in his Hollywood offices. Neither will receive a cent for their efforts.

The forfeiting of both purses constitutes a new record in California boxing history. Weinert's end amounted to $1836.70 and Wiggins's bit was $1448.09.

The previous high fine was the one slapped on Sully Montgomery for fouling George Godfrey last January. Half of Montgomery's purse, or $1626, was taken away for his muckerism tactics and low hitting.

In commenting on the indefinite suspension Capt. Strelinger indicated that it was very unlikely either boxer would ever appear in a local ring again.

He says the pair have an opportunity to appeal to the commission as a whole at its next meeting, but intimated that it wouldn't do them any good. Anyway, the next meeting has not been called.

While not convinced of any collusion between Wiggins and Weinert, Capt. Strelinger said their fight was so unsavory that he took the only recourse open to stamp out such practices, thereby protecting the name of boxing and the public that supports it. Wiggins fouled Weinert in the fourth round after the latter had several times hit low in the previous rounds.

BABE RUTH CATCHES BASEBALL DROPPED FROM FAST PLANE

MITCHEL FIELD (N. Y.) July 22. (AP)—"Babe" Ruth today claimed a new honor—that of being the first man to catch a baseball dropped from an airplane moving 100 miles an hour. He caught a regulation baseball dropped from an altitude of from 200 to 300 feet.

The ball was dropped by Capt. H. F. McClelland, flying an army pursuit plane. The attempt to establish a new altitude catching record, however, failed, as Ruth could not locate balls dropped from higher altitudes in time to get under them. The catch was made on the seventh attempt.

Schwab's Homer Ties Count But Krugs Win Anyway

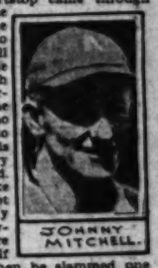
BY ROBERT RAY

Johnny Mitchell did it again! For the second time this week the peppery Angel shortstop came through with a hit in the pinch in the ninth inning to win the ball game, his single to center with two out yesterday, driving home Ray Jacobs, who had tripled, to give the Angels a 4-to-3 victory at Wrigley Field.



JOHNNY MITCHELL

Mitchell's poke untied the knot that Harry Schwab had raveled in the score in the first half of the ninth when he slammed one of Doc Wright's offerings into the right-field stands after two were out.

The contest, which was full of thrills, found Jim Elliott, Seattle massive southpaw, losing a couple of arguments, one—of the pitching variety—to Mr. Wayne Wright, the Angels' medicine man from Big Stone Gap, and the other—which was purely verbal, although it threatened to turn out publistically—to Art Jahn, the Seraphs' strong man left-fielder.

The hurling argument lasted throughout the nine innings, with Wright getting the better of it and turning in his seventh straight victory. Doc, who has

Plans for Dempsey-Tunney Bout Up in the Air

Rival Promoter Has Claim on Champ's Services

was to be divided between Dempsey and Fitzsimmons. Clements then made a trip to the Coast to see the champion, who signed a new option with Clements. Jack signed on the assumption Clements would pay the $150,000, but neither Dempsey nor Fitzsimmons has anything in writing to show that Clements promised this sum of money. This option on Dempsey's services was signed in Los Angeles on March 13, last, and Clements still has the signed contract.

On March 25, Fitzsimmons sent Clements a draft on a local bank for $100,000 stating the remainder could be paid later. This draft was returned after Fitzsimmons, without Dempsey's consent, had extended it for four days. As the situation now stands Dempsey signed the option for $10, but has not received one cent of the promised $150,000, nor has he anything to show that such amount is due him.

Rickard today instructed his attorneys to get in touch with Clements's lawyers to handle the affair, but no decision will be reached until tomorrow. Both Fitzsimmons and Dempsey claim they can show that Clements owes them $150,000, but Rickard refuses to go ahead with any more plans until he is shown that Clements has no legal rights on the champion's services.

JACK GETS $800,000

According to the contract which Clements has with Dempsey the president of the Coliseum Club must turn over to the champion $300,000 on August 5. Some time before the fight with Wills takes place, Clements must give the title-holder another $500,000, making a total of $800,000, the champion's guarantee for fighting.

In addition to Dempsey's $800,000 Clements has guaranteed Wills $300,000, making a total of $1,100,000 for the fighters alone, a sum which appears preposterous. Clements has no assurance he can stage the fight in this country as fans will recall the difficulty there was with the Willard-Johnson affair, which finally was held in Cuba.

Gene Normile, Dempsey's representative, who is in Chicago, is in the dark on the whole affair, as these transactions took place before the champion selected him to look after his affairs. Before he left Colorado Springs, Normile claims that the champion informed him there were no strings attached to him, and that he was under contract to fight for Rickard only.

Floyd Fitzsimmons claims he can prove that Clements promised him $150,000 to transfer the contract to the Coliseum club, and that he will present evidence to this effect tomorrow. But the silly part of the whole affair is that Dempsey, the champion of all champs, was gypped into signing a contract for the unheard-of price of $10.

WANT ANGLE CLEARED

After Rickard signed Dempsey to a contract in Fort Worth, Tex., on April 21, he had advanced money to both Dempsey and Tunney, while Clements has not advanced a dime to Dempsey, while Wills has received $50,000 from a South Bend syndicate, which was to finance the Dempsey-Wills match under the direction of Fitzsimmons.

Rickard, however, has not given up hope of staging the Dempsey-Tunney match on September 11. He asserted he cannot see how Clements can pay $1,100,000 to the fighters alone. The well-known promoter is of the opinion that it will take close to $2,000,000 to pay expenses alone under the arrangements made by Clements.

Normile is up in arms. He says he will bring Dempsey to Chicago on August 1 and demand that Clements pay him the $800,000 four days later. On the other hand, Rickard asserted he will take the match some place else if Clements's claims to Dempsey's services are substantiated. Tex said he cannot wait until August 5 for a showdown and stage the match properly on September 11.

Rickard also stated local interests who are behind him in his efforts to stage the match want the Clements angle cleared up before they go ahead. The promoter expects to make a definite announcement some time tomorrow.

Clements yesterday asserted he intends to go through with his plans and will make formal application to the Illinois Boxing Commission for a match in Chicago in September.

JIMMY DUFFY DUE TODAY

Jimmy Duffy will arrive here today from Oakland in time to take his first workout on the local battle ground for his ten-round bout next Tuesday night at Vernon. He is boxing Paul De Hate, the best welterweight Los Angeles has produced since the new boxing law. Duffy boxed a little over a week ago and has been training in Oakland so will arrive here in good condition.

When De Hate knocked out Kenneth Caswell in a semi-wind-up here a week ago his manager, Dutch Meyers, sent him right back in the gymnasium.

"Who am I going to fight," asked De Hate.

"Jimmy Duffy will be your next fight," answered Dutch.

At that time Dutch was using the Duffy talk of a match as an excuse to keep De Hate in training. The match had never been mentioned then. Wad Wadhams of the Vernon club was trying to line up an opponent for George Godfrey.

Dutch claims he had a dream in which he saw De Hate knocking Duffy out and when the match afterward materialized he is of the opinion it was a presentment.

De Hate has the match. The only part of Dutch's dream that is unfulfilled is the knockout.

Because a pipe bites that's no sign it's teething

That "bite" means that there's something wrong with your tobacco: either, it isn't mellowed properly or it isn't cut properly... If it's the least bit raw or green it's naturally harsh and bitey... while finely cut or granulated tobacco burns too fast and smokes hot and raspy.

PIPE tobacco must be well-mellowed... it must be cut to burn slowly. And that's exactly why Doctors of Pipeology recommend Granger Rough Cut as a sure-cure for "pipe-bite."

For the famous old Wellman Recipe gives Granger a rich, spicy mellowness... a mellowness all its own. And being rough cut, its large flakes burn slowly and smoke cool... without the slightest trace of any bite... Granger is PIPE tobacco!

YOUNGSTER HEADS FIELD WITH RIVERSIDE VETERAN

Hepburn Finishes Second With Fine 77; Local Golfers Take Honors Over Santa Barbara Course

BY BILL WISE
"Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA BARBARA, July 22.—(Exclusive)—Eddie Meyberg, Los Angeles youngster, and H. G. Pattee, Riverside veteran, stole much of the glory in the qualifying play of the annual Montecito invitational here today, by scoring under a fine field with 73, to tie for low gross honors.

Pattee, sailing along under the hospitable banner that is clorking a record field of down-State golfing visitors, needed a 5, one more than par, to finish with a 72 and copmedal honors, and eight feet from the flag with his third three, putted the home green, and will play off with Meyberg later in the week. The down-State youth has been scoring well over the local course for several days and was not pushed, and had little difficulty medaling 73, which is one stroke more than the experts have figured par.

W. W. BECKWITH.

George Hepburn, lately of the Nassau Country Club, finished second with a 77, and Phil Forve, Jr., continued the Southland field day by scoring a fine 78. Playing with R. J. O. Culver, also of the Los Angeles Club, Forve scorched the last nine and pocked up five strokes on three holes on Culver, who landed just outside the limit with an 83. Russ Estte of the Wilshire club lived up to advance Calcutta predictions, and while he slipped over on several of the fast greens, chalked up a 79, to tie with Ray Palmer of La Cumbre.

Palmer, by the way, is sort of the golfing Mayor of this beautiful resort city and while Ray is handicapped by playing from the wrong side of the tee most of his shots have the happy faculty of landing in the right part of any golf course in the country.

Ray always starts tourney play a topheavy favorite and is forced to carry the weight of a legion of friends and while he hasn't broken under the strain yet, today's 79 was at least seven strokes more than he can be expected to medal in his first match round tomorrow.

PICTURESQUE TEAM

M. R. Peck and Peter Cooper Bryce, two of the most picturesque and popular figures in local golf, ambled around Montecito today to score 80s and tie for whatever honors have not already been collected. Joe Donahue, Ben Kerr and Jack Kelliher engaged in a three-sided battle royal here this morning. Joe is another off-side exponent and always turns his back when making a shot.

The southpaw got away to a bad start but continued putting for the pack of the cup and finished with 184. Kerr, one of the most popular members of the local fraternity, playing every shot except putts with a wooden club, kept a ball in the center of every fairway and was rewarded with an 187. Ben is probably the most unorthodox golfer in the world, but one of the most accurate and had a fine chance to break 80 when the fourth member of the golfing foursome exploded.

Kelliher, a much better golfer than his score of 86 would indicate, two, three and four-putted too many greens, but will be better in match play tomorrow.

The local invitational that opened with a Calcutta golf dinner last night, promises to develop into a most enjoyable affair. Word from down-State has been very optimistic and while Frank Collins, Warren Beckwith and others form a very representative Los Angeles delegation, special arrangements to care for more than 100 players from the finest city in the world were completed yesterday. There will be a special eighteen-hole medal round for all new entrants and players defeated in first and second-round matches, here Saturday. Sort of a curtain-raiser for the ball mixed foursome tourney that will be held in connection with the beach buffet luncheon Sunday.

SOCIAL EVENT

Montecito also includes a fine beach house, a very few minutes from the club home, and the Sunday affair promises to be one of the most enjoyable on the comprehensive calendar arranged and indorsed by J. B. Canby club official.

Mrs. Ted Haas, Mrs. A. G. Wilkes and Mrs. H. L. Humes, all of the Wilshire club, arrived here late this afternoon and will form the golfing wedge that may collect many trophies and much glory in the two-day medal tourney for women that will open at La Cumbre, tomorrow. Officials of Ben Kern's club have acknowledge dthe signatures of more than sixty entrants and the feminine classic should develop some fine scoring.

Mrs. G. M. Lewis, State champ, and Mrs. Gregg Lifur, southern title-holdar, may still be included in the field that promises to number more than 100 women.

Mrs. Peter Cooper Bryce and Mrs. Deane Dreyfus, both of La Cumbre, are also expected to make a great bid for honors.

The mixed foursome tourney Sunday should draw 200 couples. Tentative entries have been received from Mrs. Conway Tearle, Mrs. R. A. Walsh, Miss Kathleen Wright, Mrs. Anne Wolverton, Mrs. W. D. Fredericks and others.

The following, the most important news of the day, is the local weather. It has been cool here all week and the refreshing breeze that has never paused added much to the enjoyment of more than 130 contestants today.

73—Eddie Meyberg, H. G. Pattee.
77—George Hepburn.
78—Phil Forve, Jr., Francis Boyd.

RABBIT PUNCHES

BY PAUL LOWRY

"I CAN'T go to the Tiger Flowers-Eddie Huffman fight at Ascot Saturday, but save me a ticket for the next foul fight, will you?" was the kidding request from our leading ticket moocher yesterday.

Boxing seems to have come to a pretty pass, when even the pass moochers ridicule the fights. What must the general public which puts out its good kale think? Just look at the record of the past eight weeks at the two biggest clubs in Los Angeles. Two out of four main events at the Olympic have ended in fouls. One out of four at Vernon ended the same way, and another one should have been called, but the injured boxer, felled by the low punch, refused to claim it and give the referee a chance.

June 9 (Olympic:) "Chuck" Wiggins won from George Godfrey on a foul in the seventh round.

June 15 (Vernon:) Charlie Weinert won from Pat Lester in ten rounds. A low punch by Weinert in the third round really decided the fight. Lester was floored, but did not claim a foul. However, the punch so weakened him that he lost the decision to Weinert after having the latter groggy and on the floor in the early rounds.

July 14 (Vernon:) Jack Willis lost on a foul to Bert Colima in the fifth round.

July 21 (Olympic:) "Chuck" Wiggins lost on a foul to Charley Weinert in the fourth round.

Seth Streiinger, chairman of the Boxing Commission, gave Weinert and Wiggins a stiff wallop when he took away their purses and suspended them indefinitely yesterday, but that seems to be the only way of teaching the boys a lesson. If old, experienced boxers like Wiggins and Weinert haven't learned to keep their punches up by this time it's too late to learn.

The punk preliminary boys who swing wildly all over the place have better records than this pair. Wiggins has been mixed up in two foul fights out of three since he came to Los Angeles. Weinert has been mired in two, although he scraped out of the Lester affair after ruining big Pat with one low wallop.

SPORTSMAN PLANS LONG FISHING TRIP

A ten-days' fishing trip around Huntington Lake, above Fresno, is planned by N. F. Milnor of the Biltmore Hotel, a well-known sportsman and oriental authority. Milnor recently returned from an extended European journey and his first move was to organize a party of friends to start in pursuit of piscatorial quarry. The party will leave here by motor Friday.

WESTERN GOLF IN SEMIFINALS

Two Chicagoans Face Coast Stars Today

Title Match Saturday Over White Bear Links

WHITE BEAR LAKE (St. Paul) July 22. (AP) — Two golfing stars of the Pacific Northwest will meet two young Chicago players in the semifinal matches of the western amateur golf tournament here tomorrow.

Brilliant victories in three thirty-six-hole quarter finals matches today, over the White Bear Yacht Club course, and a default in the fourth match qualified the following players for the semifinals:

B. E. Stein, Seattle, vs. Rudy Knepper, Chicago.

Frank Dolp, Portland, vs. Kenneth Hisert, Chicago.

To remain in the championship competition, Stein defeated Arthur Tveras of Minneapolis, 4 and 3; Rudy Knepper downed William Medart of St. Louis, 5 and 4; Hisert defeated J. C. Ward, Kansas City, 3 and 2, and Dolp won by default.

Chuck Hunter of Tacoma, who started out with Dolp today suffering from a hand injury, was unable to continue after the tenth hole, when he was 5 down, and defaulted.

Survivors of tomorrow's matches will meet in the champion match of thirty-six holes Saturday. Rain yesterday has improved the course, and close contests are looked for tomorrow if the players show the class of golf they displayed today.

DARIO BARRON WINS WHITTIER MAIN GO

Dario Barron, San Diego scrapper, defeated Angel de la Cruz, Filipino mitt slinger, in the main event of the Whittier American Legion show last night. The pair fought a fast fight throughout the eight rounds.

Chappie Cruz was too much for Young Joe Garcia in the semi-windup, taking all six rounds without much trouble. Joe Mandot and Johnny Alvarez battled six rounds to a draw, while Joe Porras won over Johnny Aliso in four rounds in the second bout. In the curtain raiser Phil Blood, showing that there is something in a name, knocked out Tony Flores in the second round.

BOXERS HELP CHARITIES

The State Boxing Commission of New Jersey collected $4620.07 in fines during the year ending June 30, last. The money, withheld from boxers for unsatisfactory bouts, was distributed to various charities.

OBSERVATIONS

BY THE INNOCENT BYSTANDER, BILL HENRY

WELL, well well. Our athletes with dramatic tendencies will soon be fighting shy of exhibiting their talent, regardless of the inducements, if every one of them meets with the same fate that has befallen all that have made the fatal leap recently. Tilden took to the movies and the stage, but the worst he did was to flop. Look what has happened to the rest of the boys. Charley Hoff has fallen clear out of the amateur ranks since his dramatic debut. Charley Paddock has gone and got himself engaged and in addition is being threatened with professionalism. And now Red Grange has busted into print as a sort of a synthetic corespondent in a divorce case. It looks a good deal as though the athletes would do better to stick around a business they know something about.

• • •

Incidentally we asked Bob Doman of Loew's State how Charley Hoff's act was regarded as a drawing card. He says that the Norwegian star demonstrated to the satisfaction of all concerned that he can draw money at the gate to see him do his stuff. Not only did he do well at Seventh and Broadway, but he is doing equally well in the "sticks" as he is touring the West Coast circuit for Panchon and Marco. They say that when he gets through out here the East is crazy to have him. It looks as though our prediction when we saw him in his opening performance, was a good one.

• • •

Have a letter from an old correspondent of ours who takes pen in hand while summering in the hills to request that the newspaper boys get busy this year and put in a few good words for Jeff Cravath instead of spending all their time and space lauding some kid who stars in the preliminary practice games and then can't make the team for the rest of the season. As our correspondent states, Jeff is a really great football player and outplayed every man he went up against last year. He certainly is deserving of considerable notice in the papers.

• • •

Everybody else having taken occasion to gather from the work of Mistah Tigah Flowahs that he may be good but he doesn't look it, we wish to hereby go on record with the guess that he is likely to fool some of the boys tomorrow. Unless we're mistaken, he is about as rapid a gent in action as we ever laid eyes on and from what we've seen of Eddie Huffman, he doesn't look so good against the boys that move fast.

• • •

Free gratis suggestion for Cap Streiinger — Whenever Chuck Wiggins and Charley Weinert appear again (which heaven forbid) why not have a tailor look the boys over and fix up their panties so that they'll fit better under the arms. Both the boys had their belts so high Wednesday night that the only way to keep from foiling 'em was to hit 'em on the top of the head.

REYNOLDS DEFENDS TITLE

TILDEN IN WIN OVER CHANDLER

Champion Scores Three Set Victory in Tourney at Brookline

BROOKLINE (Mass.) July 22. (AP) William T. Tilden, Jr., national tennis champion, today eliminated Edward C. Chandler of Berkeley, Cal., from competition for the eighth Longwood Bowl. While the thermometer registered more than 75 deg. in the sunny grand stands, Tilden defeated Chandler in straight sets, 6-3, 7-5, 6-2.

BUD CHANDLER

The perennial champion dispatched his opponent in exactly fifty-five minutes. Chandler was at his best in the second, but with the score 5-5 he dropped a crucial service game. During the remainder of the match he was kept on the run by the champion's varied game, which equaled his splendid display of yesterday.

With today's victory Tilden reached the finals of the singles competition. The other semi-final, to be played tomorrow, will find Takeicha Harada of Japan pitted against Louis White of Austin, Tex.

With his youthful partner, A. L. Weiner of Philadelphia, Tilden today advanced to the semifinals of the doubles tournament at the expense of the Japanese stars, Harada and Sekio Towara. The scores in that match were 6-4, 4-6, 6-0.

Texas stars figured largely in other doubles victories today, the Tilden-Chandler battle being the only singles match scheduled. Alfred H. Chapin, Jr., of Springfield, and Berkeley Bell, Austin, Tex., defeated Howe Bancroft and John Doeg of California, 6-8, 6-2, 7-5. Lewis White and Louis Thalheimer of Texas defeated N. W. Niles, Longwood, and Teizo Toba, Japan, by the same scores.

The remaining quarter-final match in the doubles will be played tomorrow, when Malcolm T. Hill and Henry L. Johnson, Jr., will meet John Barr, Dallas, Tex., and Wilmer Allison, Fort Worth, Tex. Barr and Allison today won from Chandler and Thomas Stow, San Francisco, by default.

In the women's invitation singles, third round, Miss Elizabeth Ryan, Santa Monica, Cal., defeated Miss Margaret Blake, Longwood, 6-0, 6-1. Other third-round results were: Miss Martha Bayard, Short Hills, N. J., defeated Mrs. J. D. Corbiere, Cambridge, 6-4, 6-1.

Subpoenas were served on the track steward, the assistant manager, the chief tabulator, four of his assistants and the starter.

Malone and Delaney have twice before been matched to fight, but both fights were canceled.

THREATENS WORLD MARK

Pete Thompson, Farmed by Angels, Will Equal Tris Speaker's Record With Another Bingle

TWIN FALLS (Idaho) July 22. (Exclusive)—Carroll Burton Thompson, former University of Southern California athlete and catcher, farmed out this spring by the Angels to the Twin Falls club of the Utah-Idaho League, may equal Tris Speaker's world record for consecutive hitting in consecutive times at bat when he steps up to the rubber at the Salt Lake baseball park Friday afternoon.

For Thompson, popularly known as "Pete," has slammed out ten hits in ten times at bat, according to the records of the official scorer for the Twin Falls Club. All ten of the hits were made during a three-game series between the Salt Lake and Twin Falls Club which opens here Tuesday.

Pete's swatting record for the three-game series gives him a total of nineteen bases on ten hits in ten consecutive legal at bats.

CARPENTIER MAY SEE BOUT

BY GEORGES CARPENTIER

[Famous French fighting champion who has held five titles and is appearing in an act at Pantages Theater this week. This is the third of his daily stories dealing with the Flowers-Huffman fight at Ascot tomorrow.]

This is the day that I have set aside to labor hard on Mr. Alexander Pantages to say the word that will put into motion the chance for me to witness tomorrow afternoon's fight between Tigers Flowers and Sailor Eddie Huffman.

I have the fever to witness this match. I am anxious to see in action my antagonist at Tia Juana on Labor Day. I know that I boxed a draw with him in New York City not so very long ago, but I feel that I can learn more watching him box another than to wait till I am in the ring with him.

I know that the principals in tomorrow afternoon's fistic siesta are in the proverbial pink of condition. And I know each is anxious to bring home the bacon.

I also know that Flowers is not staking his middleweight title, but that does not matter. A defeat is a defeat and I always will recall the remark made by Young Corbett when Terry McGovern raved and raged that he did not lose his featherweight title when the hard-hitting Denver boy knocked him out. "It's all right Terry," said Corbett, "you keep your title. I am satisfied with having people point at me and say there is the young fellow that knocked out McGovern."

That is the way Huffman feels. He does not care about the title. Just to be the fellow that K.O.'d Flowers.

I understand that Flowers carries prayer books into the ring with him, in fact that he depends on religion a lot to carry him through. Not a bad idea at all. I don't believe that the prayer book will help put Huffman away. But, faith is a great thing and prayer books usually carry with them clean living and that means condition and stamina. I will wait till tomorrow before I make my choice of winner and loser.

In the meantime, I want every man and woman and child, that has any influence with Mr. Pantages, to come forward and try to re-arrange his programmes so that I can ride, swim or fly to the fight and return to the stage in time to do my act.

GRUDGE MATCH LAST

Daro Makes Kotsonaros-Gardini Struggle Final on Wednesday's Wrestling Card at Auditorium

Lou Daro, local wrestling promoter, announced yesterday that Renato Gardini and George Kotsonaros will meet in the last match on the program at the Olympic Auditorium on Wednesday night.

Lou stated that despite the fact that John Pesek, the great Nebraska Tigerman and Jack Taylor of Casper, Wyo., will occupy much of the spotlight, the grudge battle between Gardini and Kotsonaros will go on last.

Under that arrangement, Pesek and Taylor will grapple in their match and afterward Kotsonaros and the Italian heavyweight will be sent onto the mat to settle once and for all their dispute as to which is the better man.

"I'm going to find out who is the best of the two," said Daro, "and they can wrestle all night until one man gets a fall for all I care."

Lou Daro has Ivan Poddubay, the 250-pound Russian giant from the steppes, meeting Wladek Zbyszko, the 238-pound Polish giant, in another feature struggle. Like Pesek and Taylor, this pair have their eyes glued on Joe Stecher's title which is now reposing at Long Beach where the champion is sojourning for the summer months.

Gilberto Martinez, Mexican heavy, wrestles "Big" Frank Kice of Wichita, Kan., in the fourth struggle of the evening.

MEXICO FACING DOUBLE CRISIS

Labor Minister Holds Rail Strike Illegal

Troops Kept in Readiness for Emergencies

MEXICO CITY, July 22. (Exclusive)—In Mexico today all eyes are turned on two social movements as different as could well be—the refusal of thirty-six Catholic priests to place their names on the civil register according to the provisions of the law, and the declared opposition of the Red union organization to a decree of Labor Minister Morones that strikes on the Mexican National Railways are illegal.

In anticipation of trouble from Catholic sympathizers, orders have been issued to hold military barracks on the last day of the month ready to maintain order. Similar orders have been issued to all commanders of military zones throughout Mexico for Friday night, anticipating a railway strike on Sunday.

Several trains of soldiers moved out of the capital yesterday, for interior points south of the capital where the strike is expected to be the warmest. Strikers and the railway administration declare the only hope of avoiding the strike is in the interference of President Calles, who has the question under consideration.

One ray of hope today was the withdrawal of the railroads' order demanding that railway employees signify whether they will back the strike or stand by the railways, but this is the only ray of hope as apparently the railways played the part of discretion since the men refused to attend the order.

The religious question seems as unlikely to be settled as the railway strike. Today city civil authorities were closely studying a consignment of thirty-six priests, who refused to register in conformity with the law. Only one priest presented himself to the authorities today and he said that as soon as he has registered and has done as the law demands, he will leave Mexico, as most Mexican priests intend to do.

PROMINENT CLERICS REMANDED TO COURTS

MEXICO CITY, July 22. (Exclusive) Archbishop of Mexico Dr. Jose Maria Mora Y Del Rio and Pascual Diaz, bishop of Tabasco, have been remanded to the courts for a hearing for having publicly approved with their signatures, it is charged, a recent circular issued by the National League of Religious Freedom which instructs all Catholics to establish an economic blockade against the religious law on August 1, next. The case now goes to Romeo Ortega, Attorney-General, for his action as to whether charges that the circulars are seditious shall stand or be rejected. Both the president and vice-president of the league are also consigned to the courts along with two students arrested for having distributed the circulars.

CATHOLICS PLANNING SUPPORT BY PRAYER

NEW YORK, July 22. (Exclusive)—In support of the nation-wide economic boycott proclaimed by Mexican Catholics against President Calles's church exclusion policy, 1,500,000 New York Catholics will be called to prayer by Patrick Cardinal Hayes on Sunday August 1, the day the blockade begins.

Cardinal Hayes issued a pastoral letter yesterday which will be read at all masses next Sunday directing public and private prayers on August 1, for the distressed Mexican Church, in pursuance to instructions from Pope Pius XI transmitted in a letter signed by Cardinal Gasparri, papal Secretary of State.

Mexican Catholicism's plight is characterized as a "distressful crisis" by Cardinal Hayes who also charges "shocking injustices perpetrated by an anti-Christian government against priests and a religious and faithful Catholic people."

POPE'S LETTER

Pope Pius's grief over the "persecution" and an enumeration of the church's wrongs is contained in Cardinal Hayes's pastoral which embodies Cardinal Gasparri's letter setting apart August ., the feast of St. Peter in chains, for world-wide prayers.

Although high prelates of the Roman communion in New York refrained from comment on the expediency in probable effectiveness of the "social economic blockade" it was known that the plan has the general indorsement of the American church. John Cardinal Bonzano, papal legate to the recent Chicago Eucharistic Congress, was estopped by the nature of his errand to this country from voicing an opinion. He is staying at the Nicholas F. Brady estate at Roslyn, L. I., until he sails next Saturday.

Monsignor Caruana, archbishop of Cuba and apostolic delegate to Mexico, who was expelled from that country and charged by the Mexican government with representing himself as a Protestant at the border, was reported on his way back to Cuba. Cardinal Hayes confirmed his observations to those in next Sunday's pastoral.

Cardinal Gasparri's letter asserts that "amplest liberty is allowed by the present Mexican government to the representatieves of other religions than Catholics."

PROTESTANTS SILENT

It is not likely that the Protestant churches of the United States, many of which have missionaries in Mexico will co-operate through their missions with the "social and economic blockade" called for by the National League for Religious Freedom, according to views expressed here by Protestant churchmen.

Rev. Dr. Edward Whittaker Work, vice-moderator of the New York Presbytery while making it clear that he did not speak in any official or representative capacity, voiced what seems to be the prevailing opinion in Protestant circles—namely, that there exists at present among Protestants no desire or plan to contest the sovereign right of the Mexican government to promulgate such laws as it sees fit and necessary. Dr. Work added that entering upon a campaign calculated to result in an economic crisis hardly seemed in keeping with Protestant principles and doctrines.

PREDICTS PRIESTS WILL LEAVE MEXICO

MEXICO CITY, July 22. (AP)—Father Silverio Hoyos of the Catholic Church of Carmen here, predicts that Mexico soon will be without Catholic priests.

Father Hoyos made this prediction in the First District Court. He also declared that some Mexican priests already have left Mexico fearing the consequences of the new religious regulations and that many others are preparing to leave.

Father Hoyos appeared voluntarily in the court. He said that although he had not been cited with thirty-seven other priests on charges of having failed to register with the municipal authorities under the new law, he feared he would be punished unless he appeared. The judge told him the government did not intend to harm anyone. Judgment was postponed in the cases of the thirty-seven priests charged with not registering.

MAY CLOSE CHURCHES

It is persistently, but not officially reported that the Catholic authorities have virtually agreed to cease all masses and church ceremonies of every kind when the new regulations become effective on the 31st inst. Previously it had been stated that it was intended to leave church doors open and thereby permit anyone to enter and pray. The purpose of this was said to be to prevent the government from seizing the churches and converting them into libraries and other institutions if the doors were actually closed. It is unofficially reported that if church functions cease, the Catholic authorities may issue special authority to Mexican laymen to perform baptisms and other rites inside their own homes.

Members of Catholic organizations are continuing their propaganda against the new law. They are also creating a voluntary legal committee, composed of some of the best lawyers in Mexico, who will give free legal advice when necessary.

RELIGIOUS FREEDOM LEAGUE LEADERS TAKEN IN RAID

MEXICO CITY, July 22. (Exclusive) Police today raided the headquarters of the National League for Religious Freedom. Rene Capistrano Garza, vice-president of the league, was arrested at his office; the president, Rafael Ceniceros y Villareal, and the second vice-president, Luis Bustos, were arrested at their homes. About fifteen persons in the headquarters were held pending orders, but several women were allowed to depart.

League officials said they will carry out their program of starting an economic blockade August 1, as a protest against the religious law, despite the arrests.

MEXICAN NUNS GO TO CENTRAL AMERICA

VERU CRUZ, July 22. (Exclusive) Fifty Mexican nuns belonging to schools here and in the vicinity which are now closing as the date of the enforcement of the religious law approaches have left for Central American points, where, it is stated, they will continue their educational work.

They charge that passports were denied them, but that various consular representatives of Central American countries issued them visas permitting them to land at their destinations.

Trend of Music in Church Gets Severe Censure

CHAUTAUQUA (N. Y.) July 22. (AP) Church music is more often a godless quartet singing heathenish music in an unknown tongue than a God-fearing choir, H. Augustine Smith, director of music, Chautauqua institution, said today at a national convention on church music. He said that the church, once the workshop of the musician, dramatist and artist, has fallen into low estate . . . a scrap heap so far as beauty and reverence in the arts are concerned.

"We are spending $16,000,000 on church music every year and we get less than 5 per cent of worship and genuine helpfulness out of it," he said. "It is just another form of entertainment, of matinee singing.

"A revival of choirs, volunteered by young people, trained in schools and glee clubs, under exacting, yet kindly leadership, will do more than any other agency to bring young life into the church."

Heart Disease Commonest Ill, Clinic Told

SEATTLE, July 22. (AP)—Dr. George Dock, tubercular authority from Pasadena, Cal., told the tenth annual Washington Medical Institute Clinic here today that "heart disease is the commonest cause of death, more so than pneumonia or tuberculosis." The sessions which convened Monday with an attendance of 150 physicians end tomorrow.

Dr. Dock warned physicians who have treated infectious diseases among children that "heart murmurs," although they do not lead to sure and sudden death as was the opinion of many doctors years ago, must be carefully followed and observed. He explained that heart murmurs are eddies in the circulation.

Bay City Society Man Wanted in Bad-Check Case

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22. (AP)—Police Judge Golden today issued a warrant for the arrest of Walter De Brettville, socially prominent here, on a charge of having issued a fictitious check for $50.

The complaint for the warrant was sworn to by J. A. Rosse, local art store proprietor, who said that the check, drawn on a San Diego bank, was cashed by him for De Brettville last June, and that the check was returned with the notation, "No account."

SEVERAL SEEK HANGMAN'S JOB

Men Admit Applications Are Result of Being Tired of Work

VANCOUVER (B. C.) July 22. (Exclusive) — Provincial police officials are receiving numerous applications recently for the position of hangman in British Columbia.

Last week several men applied and gave their reason in each case as being tired of hard work and looking for an easy job.

Sergt. North of the police force reported that none of the men were lacking in nerve.

SOVIET LEADERS MAY WAR AGAIN

Trotzky and Zinoview Likely to Revive Feud

Head of Russian Cheka Now Important Figure

Struggle for Secret Service Control Impends

RIGA, July 22. (Exclusive)—The death of Felix Djerjinsky is expected to revive the feud between M. Zinoviev and Leon Trotsky for supreme power in Russia.

Also M. Unschlicht—a Lett—vice-commissar of the Russia Cheka, the red secret service of which M. Djerjinsky was the feared chief, looms as an important figure in communist politics, M. Unschicht assisted Djerjinsky to organize the Cheka and next to the latter he is the most feared man in Russia, M. Djerjinsky's disappearance from the field of Russian politics leaves M. Trotsky standing alone, and in Moscow a battle of commissars for control of the Cheka now is impending, since the commissar who controls the Cheka controls Russia.

M. Djerjinsky exterminated opponents of the Communist party the same as housewives exterminate cockroaches. As a slaughterer of human beings, he has no equal in modern times.

RUMORS HINT AT MURDER OF CHEKA CZAR

LONDON, July 22. (Exclusive)—The death of the people's commissar, Felix Djerjinsky, head of the Russian Cheka or secret police, was not as simple as it was reported from Moscow, according to rumors reaching London from all over the continent. There is a strong suspicion everywhere that the Cheka czar was poisoned or murdered by his enemies.

Berlin bolsheviks declare that it is unlikely that M. Djerjinsky died of heart disease, as Moscow reported, saying that confirmation of these rumors must be awaited.

The funeral will be conducted today and national mourning has been ordered for all Russia, where it is said 1,000,000 people will make the day one of rejoicing because the "bolshevik butcher" is removed.

SURVIVOR OF LAKE STORM TELLS TALE

Boy Gives Details of Canoe Tragedy Which Took Toll of Eleven Lives

TORONTO (Ont.) July 22. (AP)—William Wiggington, a 15 year-old boy, one of the four survivors of yesterday's canoe tragedy on Balsam Lake which took a toll of eleven lives, arrived here today.

He told of the ordeal of suspense he went through and of the heroism of some of his companions, especially of Ray Shea-Butcher, director of the Anglican Church Camp, and Oliver Mardell.

"Shea-Butcher and Mardell sacrificed themselves for the rest," he said. "After the canoe upset there wasn't room for all to cling to it. So they dived off into the water, swam a little distance and then sank."

The party left Long Point, young Wiggington explained, about 8 o'clock. After about half an hour's paddling, he said, the canoe upset. He didn't know the cause of the accident.

"It just turned over almost before we knew what happened," he said.

"It started to get rough after a while," he said. "That made it harder to keep hold of the canoe. Some fellows were shaken off by the waves and sank."

As the last few survivors were clinging to life with fast ebbing strength, the bulk of Grand Island in the middle of the lake loomed into sight. The canoe grounded with the four clinging to it.

Woman Held in Arizona Slaying of Dr. J. F. Reed

PHOENIX, July 22, (Exclusive)—Gladys Lane, 27 years of age, has been arrested at the instance of County Attorney Laprade on a charge of first-degree murder for asserted part in the killing of Dr. John F. Reed at her home last Saturday night.

Reed's antemortem statement told that he had been summoned by Mrs. Lane to her home and that he there had been shot down by her husband, D. G. Lane. Mrs. Lane was arraigned yesterday and will have her preliminary hearing next Tuesday. No bail has been asked for the accused individuals, who are in separate cells in the county prison.

Officers state that Dr. Reed's declaration of innocent acquaintance with the woman appears to be borne out in letters found from him to her.

Governor Flayed by Republicans of Bay Section

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22. (AP)—Resolutions charging Gov. Friend W. Richardson with crippling essential State activities by denying them necessary funds, and denouncing his administration as "extravagant and inefficient," were adopted here tonight by the Republican county central committee.

"Three and one-half years of his so-called economy government have shown an astounding increase in the cost of our State government," the resolutions declared.

"His so-called economy government has recklessly squandered millions of dollars, and at the same time wrecked or seriously handicapped numerous highly essential governmental departments and much-needed humanitarian agencies by denying them necessary funds."

The resolutions pledged members of the committee to an untiring effort to expose the "true facts as to the administration of the present executive."

PRISON POISON PLOT AIRED

Witnesses Tell of "Killers" Being Favored In Chicago Jail and of Steady Supply of Rum and Dope

CHICAGO, July 22. (Exclusive)—An "inside" story of amazing conditions in the County Jail was related in detail before a deeply interested audience, including the members of the Chicago Crime Commission, in Judge McGoorty's courtroom today.

The evidence, as related by prisoners and former guards, revealed a poison plot, the object of which was to put at least three of the prisoners regarded as having too much outside influence, out of the way; plans to maintain ways and means of keeping a large supply of moonshine whisky and dope coming in to the prisoners, and nets of intrigue, counter intrigue and bribery that made the penal institution of the county a den of debauchery unequaled in the history of the city, if not of the country.

The first witness called today was Elmer Moore, a guard at the jail until the 16th inst., when Moore and Frank McErlane, his prisoner, appeared in Judge McGoorty's courtroom under the influence of liquor, and the guard threatened to "knock Judge McGoorty loose from his trousers."

KILLERS FAVORED

Though told reluctantly and with every effort to minimize his own offenses, Moore's narrative, under questioning by Assistant State's Attorney Charles Mueller and at intervals by Judge McGoorty, revealed the facts that prisoners known as "killers"—notably Martin Durkin and Frank McErlane—had little difficulty in obtaining liquor in the County Jail; that such privileges as an exclusive tier of cells and a lavatory in the hospital were McErlane's; and that prisoners were allowed to receive bundles from the outside—delivered into their hands by "trusties"—without check by the guards on the examination made by one "bundle man" at the door.

It never occurred to him, Moore testified, that these packages should be subject to a second examination before they were delivered to the prisoners. Aaron Mosheik, a prisoner and interne at the jail hospital, testified to the prison plot. Three prisoners, Frank McErlane, William "Three-Fingered" White and David Stark, had been fed poisoned food in the jail on three consecutive Saturdays. Antidotes saved their lives, he said. On the fourth Saturday he declared a second attempt was made to poison Stark. McErlane, Mosheik testified, had been ill an hour and a half before his condition was discovered. Hospital attaches worked over him until 2 o'clock the following morning before he was out of danger. The attempts were made seven or eight weeks ago and analysis had discovered arsenic in the food, he said. The three inmates mentioned, Mosheik declared, were regarded by other guards and prisoners as having too much "outside influence."

EX-WARDEN TO BE CALLED

Just before Moore took the witness stand this morning it was said that Wesley H. Westbrook, ex-warden of the jail, is to be questioned during the present inquiry. He is serving sentences in the Dekalb County Jail for his part in the Druggan-Lake jail scandal.

Apparently deeply impressed by this narrative of modern jail life in Chicago, Judge McGoorty took recess, to look the jail over. He was escorted through the institution by Sheriff Hoffman, who has just returned to duty after serving a 30-day sentence in the Dupage County Jail at Wheaton for permitting Terry Druggan and Frank Lake, bootleggers, to go and come from the jail as they liked. Sheriff Hoffman pointed out to Judge McGoorty the various more striking scenic effects, including the hole in the wall made last Sunday by a charge of dynamite said to have been set off by "Midget" Fernekes, convicted murderer, when that individual tired of durance and attempted to depart.

WOMEN IN CELLS

The judge then returned to his courtroom to hear tales of how various prisoners were permitted to leave the jail for meals, allowed to have women visit them in their cells, given permission to have their apartments of incarceration furnished like a steamship captain's cabin, and how lesser felons were fed moonshine through a hose run from the outside through the screen into the cell.

Judge McGoorty adjudged the guard, Elmer Moore, guilty of contempt. When court adjourned Judge McGoorty sentenced Moore to sixty days in the House of Correction.

The investigation will be continued tomorrow.

Kidney Troubles
Quickly Relieved by Use of Amazing Natural Sap of Mexican Maguey Plant

OUT of Mexico comes a wonderful natural remedy for kidney troubles. It is called Agmel and has been successful in 85 per cent of Bright's disease cases treated. Hundreds of endorsements received. In many cases urine showing over 50 per cent albumin has been cleared in one month. Stops getting up nights, corrects bed-wetting and relieves prostatitis.

Not a Drug—Not a Medicine
Agmel is not a medicine. It is the concentrated sap of the Mexican Maguey plant, exactly as it comes from the plant except for removal of water. Contains no drugs or alcohol.

Maguey sap has been used 1000 years in Mexico to treat disease. It has long been recognized by medical science, and European and American specialists have for years been sending wealthy patients to Mexico to drink it for kidney disorders. Now by new process it is available in U. S. for first time.

Natural Yeasts, Vitamines and Organic Minerals
Agmel is a pleasant, uncooked syrup-food, rich in vitamines, minerals and yeasts which rebuild sick tissues so that failing organs again function with glowing strength. Agmel is also laden with Agavose, a form of sweet found only in the Maguey, which is readily assimilated and creates vital energy that overcomes disease. Doctors recommend Agmel.

For convenience of doctors and users a branch Agmel store is located in this city at the address below. You are welcome to call there for complete information and to taste Agmel free. Or mail coupon for valuable free literature.

SAFETY DRIVES MEETING TOPIC

Claim Agents Discuss Ways to Cut Accidents

Careless Crashes Reduced in Portland

Boys and Girls in Hunt for Reckless Drivers

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22. (Exclusive)—Safety campaigns and methods of decreasing accidents were the chief topics of discussion at the opening meeting of the Pacific Claim Agents' Association at the Clift Hotel today. Claim agents representing traction companies in California, Utah, Washington and Oregon are here to attend the association's seventeenth annual convention, which will last for three days.

"We have reduced commercial drivers' accidents in Portland 50 per cent in the last six months through the formation of the Commercial Drivers' Club to foster the safety idea," B. F. Boynton, claim agent for the Portland Electric Power Company, told the convention.

PORTLAND METHOD

"A Portland officer does not immediately grab a driver who has made a mistake and violated some traffic law. Instead, he talks to the driver explaining the mistake he has made, and presents him with a copy of the traffic laws."

Boynton also told of the formation of a junior safety officers' squad in his city consisting of 400 boys and and girls who are "on the lookout" for careless drivers.

V. F. Bennett of San Diego, president of the Claim Agents' Association, greeted the members and urged them to "co-operate with the law department in adjusting claims." Capt. Henry Gleason, head of the traffic department in San Francisco, talked to the delegates on traffic conditions here and told of future plans of regulating pedestrian control.

TOWNE GIVES TALK

Percy E. Towne, director and former president of the California State Automobile Association, was also a speaker at the opening session. He told of the association's efforts to prevent accidents.

Delegates and their wives were guests of the Market Street Railway Company at luncheon today. W. H. Moore and Thomas G. Aston spoke at the afternoon session. Today's convention program included several talks and a "question-box discussion" of the advisability of having the association recommend legislation regulating the operation of automobiles and the fitness of drivers.

NEW WATER ROUTE FOUND

Engineer's Report Tells Better Way to Reach Southland From Proposed Boulder Dam

SACRAMENTO, July 22. (Exclusive)—Gov. Friend W. Richardson received from the State Engineer today a progress report concerning the water supply of Southern California, with particular reference to the flow of the Colorado River. The report shows that former State Engineer W. F. McClure, and his successor, Paul Bailey, have been working on the Colorado River problem continuously for the past two years. With State Engineer Bailey's report, Gov. Richardson said:

"I have just received a report on the water supply of Southern California prepared by Paul Bailey, who succeeded the late W. F. McClure, director of the State Department of Public Works and State Engineer, and who was assistant to Mr. McClure for several years. The report contains much new and interesting information relative to the Colorado River project, in so far as the activities of Southern California are concerned. Mr. McClure and Mr. Bailey have, from time to time since the fall of 1924, been over the ground, securing valuable information, directing the work of assistant engineers, examining all available reports and other data relating with United States engineers as well as leading consulting engineers of the State, who have been connected with the investigations and co-operating with officials of the City of Los Angeles and other cities and representatives of rural districts of the southern part of the State. Much constructive work has been accomplished.

"WITHIN RESULTS

"Ahead of the State Engineer and Bailey up and down the State in automobiles and giving promises of what he proposed to do, or endeavored to make campaign capital by attempting to make the Boulder Dam and reclamation an issue in the State election, the State Engineer's Department has been quietly carrying on, under my supervision and direction, definite, tangible results of great value and benefit to the entire south, if not the entire State. If Congress will authorize the building of a dam and storage of water of sufficient height at Boulder Canyon, or other available site, California will be ready to take advantage, to the fullest extent, of its share of the water when it is released.

Concerning the Governor said:

"Water has been discovered by State Engineer for the bringing of the Colorado River water to Los Angeles and other Southern California points, which is much superior, as an engineering and practical project, to any yet found. The Boulder dam will largely eliminate the silt carrying life and will make the water much more economical when obtained.

"The plans and other plans of the Engineering Department in connection with the present proposal for the construction of the Boulder River Dam at Boulder Canyon.

"The problem of treatment of the waters of the Colorado, carrying large quantities of silt, can be solved by the discovery of the Boulder dam, by the construction of a huge reservoir at a high location, allowing the water at the surface of the reservoir, and only water into the conduit to be first "desilted" in the reservoir.

"TO WATER SOUTHLAND

"The proper diversion and distribution of water, according to the plans of the State administration, would not only the Los Angeles metropolitan area, but all sections of Southern California, from Ventura to the Mexican line, and from Imperial Valley and other districts adjacent to the Colorado River, to the Coast.

"The State Engineering Department, as is shown by the report of the State Engineer, has been working in fullest harmony with William Mulholland, the Los Angeles water department engineer, as well as engineers representing other sections, with the object of working out the most practical plans for the highest use of the Colorado River water.

"The late W. F. McClure, who was appointed Director of the Department of Public Works by me, took an active interest in Colorado River development matters up to the time of his death last month. He represented the State of California at the Santa Fe (N. M.) conference at which the original Colorado Pact was framed. At my request he attended the Congressional hearings at Washington and other hearings in the Western States relative to Colorado River matters. Paul Bailey, Mr. McClure's assistant, will carry on the work with which he is very familiar.

TEXT OF REPORT

The full text of the report, which is described as "a progress report to Gov. Friend W. Richardson," on "Water Supply of Southern California," follows:

In assuming the duties of Acting State Engineer under your recent appointment, may I submit to you the first of several progress reports upon the status of current work in this office. Although you frequently discussed the details of the work with the late Director of Public Works and State Engineer, W. F. McClure, and are familiar with its progress to date, nevertheless, I know your interest in the orderly development of the water resources of the State to be so deep that you will permit some repetition in a resume of the progress of the work under way in this office concerning the water supply of Southern California.

As you know, Southern California contains 20 per cent of the lands of the State that are favorable for human habitation, while but little over 1 per cent of the State's waters are tributary thereto. Although possessing a disproportionately small share of the State's waters, these lands have experienced a rapidity of settlement and improvement that has amazed the entire world. Already one-fifth of the area possessing a water supply lies within the limits of incorporated cities and towns and this fraction is continuously growing larger. The relinquishment of agricultural land for urban use does not reduce the total water consumption, as cities of fairly mature growth use water in amounts about equal to that required for irrigating the same area. The demand for water, therefore, can never grow less in Southern California, but rather, larger supplies will be needed for industries and manufacturies within cities and for the extension of agriculture to the limits of the available lands.

MONO LAKE WATERS

In arriving at the present great development in Southern California, less than half of the favorable area is occupied by cities or towns and irrigated lands. To reach this stage of development, nearly the entire supply of local water has been brought into use. Since an adequate water supply is requisite to growth, the salvation of Southern California is to seek a distant source of supply. Relief from the pending exhaustion of local waters was temporarily obtained by the importations from Owens Valley by the city of Los Angeles. Some further relief could be obtained by extending this project to include the waters from Mono Lake region, but this would be sufficient to satisfy the growing demands for only a few years. The one supply that can adequately meet the future needs, that is not separated from Southern California by insurmountable physical barriers, is the Colorado River.

The paramount need in Southern California, therefore, is water from the Colorado River. This is vitally necessary for the continued growth and prosperity of the entire south, from Ventura to San Diego and from Los Angeles to the Imperial and Palo Verde valleys. It is of primary importance to the entire State of California that the growth of this wealthy region should never be arrested by the lack of water. Likewise the protection from floods in the Imperial and Palo Verde valleys and other areas along the Colorado is of State-wide concern, for these sections have become important units in the economic structure of the State.

In conformity with your desire for an intelligent and orderly procedure in the solution of all State problems, this office has been engaged for the past twenty months in making the investigations necessary to reach sound conclusions concerning the relation of California to the Colorado River. Not until the city of Los Angeles declared its need for Colorado River water had this river ever been considered as available for lands other than those immediately adjacent to the river itself. The studies by this office of the water resources of the State, however, indicate that there exists a vital need, not alone for the city of Los Angeles, but for the entire southern end of the State. The urban and suburban areas are developing so rapidly that domestic and industrial water will be needed beyond previous conception. Much of this water will be needed temporarily for irrigating agricultural lands adjacent to the cities, but the present rapid relinquishment of agricultural lands for occupation by cities and towns indicates an ultimate municipal and domestic use for a very large amount of water, much more than local sources can supply.

COSTLY UNDERTAKING

Such a large undertaking as diverting the Colorado River into Southern California can obviously be accomplished by many different plans with widely varying costs, any one of which will cost millions of dollars. It is vitally important, therefore, that the most economic plan be evolved, for otherwise there is danger that the cost will result in stifling tax burdens.

For these reasons, the efforts of this office in preparing a co-ordinated plan for the development of the State's waters as directed by the Legislature of 1925, have been centered upon, first, the determination of the volumes of water required from a distant source for every section of Southern California in order to accomplish the full development of their natural advantages and, second, the determination of the most economic plan for storage of Colorado River water and its diversion to each area. Included in these studies are means for controlling floods on the Lower Colorado River and the development of the largest amount of incidental power possible. It is not regarded at the present time that the development of power alone on the Colorado River is of such immediate importance to California as the development of water, for it has been pointed out in the report of Messrs. Butler and Ready to the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce that the power from the Boulder Canyon Dam could only be absorbed by California markets through the abandonment of other construction programs by the city of Los Angeles and the Southern California power companies. The great immediate value of Colorado River power is limited to the extent that structures, required by the water development program, may be made to do double service by developing incidental power. This power can then carry a share of the cost of the major structures in the water development program.

INVESTIGATION

The first step in carrying out this program was taken in November, 1924, when the writer personally went in the field to investigate possible diversion routes from the Colorado River to all sections of Southern California. The particular effort of this search was to locate a direct route from Boulder Canyon into Southern California, so that the diversion could be made at the elevation of the water surface in the reservoir, the highest possible elevation of diversion, and so that only water desilted by settlement in the reservoir would be taken into the conduit. Such a direct route from Boulder Canyon was found. This route would harmonize with the present proposals for the construction of a dam at Boulder Canyon, now being publicly considered. It would also serve not only the Los Angeles metropolitan area but all sections of Southern California from Ventura to San Diego as well. Since finding this route, the writer has spent a month or more in the field studying these possibilities and directing the efforts of assistant engineers.

In order to make the work of this office of the highest value to the public, a group of consulting engineers has been associated with these investigations. They are all men so well known in engineering circles that their names are synonomous with knowledge and sound practice, each in his particular line of endeavor. These men are giving their time to the State for a nominal compensation. Their review of the work of this office insures that the plans matured will be the best the engineering profession can produce. The names of these consultants are William Mulholland, J. B. Lippincott, Louis C. Hill, Walter L. Huber, G. A. Elliott, A. J. Cleary, B. A. Etcheverry, F. C. Herrmann and A. Kempkey. Co-operating in this work and meeting with the consulting committee are also Maj. C. S. Ridley, U.S.A., executive officer of the California Debris Commission; Lester S. Ready, Chief Engineer of the State Railroad Commission, and F. E. Bonner, District Engineer of the United States Forest Service and representative of the Federal Power Commission in California. This entire committee has spent nine days in the field studying the Colorado River problems.

EXTENSIVE PROGRAM

The program of investigations as herein outlined, although it includes only the features of the Colorado River development that pertain to the needs of California, is nevertheless so extensive that its successful completion in time to report to the 1927 Legislature as required by the statute authorizing the work, would not be possible except for the very hearty co-operation of the city of Los Angeles. The water department, under William Mulholland, manager and chief engineer, has extended every aid within its power in making these studies. Its work in preparing plans for an additional water supply for the city of Los Angeles has produced maps of practically the entire area between the city and the Colorado River. All these have been made available to the State without cost.

The investigations and surveys made by the United States Reclamation Service and the United States Geological Survey on the Colorado River provide data on the reservoir and dam sites along all sections of the stream and much information on the water supply.

With this information as a start, the survey for transporting the Colorado River water to the Pacific slope of Southern California has proceeded. A close examination has been made of all the physical features along possible routes. Alternate designs and estimates are being prepared.

Other studies concerning the water supply of Southern California are also under way. A large portion of the present water supply of Southern California is pumped from underground basins. The continual sinking of new wells in recent years has caused a serious lowering of the ground water levels in nearly all sections. This office is now finishing the first complete survey of the underground waters of Southern California. This will show the recession of well levels and the depletion in all the subterranean basins during the last four years.

SANTA ANA RIVER

Also, in co-operation with Orange, Riverside and San Bernardino counties, this office is preparing a plan for the complete conservation and control of the Santa Ana River. As in the Colorado River investigations, the Santa Ana work is proceeding in consultation with engineers particularly well known in Southern California and especially familiar with conditions there. They are J. B. Lippincott, A. L. Sonderegger and G. S. Hinckley.

All this work has been diligently prosecuted through the present biennium along with similar investigations in the remainder of the State, with the end in view of having a report covering the entire subject of the conservation and control of the State's waters completed for presentation to the 1927 Legislature as provided for by statute.

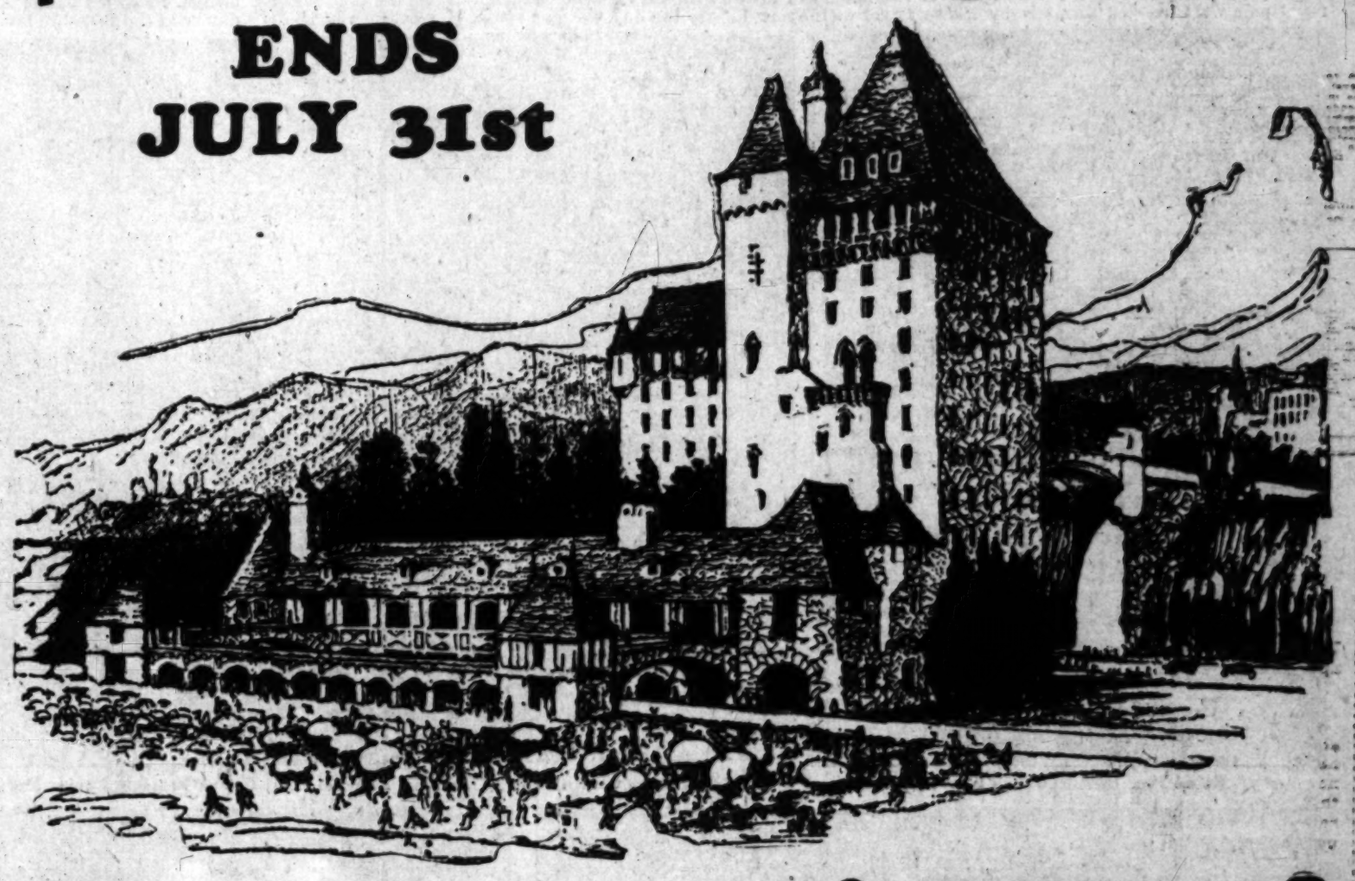
CALIFORNIA WINS FOR OPTIMISM

When 500 Widows, Each With Flock, Find Mates, Times Not so Bad

SACRAMENTO, July 22. (Exclusive)—California is the land of optimists. Records of the children's aid department of the State Board of Control reveal that during the past year 500 widows with from one to twelve children who were receiving State aid obtained husbands.

State officials declare that to marry a widow with twelve children or even half that number is the height of optimism, especially when the children's aid department considers that it costs on an average of $5 per month per child for clothing and from $5 to $11 for food.

$100 Membership Offer ENDS JULY 31st



Deauville! Beach Club

FOR introductory purposes, a limited number of regular $200 memberships in the Deauville Beach Club have been offered at $100. The response has been over-whelming. Practically the entire allotment at the reduced price has been subscribed, making it necessary to terminate the offer Saturday noon, July 31. After that, the regular price of $200 will prevail.

The tremendous demand for Deauville Beach Club memberships has proved a revelation. It shows that there are thousands of men and women who love the seashore and who are glad to avail themselves of the facilities of a first class beach club, providing they can do so at a reasonable cost. By reasonable cost is meant a price for membership that is commensurate with the length of the beach season and the extent to which they will use the club during the other seasons of the year.

These considerations have been given full recognition by the sponsors of the Deauville Beach Club. Planning one of the largest and finest beach clubs in America, designed to have the largest beach area ever devoted to that purpose on the Pacific Coast, they have adopted a policy of keeping memberships down to a cost within the reach of the great body of people devoted to the surf

Typical of the features that will make this the outstanding club of Santa Monica Bay is its entrance. Instead of struggling against the congestion of a beach level speedway, you will go directly from Ocean Avenue, through the Palisades Park, across a magnificent arched bridge to the fifth floor of the club building and then by express elevator to the main floor.

Among the other features planned are the large main dining room on the third floor; a special dining room on the top floor, thus providing a magnificent outlook over the entire bay district; 500 guest rooms and the largest enclosed, tempered, saltwater swimming pool in Southern California.

Remember, all checks for memberships at $100, received after Saturday noon, July 31, will be returned. You should take prompt action to avail yourself of this opportunity.

Visit of Swedish Royal Pair In City Opens With Great Welcome

Seldom has the visit of distinguished visitors in Los Angeles created as much interest as did the arrival in the city yesterday of Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise of Sweden. From the time the royal pair were greeted formally by Mayor Cryer at the new library the day was one round of pleasant revelations for both hosts and guests. Highlights in the day's activities included the program at the Shrine Auditorium, reception at the Arcadia residence of Prince Erik of Denmark, tea at the Midwick Country Club and dinner at the Biltmore last night. ASTOR HONORS WEST IN SHAFT

Monument Commemorates Historical Events

Pioneers Remembered by Expedition

Tribute Paid Explorers, Lewis and Clark

ASTORIA (Or.) July 22. (AP)—A towering shaft on the summit of Coxcombe Hill, erected by Vincent Astor, great-great-grandson of John Jacob Astor, who in 1811 founded the first American settlement west of the Mississippi River, was dedicated today by the Columbia River Historical Expedition.

The monument commemorates three great pioneer events which were largely responsible for the settlement of the Pacific Northwest, the discovery of the Columbia River by Capt. Robert Gray in 1792, the arrival of the Lewis and Clark Expedition on the Pacific Ocean in 1805 and the founding of Astoria in 1811.

The site of the monument, high on Coxcombe Hill, overlooking Astoria and the Columbia River, is within a short distance of the spot where the followers of Lewis and Clark rested through the winter after their memorable trip overland.

Mrs. Richard Aldrich of New York represented the Astor family at the dedication ceremonies, which were presided over by Gov. Pierce of Oregon. Addresses were delivered by Maj.-Gen. Scott, Dr. Samuel Morrison, Lawrence Abbott and Judge F. W. Howay.

With today's exercises, the Columbia River Historical Expedition, made up of 150 prominent historians, writers, public officials and French and American high school students, concluded its mission, that of dedicating numerous monuments along the route of the Lewis and Clark Expedition on its long trek through the wilderness early in the nineteenth century.

SCORES DIE IN MOSLEM, HINDU RIOTS

Armed Cars Used to Quell Calcutta Disturbances As Police Lose Control

CALCUTTA (India) July 22.—Approximately forty persons were killed or injured in fierce Hindu-Moslem clashes which broke out anew here Tuesday night and continued a large part of yesterday.

Three armored cars rumbled into the embattled district to quell the rioters after the bitter street fighting between armed groups got beyond the control of police.

Five persons were killed in yesterday's battles. Two were killed Tuesday night by Hindu snipers, who were posted on the roofs to pick off the marchers in Mohammedan procession in connection with the feast of Mohurrum. Other Hindus dropped explosives among the marchers, throwing the district into panic. Most of the casualties yesterday were among the Mohammedans.

The city is still under a severe tension, due to the ferocity of the battling factions, who refuse to be cowed by police. The Moslems cut the fingers from one Hindu fighter. Only the tanks restored a semblance of order. Many Hindus have been arrested.

Girl 'Jilted' by Thaw to be Sent Back to Film City

MARTINSBURG (W. Va.) July 22. (AP)—A movement was started in Winchester, Va., today to raise a $400 fund for expenses home of Miss Forest Hope Walls, her mother and brother, who made a transcontinental trip from Hollywood, Cal., in the belief that Harry K. Thaw would meet and marry the girl on their arrival at his Kentilworth estate, near here.

Friends of Miss Walls in the Virginia town started the fund movement when she failed to receive a reply to a telegraph she sent to Thaw's New York address, asking for expenses for the return trip to California.

The young woman appeared at the Thaw estate several days ago, asserting to have copies of letters written to her by Thaw proposing marriage. She said she had never met Thaw, but they had exchanged letters.

Justice Files for Post Held Half-Century

WALLA WALLA (Wash.) July 22. (AP)—Angus McKay, 90 years of age, has filed his twentyininth consecutive declaration of candidacy for the office of justice of the peace in Russell Creek precinct.

He has held this office continuously for fifty-six years and never has been defeated. He has been a Republican since the founding of the party and before that was an Abolitionist.

WOMAN WINS SEAT

Miss Bondfield Elected Member of English Parliament

LONDON, July 22. (AP)—Miss Margaret Bondfield, former chairman of the Trades Union Congress, is again a member of Parliament. She was elected for the Wallsend Division on the Laborite ticket in the bye-election to fill the vacancy caused by the retirement of Sir Patrick Hastings.

Miss Bondfield's return to Parliament increases the number of women to six. It will give Susan Lawrence and Ellen Wilkinson additional support on the official Labor-opposition side of the House and will aid Lady Astor, the Duchess of Atholl and Mrs. Hilton Philipson in their efforts toward legislation for women.

WEAF SOLD TO RADIO COMPANY

New York Paper Hints At Movement to Acquire Air Monopoly

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—The American Telephone and Telegraph Company has sold WEAF, one of the outstanding radio broadcasting stations, to the Radio Corporation of America, which operates WJZ, another of the best-known stations. Transfer of WEAF will take place before the end of this year. For the present each station will operate on its usual wave-length.

An announcement by the A. T. and T. published today says WEAF was established as an experiment in communication but the further the experiment was carried "the more evident it became that the objective of a broadcasting station was quite different from that of a telephone system."

The sale is considered the beginning of a movement to "acquire a monopoly of the air," the New York Herald-Tribune says today. The paper names the Radio Corporation, the General Electric Company, and the Westinghouse Company as in the movement. In contrast to this, the A. T. and T. announcement notes that there are 536 broadcasting stations in the United States and applications pending for 600 more.

The tribune expects the sale by the A. T. and T. of the Broadcasting Company of America, a subsidiary, which controls fourteen stations and sells programs to others. The paper foresees a chain of high-powered stations from Coast to Coast under one ownership.

WEAF, of which Graham McNamee is the announcer, has produced recently many programs by first rank entertainers, in which stations in other parts of the country participated. It has done an extensive business by mentioning in connection with entertainment programs the names of firms providing the programs.

TRACTION OFFERING UP TODAY

Railway and Terminal of Dallas to Sell Issue in Refinancing Move

More than $5,000,000 in mortgage notes and other obligations will be retired in connection with the new financial program of the Dallas Railway and Terminal Company, the first part of which is being effected with the offering this morning of one of the largest issues of traction bonds in recenty ears, $5,000,000 Dallas Railway and Terminal Company first mortgage 6 per cent bonds, due July 1, 1951. The bonds are priced at 96.50 and interest, yielding over 6.25 per cent, and are being offered by a banking group headed by Halsey, Stuart & Co., Inc., Tucker, Anthony & Co., the Old Colony Corporation and W. C. Langley & Co.

In addition to the bonds, $1,000,000 7 per cent cumulative preferred stock and $1,000,000 common stock are being issued. This will increase the amount of the securities which will be outstanding junior to the bonds to $4,750,000. The Dallas Railway and Terminal Company is distinctly a company of the type which has came through the last several years, which have been difficult ones for many traction companies, in excellent style.

Policies of management have enabled the company to gain public confidence and to operate hte road in a highly efficient manner, the results of which are evident in the earnings for the past four years. Net earnings for the four years ended December 31, 1925, have averaged over $760,000, while for 1925 they were $851,219, as compared with annual interest requirements of this issue of $300,000. Dividends have been paid on the company's preferred stock since 1921. During the year 1925 cash dividends paid on the company's common stock then outstanding amounted to $7.24 a share, and cash dividends have been paid each year since 1921 in at least an equal amount on the common stock.

The bonds will be secured by a direct first mortgage on all the company's property and equipment, including the terminal building.

Wider Interest Seen in State's Mining Fields

SACRAMENTO, July 22.—Widespread activity prevails at present in the treasure-laden mining fields of California, according to a statement issued today by Commissioner of Corporations Daugherty.

In some districts of the State there are certain signs of new activity to indicate that history is about ready to repeat itself in part, or at least to greatly increase the interest of the public in mining affairs. One of the best indications of new developments in the mining fields is to be found in the records of the State Corporation Department which has jurisdiction over the issuance and sale of mine as well as other securities.

During the months of May and June, the Corporation Department, through its mining division has issued permits to twenty-seven different companies with a combined capitalization of over $14,800,000 ranging from $50,000 in some of the smaller corporations to $4,000,000 in one of the larger companies.

London Daily Radio

BY ARTHUR W. KIDDY

[Copyright, 1926, New York Evening Post, Inc.]

LONDON, July 22. (By wireless)—The market today was quite dullish on the continuance of the coal deadlock and expectation of further capital issues next week, including a Hungarian loan for about one and a quarter millions.

The franc recovered to 202 on the Herriot defeat, although it showed signs of weakening slightly. Our railways have now mainly filled up their coal requirements, causing a slackening of bookings of steamships for American coal. Sterling is weaker.

COTTON MARKET

NEW YORK, July 22. (Exclusive) The cotton market had a stronger and higher opening on the good advance in prices at Liverpool for both spots and futures, and the sharp rally in the French franc. The rise here amounted to only 10 to 13 points and, as there was no outside responsive buying, this advance did not hold. It was gradually lost in the late afternoon.

In the last hour prices for the general list declined 8 to 10 points from yesterday's closing on further Southern selling and local liquidation, following the fresh setback in the stock market and also in further evening up speculative holdings over the uncertainty of tomorrow's government crop report.

On the early advance October contracts sold at 17.60 cents; December 17.50; January 17.51; March 17.68; and May 17 7-8. In the last hour on the first decline October went off to 17 3-8; March 17.50 and May to 17.68.

At Liverpool spot made an early advance of 13 English points to 10.60d for middling with futures advancing 10 to 11 points but later reacting, and closing quiet, with a net advance of 4 to 6 points on the day, against 1 to 3 due.

The government's crop report is expected to show a condition of about 72½ per cent against 75.4 the last report to June 25 issued on the 2nd inst., and an indicated crop of about 15,300,000 bales without linters, against 15,635,000 in the last report. The weather has turned hot all over the central and eastern parts of the belt, with temperatures at many places reaching a maximum of 100 deg. at mid-day. There were further scattered rains of an undesired character in the Central States and Texas overnight, but the outlook is for clearing weather in the West, except only scattered showers in Louisiana.

FARM-BELT REVOLT JOLTED

Prosperity of Area Held to Hinge More on Prices for Hogs Than for Corn Itself

BY PAUL WILLARD GARRETT

NEW YORK, July 22.—Iowa's latest move to raise the price of corn along with other agricultural commodities does not impress the financial community so much for the economic problem at hand as the possible political implication.

When the corn-belt committee received the report of its cost-finding experts, it found that these men had set $1.42 as a fair value for a bushel of corn. That is 67 per cent above the present market price of 85 cents, and the Des Moines delegates are greatly exercised over the position in which some corn growers now find themselves.

The misfortune is not one that affects all farmers, however, and that is why Wall street insists the problem will largely solve itself.

Eighty-five cents for corn is low as prices go now, but only a small proportion of the corn grown in this country is marketed as corn. Perhaps 85 per cent of the commodity finds its way to the markets in the form of live stock. This is only another way of saying that the prosperity of the corn-growing regions depends far more on the price of hogs than on the price of corn itself.

At $14.40 for each 100 pounds, hogs now command more in the open market, it so happens, than they have at any time since the fall of 1920. Ten bushels of corn, roughly speaking, will produce 100 pounds of hogs. For ten bushels of corn in the present market the farmer gets only $8.50 for the commodity, but for corn marketed in the form of hogs he gets $14.40, which represents approximately $1.44 for each bushel of corn.

Normally corn and hogs should move together in the market and since most of the corn is fed to hogs it is inevitable that in the end the two prices will be restored to their natural relationship. The short corn crop of 1924 upset the usual positions of these products but the time now cannot be far distant when the price for hogs will be reflected in a larger hog production and the larger hog production will give more farmers hogs to which they may feed corn. This will relieve the condition of farmers that now complain because they must market their corn as corn since they do not have hogs enough to consume the crop.

ARIZONA NATIONAL TO HAVE NEW COGNOMEN

PHOENIX, July 22. (Exclusive)—The National Bank of Arizona at Phoenix has been granted authority for change of its name to "The First National Bank of Arizona." The name is considered decidedly appropriate, inasmuch as the bank was the first in Phoenix, established in 1879 by Sol Lewis and M. W. Kales as a branch of the Bank of Arizona, the first bank in Prescott and still in operation. The bank's deposits exceed $4,000,000. Its officers are: President, Thomas Armstrong, Jr.; vice-presidents, Leo Goldman and S. C. Ganz; cashier, C. T. Washburn.

WOOL TRADE SPOTTY

BOSTON, July 22. (AP)—Wool transactions are extremely spotty. Concerns that have been having a steady business, although of moderate volume on about all lines, are now getting demand for only limited quantities of relatively fine grades. Most concerns have less business than last week. Indications from activities on the wool market do not point to any considerable volume of goods, orders having been placed with manufacturers as a result of the lightweight openings. Demand seems to be limited to current requirements of the mills.

BUSINESS PHILOSOPHY

BY WILLIAM FEATHER

THE road to success is no rougher, or harder, or more painful than the road to failure, but there is this difference; we voluntarily choose to bear the pains of success, while the pains of failure are thrust upon us.

The pains of success are mental and physical, as are those of failure.

The boy or girl who aspires to succeed in school pays a daily penalty in the act of resisting the impulses to enjoy pleasures of the moment; in forcing the brain to exercise when it is crying to quit; in doing mental tasks which are just as tiring as any physical labor.

He must save when he would like to spend.

He must work when he would like to loaf.

He must take kicks when he would like to sleep.

He must be up and doing when he would like to kick back.

He must be patient when his nature is to be impatient.

He must bring his appetite to reason when it calls to be unreasonable.

FIRST MORTGAGE SECURITY—STRONG OWNERSHIP—6½% INCOME

The steady decline in bond interest rates over the past year serves to emphasize the unusual investment value offered by ROOSEVELT IN HOLLYWOOD First Mortgage 6½% Serial Gold Bonds, due 1928-1943.

This issue is secured by a fee-hold first mortgage on the new limit height hotel and store building now being erected at Hollywood Boulevard and Orange Drive, one block from Highland Avenue. The total security value is $2,193,000, making this practically a 50% loan.

An additional point of strength is the stock ownership, which is in the hands of such substantial men as Joseph M. Schenck, C. E. Toberman, Louis B. Mayer, Marcus Loew, Geo. L. Eastman, I. C. Freud, Fred Niblo.

Application has been made for the certification of these bonds as a legal investment for Savings Banks in California.

Reports of Bank Rate Boost Starts Selling Raid

Transactions Principally of Professional Sort

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—Stock prices displayed another comprehensive reversal of form in today's market, opening strong in apparent reflection of the more cheerful overnight news from France, and then breaking sharply in the afternoon on a revival of rumors, which again proved to be unfounded, that the New York Federal Reserve Bank would increase its rediscount rate after the close. Closing quotations disclosed a long list of net declines ranging from 1 to 6 points.

A sharp rally in French francs, coincident with a rise in French governmental and municipal bonds in the New York and foreign markets, were construed in Wall street as indications of returning confidence in the principal financial centers of the world in the ability of the new French government to save its currency from further depreciation and put through necessary financial reforms.

Selling of stocks, like much of the buying which had preceded it, was of a professional character, the leading commission and wire houses reporting relatively little speculative interest on the part of the outside public. One of the most important business developments of the day was the quarterly report of the United States Steel Corporation, which showed total income in excess of the previous quarter, but lower rent income due to the fact that refunding operations on a large note issue were charged against second quarter earnings.

TRADERS DISAPPOINTED

In view of the fact that net earnings for the quarter were equivalent to $2.04 a share on the common, the disappointment was expressed that no dividend action was taken on the common stock.

Wall street apparently is reasoning also to no special dividend action being taken by the U. S. Steel Corporation directors at their meeting on Tuesday, although hope is still held out for some "melon-cutting" at the October meeting. U. S. Steel common showed a net loss of $ 2 54 on 138 5-8 after having touched $1

WALL STREET PARAGRAPHS

NEW YORK, July 22.—For some unexplained reason prices turned downward on the stock market today after an early display of strength. The recovery from yesterday's latest slump was explained in part as a replacement in political conditions in France, but renewed selling which set in after noon took the street by surprise. Pressure was exerted against stocks that had recently been in urgent demand and presented an opportunity for profit taking by traders apparently over the European outlook. They probably had seized the opportunity to withdraw from the market when the recovery was at its height in the forenoon. In some quarters the possibility of an advance in the rediscount rate at the Federal Reserve Bank was again cited, but in view of the favorable statement of the call money position this suggestion received little attention.

Official French Situation

The French situation was again a matter of financial circles here today, although the outlook appeared to have improved overnight with the fall of the Herriot Cabinet and the selection of Raymond Poincare as Premier. Traders were appreciative of difficulties at hand. In addition, professionals displayed leniency in adding up stocks until the danger of a collapse in francs had been removed.

Franc Rate Higher

In the foreign exchange market, however, the demand for francs improved and rates on Paris ran up 100 points compared with 2.13 at the close yesterday. Later in the day the quotation eased off to 2.20, but improved. French government bonds and shares rallying briskly, and commodities recovering a part of recent losses.

Break Is Mysterious

The break in stocks shortly after the opening hour was just as mysterious as it was sudden. No one seemed to be able to account for it although the financial district was the wires in an effort to find some reason to hang it on. One of the large banks was reported to have advised its clients that it believed prices were high enough, and such reports were regarded as entirely improbable. Most of the professional traders believe a reaction or movement at this point would be beneficial and were inclined to regard the drop in values in this light. Why it should hit the market so suddenly and with such force particularly after the earlier display of strength, was, however, the question that given the shrewdest kind of a lead to explain.

June Railroad Earnings

The six official railroad reports for June issued and with rough estimates on a few others, it is rather difficult to predict what the showing in carriers as a whole will be. However, a year ago the Class One roads showed aggregate net operating income of $61,716,862. This repre-

Florida Power and Light Company Plans for Unification Progressing—Company Sells Bonds to Reimburse Treasury for Expenditures Made.

NEW YORK, July 22. (Exclusive)—Organized toward the end of 1925 to consolidate a group of Florida properties owned by the American Power and Light Company, by which it is now controlled, the Florida Power and Light Company is rapidly whipping its extensive system into a formidable organization.

The program is an extensive one and has required considerable financing. The properties, which are under supervision of the Electric Bond and Share Company, are regarded by bankers as in sound position, as indicated by the fact that the company has been able to float its first mortgage bonds on little better than a 5 per cent basis.

Several days ago an issue of $12,000,000 additional of its first mortgage bonds were placed on the market at a slight discount and quickly absorbed by investors on the lookout for attractive opportunities.

TERRITORY SERVED

Electric light and power service is extended to seventy-six communities in the State of Florida, among them some of the largest and most rapidly growing cities, such as Miami, Miami Beach, Fort Lauderdale, Palm Beach, West Palm Beach, Ormond and St. Augustine on the east coast, and Fort Meyers, Punta Gorda, Sarasota and Bradentown in the west.

Work is being carried forward steadily in the task of interconnecting the electrical properties into a single unit, and a number have already been tied together by high-tension transmission lines. The company also furnishes gas to the larger cities and maintains ice manufacturing plants at several points in addition to street railway and bus service.

Electric generating stations now operating have a total installed capacity of 75,712 kilowatts. Construction is going ahead rapidly on two new stations which will be among the largest in the South—one on the St. John's River and the other on the New River.

Though built for much larger ultimate capacity, it is expected that the St. John's River plant will have a 10,000-kilowatt unit installed and the New River plant two 25,000-kilowatt units by the end of the year.

The passing of the real estate boom in Florida has permitted a return of normal conditions, and permanent improvement of large tracts of land is now being undertaken. This company's plants are based on the steady all-year-round needs of the territory.

CAPITAL EARNINGS

With recent financing completed, the Florida Power and Light Company will have capitalization consisting of $42,000,000 in funded debt and four issues of capital stock. Of the latter only 99,972 shares of the $7 cumulative preferred stock of no par value are outstanding. None of the $6 cumulative preferred has been issued, and the 50,000 shares of second preferred and 2,500,000 shares of no par value common so far issued are owned by the parent company.

Earnings for the twelve months ended May 31 last show operating revenues at $11,591,949 and net from operations of $4,722,348. Including other income, total available for interest requirements was $5,019,331, or more than 2 1-4 times the annual interest requirements on the first mortgage gold bonds outstanding.

METAL MARKETS

CLEVELAND, July 22. (Exclusive)—Daily Metal Trade today says: "Greater activity in building is reflected in heavier demand for reinforcing bars, particularly for apartment-house projects in Chicago territory. However, awards are not quite as numerous as previously, yet warehouses in particular are being pressed to make deliveries on contract material. Structural shape business also is expanding.

"Advancing prices in the East apparently have proved no deterrent to buying, large tonnages being placed. Semifinished steel orders of moment are lacking, although finished steel demand is exceptionally good, season considered, some producers reporting orders well ahead of June.

"Electrolytic copper is 14.50c, delivered Connecticut. Tin, spot Straits, 63.62½c. Lead, St. Louis, 5.55c. Zinc, St. Louis, 7.45c."

BOND QUOTATIONS

French Liens Recover

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—Strength of foreign obligations, which followed the recovery in French bonds, today contrasted with the irregular downward movement of domestic issues. Fears of an advance in the Federal Reserve rediscount rate, which proved to be groundless, accounted for much of the selling.

Hope that the acute financial crisis in France would be relieved by the formation of a "National Union" Cabinet, was reflected in the brisk rally of the French dollar bonds. The government's issues, which had been subjected to particularly heavy selling late yesterday on unfounded reports regarding the solvency of the Bank of France, rebounded 1 to more than 2 points, and substantial gains were recovered by the various railroad, municipal and French steamship liens. German and Mexican issues displayed a better tone.

Railroad bonds, after making a satisfactory showing early in the day, were driven back in the late trading as reports were circulated of a changed bank rate. Losses of a point or so were recorded by such representative issues as Missouri Pacific general 4s, Southern Railway general 4s; Delaware and Hudson 5s; International General Northern adjustment 6s, and St. Paul 6s. Fractional recessions embraced a much longer list of investment and speculative liens. Price movements of industrial issues were mixed, gains in Eastern Cuba Sugar 7½s, Liggett & Myers 7s and Rogers Brown 7s, contrasting with the heaviness of Remington Arms 6s, American Writing Paper 6s and Bush Terminal 4s.

STOCKS TUMBLE IN LATE TRADING

Bethlehem closed 6 points lower at 38, which had touched 47 in the early trading, United Alley closed a point higher at 67 in the early fractional gain of 6½ points despite the announcement of the merger with the Central Alloy Company.

Motor shares, which have taken a prominent part in the recent advance, were heavily sold, but offerings were readily absorbed, and closing quotations generally were above the lowest of the day. General Motors dropped from 270 to 268 3-8 and then snapped back to 269 3-4, up ¼ net, and Hudson declined from 63½ to 60 5-8, but rebounded to 62¾, or 2 points net. Auburn declined from 134 to 130 3-4 and then moved back to 132 1-4.

U. S. Cast Iron Pipe showed the widest degree of fluctuation, plunging from 202 to 188 3-4 and thence back to 195. About a dozen issues attained new 1926 peak prices during the early trading, including Air Reduction, Douglas and Pacific and "Big Four."

BANKS LOSE GROUND

Bank shares with the industrials despite the publication of additional record June earnings statements. Atlantic Coast Line broke over 6 points to 111 1-8 and Chesapeake & Ohio, Reading and Seaboard Air Line yielded 2 to 3 points.

The principal commodity markets were inspired by large shipments of cotton from the farms to primary markets and reports of improved weather in the spring wheat belt. Cotton closed 6 to 9 points lower with the list closed pending the publication of the semimonthly government report on condition and probable tomorrow. Raw sugar was steady and coffee dropped 22 to 24 points.

Call money renewed at 4 per cent in the early trading, which figure all but disappeared at that figure all day. Loans in the "outside market" were reported as low as 3 3-4 per cent. Time money was quoted at 4½ to 4½ per cent, depending upon maturity. Prime commercial paper was in fair demand at 4 per cent.

Bankers' bills, which sold as low as one-half point yesterday, following the confirmation of erroneous reports regarding the probability of the Bank of France suspending redemption of notional defense bonds, rallied above 2.23 cents today, and showed a firmer tone all around that level. Demand sterling was quoted around 4.85 to 4.86. Other rates were mixed.

Wheat Declines on New Estimate of Canada Crop

CHICAGO, July 23. (Tabulated)—An estimate of 273,000,000 bushels of wheat for Canada previous, made by Crop Expert J. W. Shaw, which was well above most recent guess that section had issued, led to heavy selling of futures and a break of 2½@3½c from the finish of the day before. While there was good buying on the setback, the latter sold down to 1.39½, showing for the high on Monday. Closing prices were at net losses of 1¼@1½c, with July 1.39½@1.39¾ and September at 1.41¼@1.41½. Subsequently, several liquidation in connection with September delivery down to 1.41¼, but rose to 1.42@ basis, with July 75¼@ 75½ and December 81½@82. Cash wheat unchanged to ½c lower. Corn declined 2¼@2½c. Rye lost 1¾@1¾c, with July 1.01½ and September 1.06¼@1.06½. Oats were unchanged to ½c lower. Provisions showed no material change.

Trade was unusually heavy selling of wheat and resulted as far as local professional interests were credited with going short. Reports of the acreage of September bought by the U.S. Bureau of Crops bought on the theory that it was part of the support campaign because an earlier estimate. The Canadian bureau on spring wheat, with a change of 3.6% in Minnesota and lower temperatures in the Dakotas, with continued rains in Montana, helped to create bearish sentiment. It is noted is still regarded as largely a short crop. Forecast was for fair and warmer weather over belt also at the time.

In this estimate was considerably above what it had had as standard, in view of the possibility that it was counted from the Canadian North-West, it was compared with the recent government estimate of 257,000,000 bushels. Despite the fact that last was active and the basis of comment in the house. The French crop estimate is 350,000,000 bushels, or 44,000,000 bushels less than last year. Export demand was poor today, with quotes of 450,000 to 500,000 bushels in all positions.

Commercial interests developed in spots as the result of the bearish estimate, with some on hand quite liquidating, and the big elevating changes between the old and the new. The latter was the reason for the greater part of the day. Shipping reports were slow, with the most loads 1@2c under the price basis, the keeping qualities of the latter being in doubt.

Cash trade was quiet, with further unloading reported in the West and Northwest. The Minneapolis receipts from the Dakotas and Montana showed a very light movement. There was also indications of some cash buying based on reports that the Canadian crop had been sold abroad. Commission house buying was good, the finish was at inside prices of the day. Shipping sales were slow and trade was quiet. Most cash sales were at 1@2c under the September basis, the keeping qualities of the latter being in doubt.

Cash wheat sold at 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 red, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 red, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 hard winter, 1.41@1.44½ for No. 1 hard winter, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 mixed, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 mixed, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 yellow, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 yellow, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 white, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 white, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 hard Montana, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 hard Montana, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 Dakota, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 Dakota, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 Manitoba, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 Manitoba, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 mixed durum, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 mixed durum, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 amber durum, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 amber durum, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 durum, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 durum, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 red durum, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 red durum, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 white durum, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 white durum, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 mixed durum, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 mixed durum, 1.39½@1.41 for No. 2 yellow durum, 1.41@1.42½ for No. 1 yellow

BY HOWARD C. KEGLEY

Now that the Shell company has succeeded in plugging back its deep test in the Poso Creek district, oil interest in that area has quickened surprisingly. Several companies are hastening to erect rigs for drilling projects, and the development of an adequate water supply looms as one of the large undertakings of the immediate future.

No drilling of consequence can be done until the operating companies have water with which to run their boilers, as well as water for camps. Just now it appears probable that the operators will pool their money and run a water system of considerable size from Poso Creek over to the lands which are to be drilled. This will be quite a costly undertaking, but will be cheaper, it is believed, than drilling many water wells.

The Barnsdall Oil Company is ready to go on with its drilling program as soon as water can be had, and several other companies are reported to be "rarin' to go," but waiting for water. In the meantime Shell is said to be getting about 200 barrels of oil a day from the Vedder well, on the pump.

Barnsdall has been drilling the Leutholtz No. 2 for some little time, of Sec. 28, 27 - 27. It now has three other rigs up. One is on Sec. 20, 27 - 27, another is in Sec. 1, 28 - 28, and the other on Sec. 8, 27-28, offsetting the Veddar well.

It is reported that a fairly good supply of "wash" water can be had in the district at a depth of about 1200 feet, while shallower water levels yield mineral water which would have to be treated before it could be used.

Drilling Its Wells

The General Petroleum Corporation, which already has two projects in the Poso Creek district, is drilling a water well there to develop its own supply for all purposes.

Its Glide No. 1 well has just been spudded in, and its Winston No. 1 is reported to be down 1700 feet. It the formation is anything like that which the Shell found, the G. P. ought to be in the oil within about 300 feet more.

Santa Fe Revival

It sounds almost unbelievable that an oil company of repute would start a string of new wells at Santa Fe Springs, but that is exactly what the General Petroleum Corporation is doing, and G. P., didn't do at all bad when Santa Fe Springs was in her heyday.

The organization recently completed its Santa Fe No. 20, in block A, for 825 barrels, flowing under compression, and the showing was so good that the No. 21 is now being rigged to rotary. And in addition the G. P. is staking locations for the Santa Fe No. 22, Santa Fe No. 23, and Santa Fe No. 24, which will round out a group of five new wells when they are all completed.

The Santa Fe No. 20 is producing from the Bell sand at 3828 feet. The G. P. is drilling these wells on a seventy-acre lease, where it only drilled a series of nine wells when the field was undergoing frenzied development. It still has room for a good bunch of wells on the inside, and is looking for 500-barrel completions, with oil testing about 32-deg. gravity.

June Summary

According to figures collected by the American Petroleum Institute, Pacific Coast office, the total production of crude oil in California for June amounted to 18,269,417 barrels, an average of 608,981 barrels a day. This is an increase of 6815 barrels a day over May production.

Total stocks of crude and all products in Pacific Coast territory decreased during the month 1,219,129 barrels. The total stocks at the end of the month were 150,514,560 barrels. The total stock decrease for 1926 up to June 30 was 6,801,940 barrels.

Sixty-seven wells were completed during the month, with an initial daily production of 30,846 barrels, compared with fifty-eight wells completed during May, with an initial production of 15,738 barrels.

Will Drill Three

On the strength of showings made by the Whiston No. 2, and the O'Donnell No. 49, at Signal Hill, the Western Drilling and Production Company has announced its intention to drill three wells on a double corner lot at the northwest corner of Atlantic avenue and Wardlaw Road.

One derrick is being built and two more will soon be started, it is asserted. Some months ago the company built a rig there, but showings of wells in the shallow sands of the Los Cerritos extension were so poor that the derrick was torn down. Fortunately the material was stacked up on the lot and now that the McKeon sand is yielding some good wells, the Western organization is putting up its rig again.

Will Check Fumes

Now that the city of Long Beach, which gave them revokable franchises for pipe lines, has threatened to sever the pipe lines of oil companies operating refineries with Signal Hill crude unless the operators prevent gasoline fumes from stifling the populace, the oil companies are hastening to devise some way to cut down the objectionable odors.

The Shell company some days ago notified Long Beach that it has started to make plant betterments which are expected to eliminate most of the fumes, and now the Gilmore Oil Company and Julian Petroleum Corporation have notified the City Manager that their plants will hereafter give off nothing of an offensive nature.

Craig Burns Completed

Craig Burns No. 4 well, Locust avenue and Thirty-fifth street, is the newest producer in the Los Cerritos district. The well came in from the deep sand before daylight yesterday with a reported yield of 1200 barrels. A guage was made for two hours, during which period the well yielded 105 barrels. There is no tubing in the hole. The gas pressure has mounted on the flow line to 230 pounds. The well was drilled to 4800 feet and was cemented at 4745 feet. I is opposite the Boles No. 1, which is said to be the best well in the area.

The Miller & McKinnis Marine Bank No. 1 in Weston Place, north of Cameron Place, came in with a yield estimated at 500 barrels, from the 4778-foot level.

Another well added to the deep-sand producers in the extension during the past few days is the Harry Failing No. 1, on Atlantic avenue, north of Center street. It was returned to production from the 4788-foot level with a yield of 700 barrels a day. Gravity of the oil is reported as being 25.1 deg. The well originally came in during bailing operations more than a week ago, but was killed for deepening.

Countess Doesn't Want American Daughter-in-Law

NEW YORK, July 22 (Exclusive) "I wouldn't mind having my daughter marry an American boy, but I wouldn't want my son to marry an American girl," said the Countess De Quall, Lady in Waiting to the Queen of Spain as she sailed on the Manuel Arnus of the Spanish Royal Mail line of which her husband is president.

The Countess admitted having a better impression of America than she thought she would have and said she believed American men make good husbands. As for an American wife for her son, she rather shied at the idea, saying the American woman is always out gadding and does not make a real home.

Not that the Countess has a grudge against American women. She was surprised that they did not stop in the streets and make up, as European flappers do. She thought some American women, especially those of plump proportions, showed poor taste in bobbing their hair.

With the Countess were her son, Juan, and her daughter, Carmen. During her stay in America she was the guest of Charles M. Schwab and former ambassador Alexander Moore.

NEW YORK CURB STOCKS

NEW YORK, July 22. (AP)—Reactionary price tendencies developed in today's curb market, after an opening display of strength in reflection of the overnight improvement in the French financial situation. The temporary collapse of speculation for the advance of the "big board" appeared to have influenced much of the late selling.

Independent strong spots developed, however, in several sections of the list, particularly the oil group which began to pay more attention to reports of record breaking gasoline consumption. Borne-Scrymser soared 25 points to 280, a new high, on odd-lot trading and Prairie pipe line, Creole Syndicate and Pennock closed a point or so higher. Continental oil certificates, vacuum and a number of the miscellaneous issues were heavy.

A break of 19 points to 806 in Ford Motors of Canada overshadowed all other developments in the automotive group. Brockway fell back 2 joints and others yielded fractionally. Central Steel fell 2 points to 71, following the announcement of its merger with United alloy steel. Baking shares were under pressure, Continental Baking A and General Baking A each yielding over a point. Warner pictures was one of the few strong spots in the industrial group.

The closing price is omitted when same as the low, and both low and close when same as the high.

FERRALL CASE JOLTS SENATOR

Phoenix Register is Friend of Cameron

Grand Canyon Claim Cited as Ouster Cause

Remand Said to Have Executive Approval

PHOENIX (Ariz.) July 22 (Exclusive)—Senator R. H. Cameron of Arizona has just been given a severe official jolt, in the summary action by the Interior Department of L. L. Ferrall, register of the land office here, in the local land office. In the local land office has been posted a copy of a telegram from Edward C. Finney, acting Secretary of the Interior, advising Ferrall that he is out of office and directing Chief Clerk Robert V. Pool to take charge as register. There is indication that this action has been taken with Ferrall's approval.

Ferrall is staying at his desk, however, for he has appealed to the District Court of District of Columbia for a decision on the question whether the Secretary of a department may withhold issuance of a patent after the Senate has confirmed a Presidential appointment. It is contention that issuance of the commission is a mere clerical matter.

Ferrall was confirmed December 19, 1925, but no commission was issued, the department placing it in the same class as an ad interim appointee. When Congress adjourned, he was immediately advised his tenure had expired and that he should surrender the office to Mr. Pool. Then it was he appealed to Senator Cameron, his patron, relative and closest friend, and to the local Court.

REASON FOR OUSTER

Exactly the immediate reason why L. L. Ferrall has not been retained, despite the influence of Senator Cameron, has in a decision made by him with respect to twenty-eight mining entries made by Cameron and associates in the bottom of Grand Canyon, with claims that Cameron and other valuable mineral coast on the property. This is the only Cameron case to get to the Land Office in recent years, all others being before the United States Courts. One case against the Cameron interests has been in the courts of the Northern Arizona District Court and another on appeal to the Federal Court at Cases for about six months, these cases as of a long series. Both relate to placer filings on the channel of the Colorado River for twenty-six miles above Black Canyon, including the Boulder Canyon dam-site.

The Land Office case dragged for months. At one hearing the government presented evidence that "the ground within the claims are absolutely devoid of minerals in any form," that the corporation, the United States Gypsum Company, had been organized to make public exploitation. Attorney William Spry of the Land Office added a memorandum that Ferrall is a brother-in-law of the defendant Cameron, and a partner with Cameron in some of the mining claims in the Canyon on which adverse rulings have been made." It was found Ferrall had made affidavits in connection with Cameron's Grand Canyon filings as far back as 1905. The famous platinum claims finally came to a hearing before the Register in November 16, 1925. On December 10, ten days after Mr. Ferrall's decision had been considered by the Senate, he rendered a decision in favor of Cameron and others, with statement that the decision was the only one that could be rendered, that the case did not involve competition for patents, that large sums of money had been expended in development work and that no injury to the government would result in allowing such development to continue.

FILING REVERSED

Secretary Spry, on January 15, 1926, reversed the decision on the ground that as "no discovery was made on any one of the so-called placers and that the land embraced therein is nonmineral in character, the filings were null and void and that the lands are part of the National Forest." It is so held."

Commissioner added sharp criticism. He stated that no evidence had been submitted showing that large or small sums of money had been expended in development work, that there had been delay in advancing the claims despite urgent inquiries from the Land Office. The case had not been handled in an orderly manner. The order of dismissal made by the local office was considered contrary to the rules of practice and the decisions of this department and the decisions of the Supreme Court of the United States in cases from the United States (253 U.S. 287). Compliance with the order of dismissal of the Land Office was declared tending "to defeat the purpose of the hearing and to the other disregarding the rights of the President and of Congress in withdrawing the public domain and creating the Grand Canyon Park."

In summing up: "It is the careful review of the record that your handling of the case has been so erroneous as to be in opposition on your part to the applicable laws or that you are unfamiliar with the rules to be observed in such cases."

Ferrall is believed to give the real reason why the commission was not signed and promptly transmitted for signature. Possibly reason lay in the fact that in the House of Representatives, in the House of Representatives, that Mr. Ferrall, on March 20, 1924, registered in opposition as a Democrat.

GET FACTORIES, SAYS FINANCIER

Porterville Banker Favors Industries

Rancher Says Spray Ruined Fruit Trees

First Tulare Malaga Grapes Go East

PORTERVILLE, July 22.—"Get industries" should become the slogan of California boosters, in opinion of H. C. Carr, Porterville banker, who believes the time is near at hand when attention of boosters should be turned to bringing industries to the Pacific Coast rather than to bringing farmers out to settle here.

Mr. Carr declares it would be more economical for industry itself to move to the Pacific Coast than for people of California to continue to produce more and more farm products and ship that produce to the industrial centers in the East. "It would do away with a large part of the shipment of perishables to the far eastern markets, since there would be a better and larger Coast demand for these products, and industry itself would prosper here just as well as it does in the Eastern States. In my opinion, boosting organizations, such as the California, Inc., would do well to devote more attention to this phase of the development of California and devote less attention to the attraction of farmers.

"Industries on the Coast," Carr declares, "would mean thousands upon thousands of new people to eat the farm produce here grown, would tend to solve in a large measure and could eventually solve completely the so-called overproduction." As time developed the need for additional farm produce to fill such a need there would be no difficulty, in his opinion, of supplying that demand. Indeed, he says, this matter would take care of itself.

PAY FIRE FIGHTERS

PORTERVILLE, July 22.—Checks have been received here by 100 or more men of Porterville district who worked as fire fighters during recent forest fires in the Sequoia National Forest during the latter part of June and early in July. The checks came from the government's forestry offices in San Francisco. Pay rolls sent in by timekeepers at the different fire locations have been checked and the money forwarded to the men.

SUES SPRAY COMPANY

PORTERVILLE, July 22.—Suit to collect $7500 claimed as damages from the California Spray Chemical Company and Leighroy Miller, dealer, has been filed by W. J. Ferguson, Porterville fru grower.

Ferguson declares he was prevailed upon to purchase a quantity of the spray from the company known as "Vlock" and had been told by the salesman that the spray would not damage the trees in any way and would in turn kill the scale, red spider and pests. He applied the spray, according to the filing, on his twenty-acre citrus grove near the Campo Verde colony and as a result, he says, he suffered the loss of the fruit and the tree foliage was badly burned.

FIRST GRAPE SHIPMENT

STRATHMORE, July 22.—The first Malaga grapes shipped from California this season to eastern markets, with the exception of Imperial Valley, are believed to hav left the C. W. Merwin house at Strathmore a few days ago. This shipment was a full month earlier than shipments of this variety of grapes in other seasons.

There were ninety crates in this first shipment, the grapes having been picked in the district east of Strathmore. No explanation is offered by horticultural experts for the early maturity of this fruit, but seasonal conditions generally are believed responsible.

More Malagas have been shipped this week. Several car. of early Thompsons went east from the Merwin house already this season, but no exceptional shipments of this variety were made.

HOME FOR CONVENTION

VISALIA, July 22.—Superintendent of City Schools De Witt Montgomery has arrived home from Philadelphia where he attended the fifth annual convention of the National Education Association as a representative of the central section of the California Teachers' Association, of which he is president.

More than 1000 delegates attended the session, which, according to Mr. Montgomery, was one of the most successful conventions on record. Every State in the Union and Hawaii was represented at the meeting. The largest delegation at the convention came from the State of California.

Keynote of the convention was the challenge to the American youth to the teaching profession. Co-operation with the parents, co-operation with the organizations of the community and service to the child are some of the factors, according to the convention leaders, which are being sounded in the country's realm of educational activity and existence.

HAS FOURTH TRIAL

VISALIA, July 22.—Tried three times, with as many jury disagreements, Frank White of Tulare and Lindsay will face the jury for the fourth time on October 5, next, on a charge of attacking a Lindsay girl last December when she was but fifteen years of age. Trial was set when White appeared and counsel waived the sixty-day limitation.

INDIA'S HOME RULE LEADERS RELENTING

BOMBAY (India) July 22. (Exclusive)—The swarajist (home rule) party leaders are relenting in their boycott against the councils. After a theatrical walkout from the Delhi Council Hall early in the year, the party chieftains are gradually permitting the provincial branches to attend the councils in order to contest important pending bills. Furthermore, the country has supported the acts of several swarajist leaders in seceding from the party in order to accept ministerial offices wherever they are in majority.

WINNIPEG (Man.) July 22. (Exclusive)—The governments of three prairie provinces of Western Canada issued a call last night for 60,000 outside harvesters for the wheat crop harvest, which starts August 15, the date on which the first train will reach Winnipeg, Saskatchewan has a good crop and so has Manitoba, with Alberta only fair, the latter having suffered from hot winds and drouth.

PANAMA LINE TO ENLARGE FLEET

Two Additional Steamers to Enter Service

Ten-Day Sailings Announced for December

Travel and Cargo Demands Basis of Move

Inauguration of a ten-day passenger and freight schedule will be maintained out of the port of Los Angeles to New York by way of Mexican, Central American and Panama ports, commencing in December, by the Panama Mail Line.

The increased service will be made possible with the assignment of the steamers Santa Ana and Santa Teresa, which will be placed in service the last month of the present year.

Announcement that two more steamers to augment the liners Colombia, Venezuela and Ecuador, which have been maintaining this coast-to-coast run for the Panama Mail Line via the Canal, was made several weeks ago.

However, the names of the two steamers and the date that they were to go into service was not disclosed until yesterday.

The steamers and date of entry into service became known here yesterday, with the arrival of the liner Colombia. Among the travelers arriving were importers and exporters of New York, who were advised of the names of the liners and their entry date into service.

The plan of the Panama Mail Line is to "sandwich" the steamers Santa Ana and Santa Teresa in between the departures of the other liners to provide a sailing every ten days between Los Angeles Harbor and New York. Formerly the service was on a twenty-one-day basis.

The steady increase in the passenger and freight trade out of Los Angeles and New York via the Canal, demanded that additional tonnage be placed in service.

The vessels turned over to the Panama Mail, the Santa Ana and Santa Teresa, are operating out of New York to South America.

The Santa Ana is a vessel of 4869 gross tons, 360 feet in length, fifty-one-foot beam and twenty-two-foot draught. The vessel was built in 1917 by William Cramp & Sons, Philadelphia. Built in 1918, the Santa Teresa is virtually the same tonnage and length as the Santa Ana.

The Panama Mail Line, which completed its initial birthday the end of June, has been gradually developing the passenger and freight trade between Los Angeles and the Atlantic Coast. Demands for more passenger and freight accommodations were such, that, following a conference of executives of the Panama Mail Line, the two steamers were secured.

CALIFORNIA FRUIT IN HOLDS OF BRITISH SHIP

Ten thousand crates of Southern California oranges and grapefruit, the biggest consignment of the season, will be loaded in the refrigerator holds of the Pacific Trader of the Furness Line, tomorrow for London delivery. The big motorship will leave Los Angeles Harbor late tomorrow with approximately 10,000 tons of fruit and Coast products from Vancouver, Puget Sound ports, Columbia River ports, San Francisco and Los Angeles. Her sister ship, the Pacific Comet, which is also due in this week, is the United Kingdom and North Europe with 5000 tons of European freight and a number of passengers for Los Angeles and coast ports.

Return to duty of Charles F. Tate, president of the Western Steamship Agency, was announced at the port offices of the company yesterday. Tate has been absent from his desk for the past month during a severe illness.

Nine hundred tons of east coast and Central American cargo was let down yesterday by the Panama Mail liner Colombia, arriving at daylight from New York, via the canal, with 135 passengers. Included in her local cargo was 500 bags of coffee and consignments of sugar and resin from Central America and the west coast. Capt. A. C. Paulsen reported excellent weather throughout the voyage, although the liner was considerably delayed by heavy cargo offerings and machinery trouble en route.

Commander John S. McCain, U.S.N., yesterday assumed command of the U.S.S. Sirius, naval transport, relieving Commander W. P. Gaddis, who has been in command of the U.S.S. Arctic, naval supply ship. Commander McCain, one of the most widely known officers in the naval service, has for the past two years served in the Navy Department at Washington as legislative representative of the Bureau of Navigation, handling all naval personnel legislation submitted to Congress.

Louis Grindley yesterday replaced Guppa H. Wiley as chief steward of the Panama Mail liner Colombia upon arrival of the steamer from Yew York. Mr. Grindley formerly was chief steward in New York-South African service and was for several years with the W. R. Grace & Co. fleet. Mr. Wiley, veteran Pacific sailor, will accept a similar position in the trans-Pacific fleet of the Nippon Yusen Kaisha.

The new Italian motorship Cellina, on her maiden voyage in the passenger-freight trade of the Navigazione-Libera Triestina, will arrive at daylight from Mediterranean ports according to radio advices received yesterday by Bart Sherwood, freight traffic manager of the General Steamship Corporation local agents.

Mr. Sherwood also announced that the steamer Timavo has been designated to take the September sailing from Mediterranean ports to the Pacific Coast, replacing the motorship Fella, sailing date of the recently established service of the N.L.T. The Timavo, a new vessel of 4952 tons net, is equipped to carry passengers, as well as having ample refrigerator space for fruit transport to Southern Europe of Southern California fruit products.

"Trade between the Pacific Coast and the Mediterranean has grown so fast since the inception of the service that we have found it necessary to put on ships having both passenger and refrigerator accommodations," said Mr. Sherwood.

The Admiral Line's flagship H. F. Alexander will bring 499 passengers in this morning from Seattle and San Francisco, according to a radio last night from the ship. It is the largest steamship list of the season.

"Passenger traffic is now at its peak along the coast," Hugh R. Brittan, general passenger agent for the Admiral Line, said yesterday. "Our steamers are running in both directions well booked, and in some instances we are unable to find space. We expect this flood of business to carry through to next September."

DR. NORRIS JURY UNDER ATTACK

Members Prejudiced, Says Pastor's Publicity Man

Recalls One's Attempt on Life Ten Years Ago

Eyewitness to Killing in Church Again Heard

FORT WORTH (Tex.) July 22. (AP) The personnel of the grand jury investigating the killing of D. E. Chipps by Dr. J. Frank Norris, was attacked here today by J. J. Mickle, publicity director for Norris's church, as the jury recessed until Tuesday.

In a statement which is to be published Saturday in the Searchlight, Norris's weekly paper, Mickle charges that some of Norris's bitterest enemies are members of the jury, that it contains Roman Catholics, and that one of the main purposes in the formation of the jury was to indict Norris for criminal libel for his attack on Mayor H. C. Meacham and others.

RECALLS ASSAULT

The statement declares that one member of the jury attempted an assault on Dr. Norris's life ten years ago, and reiterated charges of a conspiracy against Norris, declaring that "the conspirators" met on a certain night this week and raised a large fund to hire well-known criminal lawyers to prosecute Norris.

Frank Anderson, a prominent Fort Worth business man, who is a member of the jury, stated that the jury is of a very high class, being composed of business men and farmers.

"It is one of the best juries ever assembled here," he said. "And it was formed long before the killing at the church and long before anyone knew that it would be investigating any acts of Dr. Norris.

"There are two Catholics on the jury, one of whom I believe is not a regular church member. The other members are Baptists, Methodists, Episcopalians, or do not belong to any church."

Anderson's statement was concurred in by other jurymen who declined to be quoted.

HEAR EYEWITNESS

The jury, after working three days on the case, recessed to give time to transcribe the testimony, and to permit development of additional evidence.

Several persons who were at or near the scene of the killing when Chipps was shot in the office of the First Baptist Church last Saturday, were examined today. L. H. Nutt, deacon in Norris's church, the only known eyewitness, was re-examined, as was Ralph Ridgeway, 14 years of age, who was in an adjoining room. Both had been before the jury earlier in the week.

COMMENTS ON MEIGHEN TALK SMALL

"United Front" Policy of Three Parties Spreading in Canada

TORONTO (Ont.) July 22. (Exclusive)—Prime Minister Arthur Meighen's opening campaign shot at Ottawa has permeated Canada, but so far has caused little comment. The criticism from the Liberal press is that Mr. Meighen enunciated no forward policy for the Canadian people and spent nine-tenths of his time detailing why they should not vote for the Liberals in the September 14 election.

E. L. Patenaude, who in the last election opposed Mr. Meighen, his leader, in Quebec, was on the platform, subscribing this time to "unity" among Canadians. Senator Gledon Robertson, former Labor Minister, told the people that all the separatists and Communists would be behind former Premier MacKenzie King, Liberal leader.

The "united front" policy of the Liberal, Progressive, and Labor parties is spreading throughout Ontario and the West. In Lambton and Huron districts, in Ontario, there will be a joint anti-Conservative candidate, and William K. Ward, Dauphin Progressive, who today vigorously defends former Customs Minister Bevin as an "upright man" will be a joint Liberal-Progressive candidate.

The anti-Meighen forces announce the re-entry into politics of Thomas Crerar, former Progressive party leader and head of the western wheat pool. He would run in Marquette, Man., a seat now held by the Conservatives. Mr. Crerar's prestige among the farmers of Canada is important.

Mr. Meighen now is to carry the election campaign into the Maritime Provinces. Mr. King will fire the Liberals' opening gun tomorrow. The opening declaration at the "maritime rights" investigation at Halifax was that economic and fiscal justice for the maritime Provinces could be found within the confederation. The maritime Provinces have been simmering with separating sentiments, due to asserted grievances over tariff, transportation and neglect of their ports.

LONDRES, Julio 22.—El Rey Jorge y la Reina María ofrecieron hoy una regia fiesta en los jardines del Palacio de Buckingham, a la que habían sido invitadas 13,000 personas. Había 101 norteamericanos entre los millares de huéspedes que tomaron el te en esta reunión, que ha sido una de las más grandes y más brillantes fiestas regias celebradas de la coronación acá.

Como casi todos los invitados concurrieron, los seis acres de jardines que tiene el palacio, con magníficos árboles, arbustos y pequeños lagos, presentaban mágico aspecto. No cabe duda que ha sido ésta una de las más brillantes funciones sociales que se registran en la corte británica.

Por más que sólo a intervalos haya brillado el sol, las señoras llevaban las últimas creaciones de verano, y los señores iban de chaqué. No hubo absolutamente etiquetas durante las tres horas de fiesta; tan sólo hubo algo de ceremonia cuando aparecieron Sus Majestades, que fueron a saludar primero a los representantes diplomáticos, y luego celebraron corte. Estrecharon la mano a millares de sus invitados, y luego se pasearon sin escolta alguna por los jardines.

En el grupo de personas reales pudo verse al Duque y la Duquesa de York, a la Princess María, el Príncipe Enrique, el Duque de Connaught y el Príncipe y la Princesa Arturo de Connaught. Entre los huéspedes se contaron príncipes de la India y muchachas del ejército de salvación. Todas las clases sociales tuvieron allí representación; hubo estadistas, soldados, laboristas, pares, profesores y obreros sociales.

Uno de los espectáculos más interesantes para los norteamericanos fue ver al Rey tomar su taza de te y pedacitos de pan tostado con manteca, con toda gracia y expedición, a pesar de llevar puestos sus guantes blancos, que siempre calza en estas ocasiones.

Shuler Interroga a Keyes

No sabemos si el juez Keetch y el fiscal Keyes se presenten o no la tarde del próximo domingo en la Iglesia Metodista de la Trinidad, para responder a nueve preguntas que les ha formulado el Reverendo Bob Shuler acerca del asunto de la señora McPherson. Hasta anoche nada habían externado sobre el particular, ni el juez ni el fiscal, pues se limitaron a decir que, en efecto, habían recibido una carta de invitación para concurrir a la iglesia de la Trinidad; pero no quisieron hacer comentario alguno.

Las nueve preguntas del pastor se refieren a las instrucciones dadas al gran jurado por el juez Keetch, por las que le encarece que no rinda informe alguno sobre su investigación en el caso de la McPherson. Inquiere también el pastor si tuvieron algo que ver otros dos jueces con el "programa de silencio," y termina preguntando si los dos funcionarios a quienes se dirige verían con gusto una encuesta imparcial en todo el enredo del templo del Angelus.

El señor Shuler invita al juez Keetch y al fiscal Keyes a responder a una serie de preguntas que desea hacerles el citado ministro en el mitin religioso del domingo. Para Keyes formula una interrogación adicional, que no figura entre las hechas a Keetch. Es ésta: "Me enteré de la declaración que hizo usted por medio de la prensa, en la que promete que se hará una investigación completa y justiciera, y se dará al público informe completo del sumario. ¿Cuándo cambió usted de resolución, y por qué?

Las demás preguntas se refieren a diversas irregularidades que señala el pastor en la investigación, y termina ésta su carta proponiendo una investigación de los asuntos del templo del Angelus por una comisión imparcial que se nombre al efecto.

Charlas Infantiles para Chiquillos de Escuela

SHEEP MEN WARNED OF TARIFF PLAN

Keep Shortridge and Help Protect California Goods, Wool Grower Urges

SAN FRANCISCO, July 22.—(Exclusive)—Declaring that "all issues are mere camouflage to hide a plan to remove the tariff by electing nontariff men," a statement was in the hands of wool growers and allied interests throughout the State today signed by L. H. Tryon, prominent San Francisco wool man and president of the San Francisco Wool Trade Association. Tryon urges the importance of retaining in office such men as Senator Samuel M. Shortridge to assure the protection of the wool industry and other California products affected by tariff legislation. The statement said in part:

"California has no Congressional representative on the Ways and Means Committee of the House—the committee with jurisdiction of tariff rates.

"Under the seniority rules of the Senate no new Senator from California could succeed to the place on the Senate Finance Committee now held by Senator Shortridge. Senator Shortridge and Senator Smoot of Utah are the only Republican members of the Senate Finance Committee from the West.

"There are many and devious issues to be presented to the public at the primary elections this August. . . . But as I see the thing, all issues are mere camouflage to remove the tariff by electing nontariff men. Regardless of our personal ideas, let us unite in California to keep our place and our California products protected by the tariff.

"To this end I urge that you work for nomination and retention of Senator Samuel M. Shortridge."

Calles Takes Hand in Threat of Rail Strike

MEXICO CITY, July 22. (AP)—President Calles, who has just returned from a tour of inspection in Northern Mexico, has personally assumed the task of trying to avert a general railway strike, which is threatened Saturday in sympathy with trainmen in the remote district of the Isthmus of Tehuantepec, who struck because their demands for the dismissal of their division superintendent was refused. They have been on strike for some time, and the Federation of Railroad Unions, representing union railroad men throughout Mexico, has threatened to order a general railway strike unless the dispute in Tehuantepec is settled favorably to the men.

The government is gravely concerned over the threatened cessation of railway traffic throughout the nation. President Calles is holding conferences with members of his Cabinet, railroad officials and union leaders on the situation. At present the situation is at deadlock owing to the refusal of the railroad men and the executives of the railroad in Tehuantepec to recede from their position.

MAIL-TRAIN BANDITS CAUGHT BY OFFICERS

HANKINSON (N. D.) July 22. (AP)—Three unmasked men who held up the mail clerk on the Hankinson-Bismarck Soo Line train here today, were captured within two hours. All of the loot except a package of registered mail, was recovered. The missing package, thought to contain currency, is believed to have been hidden by one of the robbers.

Los Angeles's royal welcome to Their Highnesses Gustavus Adolphus and Louise, Crown Prince and Crown Princess of Sweden, reached its climax last night at a banquet given to the royal couple by the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce. Guests, representing the elite of the city, filled to overflowing the banquet room at the Biltmore, which was the scene of the Chamber's greeting. Their Highnesses were warmly welcomed by Arthur Bent, president of the Chamber of Commerce, Mayor Cryer and Henry M. Robinson.

Highlights of the evening were the entrance of the royal party into the Galleria of the Biltmore where throngs had gathered to meet them, the speeches of welcome, a musical program, the introduction of prominent guests and the speech of His Royal Highness Gustavus Adolphus, which is given in full in another column.

Arthur S. Bent, master of ceremonies, paid a graceful tribute to the guests of honor and called for other prominent guests to arise, including Prince and Princess Erik of Denmark, Viscount Waldorf Astor, His Excellency Wollmar F. Bostrem, Swedish Minister to the United States, Hon. Robert Wood Bliss, United States Minister to Sweden, Admiral Robertson of the United States Navy and Hon. Carl E. Walerstadt, Consul of Sweden at San Francisco.

SWEDISH CITIZENS PRAISED

Mayor Cryer emphasized the good standing of the Swedish citizens of Los Angeles while Henry M. Robinson spoke of the desire of Southern California to learn the viewpoint of other countries of the world and Sweden in particular.

The banquet was but one of the welcomes extended to Their Royal Highnesses yesterday. In addition to the great throng which greeted them at the Shrine Auditorium in the morning, the royal couple were entertained more privately in the afternoon by Prince Erik and Princess Louise of Denmark, now residents here. A luncheon and garden party were given by Prince Erik and Princess Louise.

The largest theater in the world, the Shrine Auditorium, was too small by thousands of seats to accommodate those who sought to attend the public function at which the Crown Prince and Crown Princess were presented to the city, showered with "valkommen" and "wassail" and presented with gifts of value. Thousands lined the streets to see the distinguished visitors call on city officials at the new Public Library and be accepted as guests of the municipality.

It was estimated that 15,000 persons filled the auditorium, sought impossible entrance and filled the streets near the huge hall when the royal pair arrived there at 11 a.m. Dr. Robert A. Millikan, scientist, winner of one of the Nobel prizes, delivered the address of welcome to which the Crown Prince responded and then addressed the great audience in the Swedish tongue.

"We welcome you to Los Angeles," Dr. Millikan said, "because we here on the shores of the Pacific represent what is presumably the end of a great historic movement which your forefathers began, for was it not the Norsemen who first listened to the voice of the siren singing 'Go West'? Was it not the Norsemen who started the trek toward the West of the nations of Northern Europe which we have just now ended? In fact the racial stock which has done the trekking is now piled up against the shores of the Pacific here in Southern California in greater con-

PRINCE HANGS HAT ON JINX

Jinxes don't mean a thing to Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise. There were exactly thirteen persons in the royal box at the Shrine Auditorium, where the distinguished visitors were tendered a reception by citizens. Not a thing happened to mar a perfect program. The chair in which the Crown Prince was to sit was a massive affair, throne-like and with a high back. Right on top of it, Sweden's future King nonchalantly parked his bluish fedora and the royal bonnet hung there from the high back's post throughout the formal function.

City Does Itself Proud and Enjoys Privilege of Entertaining

BY ALMA WHITAKER

I think we like entertaining royalty. We really rose to the occasion rather well last night at the Biltmore banquet.

And it was sumptuously interesting from the moment the long impressive line of policemen marched down peacock alley to form a royal guard and await the coming of Princes and Princesses who, by the way, returned from their afternoon's sight-seeing with the banquet hour nigh upon them, to the evident anxiety of Mr. Charles A. Cook, who had undertaken to marshal them to their rooms. But they dressed in an incredibly short space of time and entered the banquet hall promptly on the dot.

LARGEST FLAG OF SWEDEN WAVES

Giant Banner Displayed at Store as Tribute to Royal Swedish guests

One of the features of Los Angeles' decorations in honor of the visit of Crown Prince Gustavus and Princess Louise is what is to declared to be the largest Swedish flag in the world. The flag, which was brought to this city for the occasion, is forty feet long and sixty feet wide.

It hangs from the seventh floor to the ledge of the street floor on the Broadway side of Bullock's Department Store. The flag weighs more than 100 pounds.

BONDS THAT TIE NATIONS POINTED OUT

Ancient bonds and strong, as well as more recent ones of altruistic nature, tie together the peoples of the land of Norsemen and the land of Americans, Dr. Robert A. Millikan, scientist, declared yesterday in an address welcoming Crown Prince Gustavus Adolphus and Crown Princess Louise to Los Angeles. Addressing the royal visitors, Dr. Millikan said:

"We, citizens of Los Angeles, welcome you to our midst, first, because we are your kin, for whether we come, as many of us do, directly from the land of the Norsemen, or whether we are the more distant product of those Norse influences which were poured in such abundance into the mold when the English race was formed, in any case we represent largely the same general racial stock. We are, in fact, your cousins.

"Again, we welcome you to Los Angeles because we here on the shores of the Pacific, represent what is presumably the end of a great historic movement which your forefathers began, for was it not the Norsemen who first listened to the voice of the siren singing 'Go West, young man, go West?' Was it not the Norsemen who started the trek toward the West of the nations of Northern Europe which we have just now ended? CATHOLICS' RETREAT TO OPEN TODAY

Twenty-five Angelenos Among Laymen Leaving for Sierra Madre

More than a score of Catholic laymen left Los Angeles last night for Sierra Madre to take part in the third annual retreat for laymen, exercises of which begin this morning and continue until Sunday afternoon. Thirty-five will participate in the retreat, according to M. W. Purcell, president of the Catholic Laymen's Retreat League, twenty-five of this number being from Los Angeles, five from Santa Barbara, others from Long Beach and one or two from other Southland cities.

This year's retreat, while the third annual for this diocese, will be the first to be conducted by the Passionist Fathers, brought here more than a year ago by Bishop J. J. Cantwell of the diocese of Los Angeles and San Diego for the purpose of establishing a retreat home and monastery at Sierra Madre. Bishop Cantwell appointed the Passionist Fathers to conduct laymen's retreats in this diocese.

The grounds of Monte Olive, obtained by the Passionist Fathers for the site of the retreat home and monastery, have been extensively developed and will be the place of this year's exercises. The exercises proper begin this morning. The retreat will be conducted by Reverend Father Ignatius, C.P., and Bishop Cantwell will deliver his usual address during the retreat.

Those going from here assembled at 5:30 p.m. yesterday at St. Vibiana's Cathedral, proceeding to Sierra Madre in automobiles.

The movement has been very successful in this diocese, according to Mr. Purcell, who stated retreats will be conducted monthly and ultimately weekly, over the week-ends, as soon as it can be arranged.

SEEKS BABY HE HAS NEVER SEEN

Young Father Starts Quest With Court Order

Refused Access to Child in Hospital, He Charges

Infant Reported Given to Unknown Woman

Armed with a "try-and-get-it" order, signed by Presiding Judge Stephens of the Superior Court, Donald L. Roberts set forth yesterday to seek his infant son, whom he has never seen and who, although less than 1 month of age, has already become the subject of more litigation than most people get into in a lifetime.

Roberts told Judge Stephens an extraordinary story. Although a husband and father, he is less than 21 years of age, and had to appear with his father, E. L. Roberts, as guardian ad litem.

June 29, last, he said, subsequent to a separation between himself and his young wife, Elsie O. Roberts, she gave birth to a son. He hurried to the hospital as soon as he heard about this and asked to see his wife and the baby. Permission was refused him, he charged. So he filed a suit for custody of the child, obtained a temporary order pending trial and tried again to see the baby, but with no more success than before, because, by this time both mother and baby were gone from the hospital.

WOMAN TAKES CHILD

Investigation disclosed, he said, that almost immediately after the baby's birth a well-dressed woman had come to take him away for adoption, with the consent of his wife and her parents, John Daniels and Bessie Daniels. A physician from the hospital took the stand and corroborated this statement. Then, the physician testified, the hospital authorities, on reviewing the records in the case, found that certain regulations governing the taking of children out of the institution for adoption had not been complied with. So the woman who had taken the baby was ordered to bring him back, which she did, turning the child over to its mother.

By that time the mother was ready to leave the hospital. There is little red tape involved in a mother taking her own baby out, and the

IT HAS finally happened.

One of these pestiferous low-flying airplanes has flopped down into a crowd and killed two little children on a Venice beach. It is said in explanation that it was forced to land because of engine trouble.

Whatever the facts in this case, there is a certain type of flyer who never considers that he is doing his stuff unless he is shooting off. Every football crowd, every auto-race crowd—not to speak of about every large scene in the films—is made miserable by the infernal clatter overhead.

Inasmuch as some of these flyers seem to lack every instinct of good taste and politeness, the police should take a hand.

"RED" GRANGE

"Red" Grange seems to be making an alarmed and frantic struggle against going down into a gory sea of oblivion.

The fact that he is going back to the ice wagon at Wheaton suggests that "Red's" fame is seriously in need of adrenalin—or artificial respiration or something.

His co-artist, Gene Tunney, the prize fighter, says that "Red" was a flop as a film actor, and intimates that his $300,000 fortune was conversational money.

SPOILING GOOD SPORT

However much or however little he got, it was too much. Grange did a lot of harm to one of the finest of all sports. He has immeasurably cheapened football and given it into the hands of hot-air "promoters."

ADDRESS OF PRINCE GIVEN AS CHAMBER DINNER GUEST

Now, if I were to qualify the satisfaction of having the opportunity to meet you, members of the Los Angeles Chamber of Commerce, I should say that apart from the pleasure of making your personal acquaintance, what is occupying my mind on an occasion like this is the importance which nowadays international commercial relations, the sound development of the exchange of goods between different countries has upon the development of good relations in general between the nations.

I need not point out to you, who know the ways of business much better than I do, how interdependent we all are, all countries alike, of the best possibly organized interchange of goods within as well as between nations. We have lately had a terrible demonstration of what it means when that financial and commercial machinery, of which our civilization is justly so proud, is violently interrupted all the world over and how long time is wanted to set it right again. We still suffer from that catastrophe and we will, I am sure, all of us do all that is in our power to prevent its repetition.

SWEDEN'S FIELD

As the commercial and financial world in its own interest will do its utmost to foster and maintain good relations between the nations and will do that by knitting closer the net of commercial relations, the chambers of commerce as points of concentration for that world have a very important mission to fulfill. For that reason I feel particular satisfaction in being with you. I see in the way you have received us a token of your interest in our country, a sign of your wish to maintain and a hope of your co-operation in further developing commercial and other relations with us. It is unnecessary for me to talk to you about the extraordinary and rapid development of the commercial activity in this country. The fact that the United States of America plays a leading part in commerce all

PLANE TRAGEDY TO GRAND JURY

Action to be Asked as Result of Report by Police

Inquest in Children's Deaths Set for Today at Venice

All facts surrounding the deaths of Arthur Napier and Letitia Norcott, each only 13 years of age, who were killed by an airplane on the beach at Venice Wednesday, will be laid before the grand jury, Assistant Chief of Detectives Bean stated yesterday. The decision followed a long report on the accident which placed a measure of responsibility for the deaths of the little girls on Lieut. B. Crossan, pilot of the plane. Capt. Bean declared that he has signed a complaint charging Crossan with manslaughter, but that after a lengthy conference with Dep. District Attorney Davis it was decided to ask immediate action from the grand jury. Crossan, who, it is said to have made a forced landing at almost the same spot two months ago, was taken from the Police Station to the City Prosecutor's office and is being held on a charge of manslaughter.

INQUEST THIS AFTERNOON

An inquest will be held this afternoon at Venice, when evidence will be presented by Venice officers and Inspector Lieutenant Oscar Bayer, Long Beach aviation officer who

KEETCH REPLIES TO SHULER

Judge Issues Statement on Grand Jury's Action in McPherson Case as Pastor Questions Him

Asserting "there is neither room nor occasion for misunderstanding," Superior Judge Keetch last night issued a reply to a letter sent to him by the Rev. B. P. Shuler, pastor of the Trinity Methodist Church, in which he was invited by Shuler to answer a series of questions bearing on the investigation made by the county grand jury into the disappearance of Aimee Semple McPherson, pastor of Angelus Temple.

Judge Keetch issued a written statement setting forth his views following a conference of nearly three hours with three other judges and several attorneys, who informally represented the Bar Association. The conference, attended by Presiding Judge Chapman, and Judges Keetch, Craig and Valentine and Attorneys Joseph C. Burrow and Allen Ashburn, was conducted behind closed doors in the Judge's chambers.

COMMENT REFUSED

Judge Keetch refused comment as to the grand jury discussion during the conference or make any statement, as Judge Keetch's written statement was all that was to be said.

"As for letter to the Judge, Mr. Shuler has issued a mass meeting to be addressed at the church tonight, there will be a formal protest against the suppression of evidence that has been produced before that body." The pastor invited Judge Keetch to attend the meeting where, he said, he would have the privilege of taking the stand to answer the questions of Judge Keetch would put to him. Judge Keetch would not say whether he will accept the invitation. Keetch received a similar invitation yesterday declined to comment or to say whether he plans to attend the mass meeting.

Judge Keetch's statement follows:

"Rev. B. P. Shuler, in his communication to the newspapers, has fallen into a not uncommon error regarding the functions of a grand jury. The grand jury is an ancient institution for the investigation of alleged or suspected crimes. Its sole duty in investigating crime is to consider evidence in secret and report by indictment or no idictment. It is not its purpose to give information to the public, or to influence public opinion, regarding unsolved questions, however interesting or important. Serious consideration will convince anyone that that power vested in such a tribunal would be a dangerous one and most apt to be abused.

"The grand jury and its members are prohibited by law from reporting or divulging any of the testimony adduced before them, or their belief or disbelief therein. The hearing is not for that purpose. The jurors cannot attempt to decide controversial questions for the public. The McPherson case was and is no exception.

LAW FOLLOWED

"The grand jury in the McPherson case decided that no sufficient evidence had been presented to it upon which it could find that a crime had been committed. Having decided that,

DISSENSION OF PASTORS CONDEMNED

Palisades Forum Speaker Says They Must Agree to Aid World Peace Cause

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

SANTA MONICA, July 22.—"I am disgusted with the preachers of today who condemn the politicians of the world for not getting together around a common table to discuss the harmonizing of world affairs, when they—the preachers—cannot get together around a common board to discuss the harmonizing of denominations," declared Dr. Walter W. Van Kirk of New York, leader of public forums, who is conducting the free, public forum this week at the Pacific Palisades fifth annual six weeks' assembly, the 5th inst. to August 15.

The general theme for the week: "The Churches and World Peace" resulted in lively and interesting discussion participated in by preachers and laymen from many communities.

"The only church that has any standing in Europe today," declared Dr. Van Kirk in yesterday's discussions," "is the Quaker Church, and we must Quakerize the churches of Jesus Christ in America if we are to make any progress in bringing about a warless world. There is a spirit among the young men of today that is going to put an end to this matter of denominationalism. It will be necessary for the churches to bury their own differences before they can talk peace effectively."

A feature of today's program was the address at 2:30 o'clock this afternoon by Dr. J. Duncan Spaeth of Princeton University on the subject, "Roosevelt and Wilson; Nationalism

CORDIAL GREETING

Dr. Millikan welcomed the guests also for other reasons "especially because the Swedish people through the early establishment of the Swedish-American Foundation were the first to express a desire for an interchange of ideas and cultures and sympathies between our new country and the older civilizations of Europe and the first to provide a means for its attainment."

A welcome to the Crown Prince as "brother" was presented by Perry W. Weidner on behalf of Los Angeles Masons. He asked the greetings of Los Angeles Masons be carried back to their brothers in Sweden and told of the place the Crown Prince's family has held in the order. On behalf of the local order, Mr. Weidner presented the Crown Prince, who has achieved distinction as an archeologist, with a mounted specimen of a section of the backbone of the prehistoric giant sloth taken from the La Brea pits here and in which His Highness has evinced a keen interest.

William R. Hervey welcomed the Crown Princess and presented her with a magnificent basket of giant dahlias and other California flowers.

Miss Fredrika Monten presented the royal pair with a bust of Lincoln, done by Edstrom, local Swedish sculptor, with such grace that the Crown Prince made special comment, in his subsequent address, concerning the young miss's deportment and eloquence. The bust is the gift of local Swedish-Americans.

Their Highnesses took great delight and the Crown Prince made special commendation of folk dances presented by a group of Swedish-American children in Swedish costume, resplendent with black and gold, green and blue, red and yellow. The children were of the Order of Vasa, a Swedish organization. A band of United Swedish singers of America, led by Erik D. Ytterberg, provided male vocal music. Mrs. Lalla Sandsted-Hicks rendered two song selections with Mrs. Cameron Stuart accompanying her. The Golden West Commandery Band, comprised of business men and Masons, under direction of S. R. Perine, provided instrumental music for the event. Rev. Philip Andreen read the invocation.

Crown Prince Adolphus was presented to the audience by Swedish Vice-Consul William A. Monten, to whom His Highness paid high compliment for assistance in arranging for the pleasure of the royal party and contact with Los Angeles citizens.

The blessings of God were invoked on the royal party by a resolution from the Los Angeles Church Federation, presented to the Crown Prince by the organization through Rev. Edwin P. Ryland. The resolution greeted the Crown Prince as a man devoted to the peace and good-will ideals of Jesus Christ.

APPLAUSE SOUNDS

"First, we wish to extend to you and through you to all the citizens our very heartfelt thanks for the beautiful welcome that this big city has provided for us," the Crown Prince said. He was received amid applause by the great throng, which rose to its feet in respect.

The Crown Prince referred to the Swedish and American national colors decorating the streets so profusely and saying they made him feel "quite at home," he added:

"To see the Swedish and American flags flying side by side is a beautiful symbol of the understanding and sympathy that have existed between our countries for 150 years, since the Declaration of Independence in America."

Replying to Dr. Millikan's tribute to the Swedish nation, the Crown Prince said he is proud of the part Swedish people have had in developing America and of the part they are playing "in the effort to get the people of the world on a new basis of universal understanding and good will."

"We in Sweden look to you," the Crown Prince said to Dr. Millikan, "as one of the pioneers in science, and I pay my country's homage to your wonderful contribution to scientific knowledge."

FITTING CLIMAX

His Highness made many declarations of appreciation of the reception accorded him here and regretted he could not extend personal and specific thanks to each "because they are so many."

"This visit to California," he said, "is a fitting conclusion to our visit to the United States.

"Our journey here has been rich in useful and pleasant experiences."

Speaking in Swedish, the Crown Prince expressed his pleasure at meeting so many persons of Swedish descent in this country.

"I have met many Swedes who are among the leaders of their respective communities and I have also met among them representatives of all other classes that make up American society," he said. "I have been particularly impressed with the prosperity that seems to have attended the efforts of the Swedes in America and I may say that the mother country is proud of them.

LOYAL TO HOMELAND

"I have found that while the men and women of Swedish blood here are entirely loyal to the country of their adoption, they still retain loving memories of the land of their forbears. I have discovered the impress of Swedish culture and tradition in many phases of American life, especially in those sections of the country where there is a considerable Swedish population. Even in this earthly paradise of California I find a large number who recall their Swedish origin with pride. Even here, on a coast facing another world, they continue to maintain a soft spot in their hearts for Old Sweden."

In his Swedish address, the Crown Prince also spoke briefly of his impressions of this country, referring especially to its immensity and the grandeur of the western scenery. 'After meeting and becoming acquainted with Americans, I can readily understand how America has attained the present high position she occupies in the family of today," he declared.

Referring to his own country, the Prince told of the progress being made by Sweden, particularly along industrial lines and in the development of that country's great natural resources. "Our country is also making marked progress along the lines of social and educational development, and I believe that in these lines Sweden ranks among the leading nations of the world."

At the conclusion of the meeting at the Shrine Auditorium the royalties and their party drove to the Swedish Lutheran Church at Fourteenth and Burlington streets, where they were greeted by the pastor and a number of prominent Swedish citizens. The reception lasted only about a quarter of an hour and was entirely informal. While greetings were exchanged, an organ solo was rendered by A. C. Anderson, the church organist.

VISITS PRINCE'S RANCH

The half-dozen automobiles carrying the royal guests and those accompanying them, then departed for the poultry ranch home of Prince Erik near Arcadia, where lunch was served. Prince Gustaf displayed great interest in the establishment of the member of the Danish royal family who has forsaken court circles to raise chickens in sunny California.

Prince Erik has a domain of eight acres, where he keeps nearly 2000 white leghorn hens. He told his royal guests about the pleasures of ranch life. Prince Erik is in the poultry business solely for the purpose of egg production and has a contract with a well-known produce firm to purchase all the eggs produced on the ranch. He hopes eventually to extend his plant materially.

The party left the home of Prince Erik about 4 o'clock and motored to the Midwick Country Club, where there was another brief reception given by Henry M. Robinson, after which the party drove to the home of Henry E. Huntington to prepare for the banquet at the Biltmore.

The Crown Prince and Princess, upon reaching the Biltmore later than expected, granted a few minutes to newspaper men before departing for the banquet.

SURPRISED BY CITY

Asked concerning his strongest impression of Los Angeles, he said it is the size of the city, that he had not expected to find it so large.

"In Sweden," he stated, "the name of Los Angeles conjures up two things: first, Hollywood and motion-pictures; second, the fruit-growing industry."

He and the Crown Princess are eagerly looking forward to their visit to motion-picture studios today. The Crown Prince said he is keenly interested in seeing the prehistoric remains at the museum in Exposition Park.

At the outset of the interview, the Crown Prince urged the newspaper men to feel at ease in addressing him. It would be all right to call him anything, he said.

In Sweden, he said, he never granted interviews, but now he is following the custom of the country he is in. "We've grown accustomed to being photographed," he said, as he and the Crown Princess were "shot" by the camera men.

He was asked jestingly if real estate men yet had tried to sell him anything here. He replied in the negative.

The royal party arrived in the city about 10 a.m. from the Pasadena home of Mr. Robinson, whose house guests Their Highnesses were. The royal party went directly to the Public Library, where it formally greeted Mayor Cryer, and then was taken for a tour of the new building.

"It is such a city library as any city in the country might well be proud of," the Crown Prince said.

His Highness stepped aside from the party on its way through the reading-rooms to grasp the hand and to speak a moment to a gray-haired man studying a Bible and a number of biblical works. The man is William D. Reaugh of the Bible Institute, it was learned. He was quite astonished at the unsought distinction accorded to him.

In the party at the library were Mrs. Cryer, Miss Elisabeth Pepper, H. H. Kinney, Mr. and Mrs. Boyle Workman, Councilmen Criswell, Shaw, Barnes and Zahn, Mrs. Zahn, Father Conaty of the Library Board, Mrs. J. Wells Smith, Mr. Robinson, Mrs. W. F. Whittsett, Mrs. William A. Monten and other persons of prominence.

The Prince, accompanied by his retinue, also found time to pay a brief official visit to Gov. Richardson at the State Offices in the Sun Finance Building. The visit was a return courtesy of the California executive's thoughtfulness in welcoming the Prince on his arrival at Riverside Wednesday.

At 10 a.m. today the Crown Prince, Crown Princess and others of the royal party will leave Pasadena for the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios, Culver City, where they will see motion-picture casts at work amid rain, storm and miscellaneous scenes. They will have lunch there and then will visit Famous Players and Warner Brothers studios. The party will go to La Brea asphalt pits, where bones of so many prehistoric animals have been found.

Tonight the party will visit Hollywood Bowl for the concert. Sir Henry Wood is guest conductor there. Anna Q. Nilsson, Greta Garbo and Einar Hanson, Swedish actresses, will welcome the royal party on behalf of the motion-picture folk of Hollywood.

In the royal party will be Prince and Princess Erik of Denmark, Henry E. Huntington, Mr. and Mrs. John McCormack and daughter, Gwendolyn, Lady Ravensdale, who is daughter of the late Lord Curzon; Mr. and Mrs. Henry M. Robinson, Consul and Mrs. Wallerstedt of San Francisco, Vice-Consul and Mrs. Monten and their daughter, Fredrika, Mr. and Mrs. Arthur S. Bent, Mrs. Allan C. Balch, Mrs. Leiland Atherton Irish and members of the royal visitors' suite.

The distinguished visitors will leave the city tomorrow evening.

FURTHER FETING

Immediately on leaving the reception at the Shrine Auditorium, the royal party went to the Swedish Lutheran Church, Burlington avenue and Fourteenth street. The Crown Prince and Crown Princess stepped inside the church for a few minutes and met the pastor, Rev. Herman Olson and Mrs. Olson. A. C. Anderson gave an organ recital while the party was there.

From the church the party went to the Arcadia chicken ranch of Prince Erik of Denmark, where that distant cousin of the royal visitor operates an eight-acre chicken establishment. Their Highnesses had lunch at the place and with great interest looked over the 1800 leghorn fowl in the Dane's park.

Later the party went to the Midwick Country Club, where Prince Erik entertained about 100 persons at a garden party and tea for the distinguished guests.

REALLY IT'S TASK TO BE A PRINCESS

Just Think How Often She Has to Answer Same Old Questions—Brilliantly

BY CONSTANCE CHANDLER

It must be the world's worst ordeal to be a Crown Princess on a tour of the great democracy of America, where the public is nearly breaking its collective neck trying to get a glimpse of, or shake hands with, or entertain her Royal Highness. It is no wonder that she cannot be further annoyed with dispensing interviews at every turn.

Of course, it would be so much more satisfactory to have a nice heart-to-heart talk with her and find out what she really thinks of her American cousins—or whatever it is that we are. You know all of those frivolous but vastly important things that we can expound about for hours—our favorite brand of cigarettes, why we do or do not prefer bobbed hair, our pet shops where "really, my dear, you can get exactly the same things that you find in Paris," the unreasonable demands of servants these days, what the baby is allowed to eat now, the common failings of most husbands (possibly Princes included) and so on ad infinitum.

Now, yesterday afternoon at a tea party on the lawn of the Midwick Country Club, at which Prince Erik and his wife of Arcadia were host and hostess to our royal visitors, Her Royal Highness Princess Louise of Sweden wasn't as awesome as the tile sounds, but just a charming woman graciously receiving the guests who had been bidden to meet her. Had one been able to reach her in the capacity of an interviewer it is certain that she would have been only too happy to chat over those silly, inconsequential matters like any other woman.

But just imagine how she must have been besieged ever since she landed upon our shores by ponderous questions to which she must give a brilliant reply—for publication. How many times do you suppose she has been asked, "How do you like America?" and "Has your journey tired you out?" It must be an appalling number, and she couldn't very well be blamed if she fainted away every time she realized that some of the old bromides were about to be hurled at her.

Yes, she is really a very sensible Princess to desire to attend a garden party without the feeling that her every utterance must be considered for publication.

ROYAL VISITORS DINNER GUESTS

rious under the unusual honor. She was garbed in soft pink with pearls, and by the time she reached her seat we had all noted that she possesses quite lovely arms and shoulders, that a motion-picture queen might well envy. She has a patrician nose and unbobbed hair, and a lovely skin to set off pearls.

Later we were to discover that, although the Prince neither smokes nor drinks, his Princess likes her cigarette. She puffs it daintily, and, with a quick little breath, sends the smoke from out that patrician nose, to watch it languidly curl above her head.

Also the Princess is left-handed, both for the cigarette and for partaking her food. I think she enjoyed her dinner. Although her face is very serious in repose, it lights up with a keen and, I am sure, witty intelligence when she is animated and smiles.

Prince Erik of Denmark, on the other hand, had the Lady-in-Waiting on his left—and oh, she was an animated listener, too. We were fascinated with Prince Erik. He typified romance. He looks like a Ouida hero, bronzed, tall, insouciant, and with an irrepressible sense of humor. Of royal blood, yet preferring a California chicken ranch with his little Canadian princess—but able to amusedly step back into royal spheres for a night. We could imagine him going home to the chicken ranch, after a taste of the old life and perchance murmuring, "I'll bet my squabs could beat those they served us this evening."

Prince Erik's princess wore blue and silver and is a vivid brunette. I am sure Henry M. Robinson's best bon mots were not wasted upon her.

A young lady who will live on this day for the rest of her life was Ellen Balinger, Arthur Bent's daughter. She sat between the Crown Prince and Henry Robinson.

Mrs. Boyle Workman had a most satisfactory time of it, seated between two most impressive gentlemen, bristling with savoire faire—the Hon. Nils de Rudeback, Marshal of H. R. H. Court, who wore a black cravat beneath his white dress tie, which concluded in the most perfect butterfly bow, and whose decorations, stars and ribbons looked properly courtierish; and the Hon. Carl E. Wallerstadt, Swedish Consul to San Francisco. Boyle Workman and Mayor Cryer were the only two men at the guest table in black ties, by the way, and Mr. Workman was down amongst the mere admirals and colonels, with nary a royal lady to dazzle with his wit. And Mayor Cryer, very preoccupied with his speech to come, did not monopolize the Lady-in-Waiting on his right to any greedy extent—even if he could have competed against Prince Erik.

Mrs. Cryer was comfortably ensconced near Lord Astor and his son and seemed to be doing very nicely, thank you.

A person whose intense satisfaction could not be ignored was the waiter, who for this occasion, had become the Prince's royal butler. Triumph lurked in every line of him. No soup was dripped, no crumb was dropped, while he stood guard. And I can't believe the Prince missed his own personal royal butler back home.

For the rest, we, who formed the awed and impressed audience for this royal function, were all tricked out in our very best. Spanish shawls and bobbed-haired tiaras were the rule. Jewels had been brought out from vaults. And masculine dress suits were never worn with more cautious discretion. Society leaders, club presidents, bishops' and bankers' wives made their superlative best royal showing. And all the women wished they were sitting next to Prince Erik, and all the men noted Princess Louise's lovely arms and shoulders—and the orchestra played everything from classical high-brow to jolly jazz. Perhaps it was appropriate that the orchestra should play "Romance" just before the speeches began. . .

"We welcome you to Los Angeles because the Swedish people through the early establishment of the Swedish-American foundation were the first to express a desire for an interchange of ideas and cultures and sympathies between our new country and the older civilizations of Europe, and the first to provide a means for its attainment. In the carrying out of this great international enterprise your universities already have sent a half dozen of your ablest countrymen to bring their knowledge to us here in Southern California and to take back a knowledge of our conditions to your land, and reciprocally they have received our Southern California scientists and scholars in Sweden and given them a royal welcome.

"We welcome you to Los Angeles because your country has been one of the first to take steps to look beyond the bounds of nationalism, and through the establishment of the Nobel awards, to stimulate the world without regard to racial or national lines, to high endeavor for the good of all humanity.

"We welcome you, finally, to Los Angeles because your nation has been since the war a leader in the effort to get this world upon a new basis of international understanding and good will, an effort to which your presence in Los Angeles this week is giving a mighty stimulus.

"We in Los Angeles are very happy, and very proud this week to cry to you 'Wassail!'"

Approval Given Plans Widening Hoover Street

The engineering plans and new street lines for the opening of Hoover street across the city as a wide traffic artery were approved by the City Council yesterday on recommendation of the Council's Street Opening and Widening Committee. This is a major traffic improvement of great importance and for which plans have been in course of preparation for many months.

The estimated cost of the Hoover-street project is $3,448,300 toward which $651,713 will be contributed from the major traffic bond fund. The tentative map of the assessment district for the Hoover-street improvement also was approved.

MRS. BREWSTER ASKS BALM

Mrs. Eleanor V. V. Brewster filed suit yesterday in Superior Court, to enforce the $200,000 judgment she obtained in the New York courts last spring against Corliss Palmer, motion-picture actress, and asserted thief of the affections of Eugene Brewster, millionaire publisher. The amount claimed has now grown to $200,385, according to the paper left with the County Clerk by Attorney Charles B. Hazlehurst, who represents Mrs. Brewster.

The suit recites that the New York Supreme Court (which corresponds roughly with the Superior Court here) granted her a judgment against Miss Palmer, on a suit for alienation, on March 22, last, and that Miss Palmer has paid no part of the amount. A copy of the complaint in the original suit, filed with the complaint here, recites that the Brewsters were married in Stamford, Ct., in 1916 and lived happily together until December, 1920, but that in October, 1920, Miss Palmer began a campaign to capture Brewster which finally resulted in success and that Brewster established the charmer in an estate at Morristown, N. J.

RESIDES IN HOLLYWOOD

Miss Palmer was known for a time in the pictures as Violet Buckingham, but recently readopted Corliss Palmer as her screen name. She has been in Hollywood several years. Though she put in an answer to Mrs. Brewster's suit, she did not appear to defend it and Mrs. Brewster was granted the full amount sued for. Brewster is also in Hollywood most of the time.

The suit filed yesterday is not Mrs. Brewster's first effort to collect her judgment, as she attached furs in storage and other personal property of Miss Palmer in New York soon after judgment was given. The value of this property was given as several thousand dollars.

Mrs. Brewster was the only witness when the suit was tried. She told of a "beauty contest" her husband conducted in his film magazines, which Miss Palmer, a cigar-store beauty, won, and said he took her into their home at Roslyn, L. I., as a protegee.

COMBED HIS HAIR

"After my baby was born," she testified, "Mr. Brewster suggested we go south on a second honeymoon, but Miss Palmer ridiculed the plan and finally I went alone. When I returned I found Miss Palmer still there. That evening Mr. Brewster told me he had become used to solitary life and that I was to occupy my own part of the house with the baby. I was astonished to see Miss Palmer comb my husband's hair and pat it down affectionately."

Some months ago Brewster told a reporter he and Miss Palmer had been engaged for six years, but that Mrs. Brewster kept putting obstacles in the way of their marriage. At one time Brewster talked of moving his film publications here.

Last May Brewster admitted he had directed the editors of his magazines to favor the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studio which had given Miss Palmer contracts.

"She is an exceptional beauty and possesses talent," he said. "All she needs is the opportunity. I was grateful to them for giving her her chance."

KEETCH REPLIES TO BOB SHULER

its full duty was accomplished. It was not permitted by law to go further. I so advised the jury. I followed the law explicitly. There is neither room nor occasion for misunderstanding.

[Signed] "ARTHUR KEETCH."

The pastor's nine questions referred to directions given the grand jury by Judge Keetch that it make no report of its investigation in the McPherson case, inquired whether two other judges had anything to do with the "policy of silence" and wound up by inquiring if the two officials would favor an impartial inquiry into the whole Angelus Temple movement.

Judge Keetch and Dist.-Atty. Keyes were invited by Mr. Shuler to answer a set of questions propounded by the minister at Sunday's mass meeting. Keyes was asked to answer one question in addition to the set sent to Judge Keetch.

This additional question was: "I have noted your statement through the press that a full and fair investigation was to be had and a complete report of the findings given the public. When did you change your mind and why?"

The other questions which Mr. Shuler asks the two officials to answer, follow:

(1.) Is there any law to prohibit the grand jury from making a full and complete report of its actual findings in a case of such tremendous import as that now before the people of Southern California? Is there a law differentiating between a brief report and a comprehensive report?

(2.) Was there any attempt made within your knowledge to prevent a stenographic report of the proceedings before the grand jury?

(3.) Now that such a report has been made by the order of the grand jury itself, is there any law to prevent the public from having access to it?

(4.) Did either Judge Hardy or Judge Gates or both appeal to you or advise with you in the matter of your decision to prevent a comprehensive report by the grand jury?

(5.) Do you agree with the suppression of the report of Arizona officials, which report is supposed to have been sent to Mr. Cline by the Chief of Police of Douglas with the understanding that he could publish it at his discretion?

(6.) Do you feel that the interests of true Christianity can be best served by leaving this matter where the "policy of silence" which you have enforced by your ruling leaves it?

(7.) Do you realize that there are thousands in this city who believe that the political element has entered largely into this entire "investigation?"

(8.) Would you be favorable to the appointment of an unbiased commission to go thoroughly into all activities of the Angelus Temple movement, sifting its healing claims, its financial program, the relation of the temple to the divorce evil, its relation to insanity in Southern California, as well as the claims of its leader that have led to the recent sensational "investigations" now officially pronounced "closed" by your grand jury?

I hope you will do me the favor of giving me a reply to this communication, which will be sent by special delivery messenger to you personally so as to insure its personal attention by you.

(Signed) BOB SHULER

The evangelist's attorneys, Arthur L. Veitch, Leonard Hamner and Roland Rich Woolley yesterday issued a statement in which they declared they have in their possession four affidavits offsetting the testimony given before the county grand jury by Mrs. Louise Martin, a member of the temple, concerning the receipt by Mrs. Minnie Kennedy, mother of the pastor, of a $500,000 ransom letter.

In her testimony Mrs. Martin was reported to have said that she heard Mrs. Kennedy speak of receiving the ransom letter on Sunday, June 20, when memorial services for Mrs. McPherson were conducted, at which a large sum of money and pledges were collected for the Bible school building. Mrs. Kennedy asserts the ransom letter did not reach her until June 22, the day before her daughter reappeared in Agua Prieta, Mex., and told her story of being abducted.

According to postal records, the letter was delivered at the temple by special delivery messenger on June 19, the day before the memorial services. The envelope contained a lock of hair and answers to several questions which Mrs. Kennedy previously had propounded to satisfy herself her daughter was in the hands of kidnapers.

According to the attorneys they have affidavits signed by Mrs. J. Moffatt, Mrs. C. L. Willman, Mrs. H. Bropst and Mrs. E. O. Grigsby to the effect they were present at the time and place referred to by Mrs. Martin and that they unite in fixing the date as Tuesday, June 22, last. A stenographic report of the memorial services also shows nothing was said by Mrs. Kennedy concerning the letter, according to the attorneys.

The Times yesterday received from Kenneth G. Ormiston, formerly radio operator at the temple and the mystery man in Mrs. McPherson's disappearance, a three-page letter in which he takes occasion to "pan" the District Attorney's office and "says you will continue to hear from me until my name is omitted from the affair." The letter was dated New York City the 18th inst.

Ormiston fails in the letter to tell of his recent movements or to give any specific dates, places or time or to give an explanation of the mysterious movements of his automobile, the driver of which a number of witnesses have identified as having been Ormiston.

He did deny the purported Calinas identification, asserts a telegram sent to him at Statesville, N. C., was the work of some "poor nut," and declares that "I should think any fair-minded man would begin to think Mrs. McPherson's chance of getting a square deal is pretty slim."

The letter was signed "K. G. Ormiston."

Mrs. McPherson yesterday received a statement from citizens of Douglas, Arizona, who declared that in their opinion no proof has been adduced tending to disprove any of the statements made by her regarding her reappearance there on June 23, last.

Headed by the Mayor, the president of the Chamber of Commerce, the president of the Southern Arizona Traffic Association, the British vice-consul and a number of bankers and well-known business men, the list of signers is considered to be representative.

The statement and the list of signatures follow:

We, the undersigned residents of Douglas, Ariz., who have been greatly interested in the mass of charges and counter-charges regarding the truth of Mrs. Aimee Semple McPherson's story with regard to her abduction and subsequent reappearance in Douglas, believe:

That the statements of Mrs. McPherson with regard to her reappearance here, after an escape from her abductors and her consequent walk into Agua Prieta, Son., Mex., as a consequence of her being forced to flee on foot, are true, so far as we have been able to ascertain;

That there has been no iota of proof adduced here that would in any way tend to disprove any of the statements made by Mrs. McPherson regarding her reappearance, and that as citizens of Douglas, in which city she appeared, and interested in righteousness and truth, we again affirm our belief in the statements she has made."

(Signed):

Following receipt of the statement the evangelist issued another in which she thanked the Arizona citizens for their kindness to her in voluntarily formulating the testimonial.

was specially detailed to the case by Chief of Detectives Cline. Bayer, accompanied by Capt. C. H. Babb, secretary of the National Aeronautical Association, last evening reported to Cline that Pilot Crossan appeared at fault in attempting to land his plane on the beach.

Bayer stated in the report that there is an open lot about 300 yards from the spot where the plane landed and expressed the opinion that Crossan, in view of his statement that he was 1000 feet in the air when his engine went dead, could easily have descended in this lot. Bayer also reported that he had witnesses to testify that Crossan's machine flew low over the heads of many people on the beach for some distance before it landed. The names appended to the report were those of Mack Barton, 727 North Lappelle street; Gene Raneker, 3861 Budlong avenue, and Lula Lewellen, 18½ West Fourteenth street.

Requiem high mass for both girls will be celebrated at St. Paul's Catholic Church at 10 a.m. tomorrow. Preceding the public service there, home services will be conducted for the Kupfer girl at the family residence, 2125 South Crenshaw Boulevard at 9:30 a.m. and for the Normandin girl at the home, 1939 Wellington Road, at the same hour. Rev. Father Thomas Blackwell will officiate at the church services.

The Normandin girl, it was learned yesterday, is a grandniece of Mrs. Secondo Guasti, whose husband is president of the Italian Vineyard Company and vice-president of the Bank of Italy, International Branch.

Venice police are investigating Crossan's statement that the first thing he and his passenger, Alfred Hall, did when they sprang from the ship was to help from under the plane a woman who had been thrown there. Up to a late hour last evening no woman had appeared to report an injury. Crossan's added statement that he was trying desperately to nose out to sea was borne out by the fact the airplane came to a standstill only two feet inshore from the waterline. Crossan's clothing was drenched when he was taken to the Venice station.

The escape from death or serious injury of Jimmy Lyon, 13 years of age, who also was struck by the plane and who was first reported to have suffered a broken neck, is considered miraculous. Yesterday he was able to return to his home at 1138 West Thirty-eight street, suffering apparently only from shock and a few minor bruises.

The double tragedy, which has stirred citizens of Venice deeply, has so aroused the Los Angeles Playground and Recreation Commission that a special committee was appointed yesterday to investigate into the adequacy of existing laws aimed to protect the public from aviation accidents and to suggest to the City Council more drastic ordinances. Commissioner Daniel Beecher, an attorney, is chairman of the committee. Maj. H. R. Carter, supervisor of aquatics, also was assigned to attend the inquest today.

"Complaints are increasingly numerous from patrons of the municipal beaches of the apparently careless and thoughtless tactics of aviators flying over crowds of pleasure seekers," Beecher said last evening. "There has doubtless been criminal negligence in recent efforts of aviators to alarm bathers by low flying."

Cycle Rider Dies in Crash, Companion May Succumb; Three Injured in Auto

The young man is dead and another suffered injuries that are expected to prove fatal as the result of a motorcycle collision between a motorcycle on which the two were riding and a heavy truck last night on Western avenue, near Torrance.

William Almack, 22 years of age, was almost instantly killed when the motorcycle crashed into the heavy truck, while Lawrence Frazier, 23, suffered severe scalp wounds, a broken arm and internal injuries that are believed fatal, at the Orange Hospital in Torrance, where he was taken. Almack suffered a fractured skull. His body was removed to the Myers undertaking parlor in Torrance. Frazier lives in Southgate, but Almack's address is unknown. Almack was killed and Frazier injured when their motorcycle crashed into a truck driven by I. Kitano of Torrance, when they passed an automobile.

Two employees of the office of the Firestone Tire and Rubber Company at 1238 South Grand avenue were injured when the automobile in which they were riding was struck by a street car at Twelfth street and Grand avenue and dragged 150 feet, according to the police report.

Eli Walker, 22, book-keeper living at 850 1-4 West Forty-fifth street, was the most seriously injured. He was thrown through the front of the machine and suffered concussion of the brain, possibly internal injuries and a possible fracture of the right shoulder.

All were attended by Police Surgeons Berry at the Receiving Hospital. Walker and Ring later were removed to the Methodist Hospital.

THE DIFFERENCE

STORM SEWERS

WORKS BOTH WAYS

FALSE ALARM

WANTS BUT LITTLE

A California girl, it is reported, is seeking to marry Harry Thaw. Oh, yes, even California has some girls who are not overly bright.

SINCERE FLATTERY

Frogs love saxophone music, declares an orchestra leader. Guess they must, from the persistence with which they try to imitate it.

JOB SEEKS MEN

"China's Situation Better," announces a headline. Still it isn't yet one of those which can be properly placed under the heading, Situations Wanted.

HIGHER AFTER IT'S HOGGED

GIVING AND TAKING

They say that marriage is a game of give and take. The man with a hunted look adds that that is the reason why the wife takes everything she can get.

FROM MISSOURI

Among dancers the St. Louis is mentioned as a variation of the Charleston. Maybe the theory is that the farther west the wilder they get. Wait for the Butte.

MAY BE WOMAN NOW

We suppose that in the new, modernized, jazzed-up "translations" of Shakespeare from the English of Shakespeare's day Polonius will no longer make any such anachronistic assertions as "The apparel oft proclaims the man."

STEPPING WITHOUT STOPPING

Some of these Charleston devotees should consider the performances of these Bannock and Shoshone braves who danced their sun ritual for three days without stopping. We have frail women who can prance, all right, but about the second day they would be ready for the sexton. It takes a real American Indian to illustrate physical endurance in its extended degrees.

THE PATH TO BANKRUPTCY

Electric interurban and street-car lines in Russia have slumped terribly in service and business since falling under soviet control. There were not very many roads and they were largely owned by companies formed in other countries, but they were operated successfully until the Bolshevists came into the picture. Now the rolling stock is falling apart and there is little method in their direction or control.

THE DOUBLE LIFE

Measured by evidence now attainable a St. Louis man had the problem of double life reduced to an exact science. He had two wives, two homes, two children, two dogs and two cars. One establishment was the exact duplicate of the other save for the fact that there was a difference of four years in the age of the children. The business almost looks as if Lothario had used a blue print in order to perfect the similitude.

THE FARMER

Uncle Sam has been quietly gathering some figures from the farmers of America. According to figures obtained from more than 15,000 different farms the net return for the average farmer last year was $1297. This is more than it has been for a number of years. In 1922 the average financial profit per farm was only $917. With the farmers getting together on their own account and the development of co-operative marketing in various lines of agriculture a still more substantial increase may be expected. The politicians may need the farmers, but the farmers do not need the politicians.

IN DARKEST BRAZIL

A Polish naturalist has rediscovered a colony of his people that has been isolated in the heart of South America for more than fifty years. According to the story, the original adventurers sought freedom and expansion nearly 100 years ago and set up a colony near the headwaters of the little River Doce, in the wild and vast province of Matto Grasso, in Brazil. Far removed from the journeyings of white men the colony has continued until this day, although it is claimed that the last official communication with the home country was had in 1873. There are now said to be 700 or more persons in the colony.

BEACHES FOR THE PEOPLE

Any sound proposal for conservation of the beaches adjacent to Los Angeles and their consecration to the public use should have the utmost consideration. The city and county are now engaged in vast improvement programs involving tremendous expenditures, the full benefits of which will not be enjoyed for years to come. This vision of the future should include miles of ocean shore devoted to playgrounds for the people.

There are definite limits even to the great natural resources and advantages of Southern California, and especially to her beaches. There are still large unsettled acres of land awaiting the development that is certain to come with the State's growth. Mountain and forest retreats offer recreational advantages to a population thrice that now enjoying them. But nature allotted just so much length of beach and there is no means of expanding it.

It seems high time, then, that, as far as possible, these stretches should be acquired for their natural beneficiaries, the people. Private enterprise has not been slow to realize the immense potential value of these lands and is absorbing them as rapidly as possible. Despite the legal rights which ownership confers upon the proprietors of the beaches, it is always a shock to a citizen to learn that he has been deprived of the free right to enjoy the ocean shore and that he must pay for the privilege of parking his family thereon, if, indeed, he is not absolutely fenced off from it.

Certainly the limited stretches of sand will never be less valuable than now. It ought to require no argument that as much of this land as possible should speedily be acquired by the people and dedicated forever to their use.

Many far-sighted communities along the Pacific's shore have already bonded themselves to buy outright the beach areas within their corporate limits and to maintain them in perpetuity for the benefit of their residents and visitors. Others whose officials have not yet perceived the inevitable and inexorable trend of events are jeopardizing their greatest attraction by permitting their beaches to be sold piecemeal to private interests.

There is no surer means for any beach town to commit suicide than for it to permit a condition to come to pass in which the public shall be denied access to the strand. "Going to the beach" is the universal expression for visiting any of our shore cities and it is literally true. The public generally goes there for no other purpose than to bathe and to rest and play in the sand. And any community which denies them that privilege will find itself without visitors and, ultimately, without residents, realty values, business or other assets.

HUMAN PERVERSITY

They do things differently—and to American notions somewhat perversely—in European countries. They get results contrary to the rules of the game.

In Britain a popularly elected government attempts, by reason and persuasion, to induce the British coal miners to work eight hours a day. In Italy an unconstitutional dictator, by a stroke of the pen, decrees a nine-hour working day for Italian labor and prohibits strikes.

Ethically the British government should succeed and the Italian dictator should fail. The legally elected Premier should be venerated and the arbitrary tyrant despised.

Yet British labor answers the persuasive efforts of its popularly elected administration with growls and howls, a prolonged cessation of work and a continued crippling of national industry. Italy responds cheerfully to the harsh command of Mussolini, accepts the added hour of toil, increases production and swells the growing prosperity of the country.

Difference in the temperaments of British and Italian workers will not account for these unexpected results. Prior to the coming of Mussolini the Italian laborer was more rebellious and radical than his British brother. Italian labor unions had seized and sovietized factories and brought Italy to the brink of national bankruptcy and industrial chaos.

Four years ago Italian factories worked only at intervals and strikes were frequent. Today practically every Italian is employed, the people are well fed, saving banks have quadrupled their resources. Idleness and beggary, the rule five years ago, are now the exception.

Last year Italy showed a balance in her budget of $22,000,000 as compared with large deficits in every year since the war. This year a surplus of $180,000,000 is indicated. Exports in 1925 exceeded those of 1924 by $156,000,000. The government-controlled railways of Italy three years ago showed a deficit of $20,000,000. This year they announce a profit of $6,000,000.

The Italian duce is loved by a large majority of the people, capital and labor have both benefited by his autocratic regime. Cold figures give one proof of this and hot enthusiasms another. Mussolini is idolized by the nation.

Fear of the Fascisti may have something to do with Italy's cheerful acceptance of a tyranny that is adding to the comfort and prosperity of the people by gradually shearing away their coverings of personal freedom. A boss who can keep erstwhile empty stomachs well filled is pardoned a multitude of ethical shortcomings. Il Duce may be putting shackles on the limbs of the nation, but he is letting out its waistband several notches.

On the other hand, the benevolent Stanley Baldwin is only tolerated mildly by the majority of his countrymen and is actively hated by the elements he is trying to conciliate. England shows no such results as does Italy. British arms and legs may be free, but the national stomach is unsatisfied. More than 1,000,000 men are unemployed and nearly 1,000,000 are on strike.

England has freedom, doles, an uncensored press, constitutional government, liberty of speech, strikes, unemployment, staggering taxation and a falling barometer. Italy has dictatorship, a full dinner pail, steady employment, no free speech, no independent newspapers, steady progress and fair financial weather.

Under the circumstances the idea of trying to make Europe safe for democracy seems to verge on the fantastic. Americans perhaps fail to realize how entirely material is the European complex. We are a peculiarly idealistic people. They do things differently in Europe.

The Atlantic is a vast ocean that parts two hemispheres, and the width of that parting has nothing to do with gallons of salt water, nautical miles or mountainous billows.

HOOVER POINTS THE WAY

That the blame for lax law enforcement and the consequent reign of crime rests principally upon the shoulders of legislators and jurists and very little upon those of the police is the opinion of Secretary Hoover, expressed at a convention of police chiefs at Chicago. In his speech the Secretary adds his view to that of the National Crime Commission, the California commission for criminal procedure revision and many lawyers and jurists who have already spoken on the subject.

But his opinion carries much weight, because it is that of a man known to think wisely on many subjects, who has an international reputation for disinterested service. He points out how the police are hampered in their work by seeing their best efforts come to naught in a mess of court tangles and fine-spun technicalities, and shows how the just punishment of criminals is deterred by maudlin sentimentality.

He might have gone further and shown that this sentimentality is a direct product of the efforts of sob writers of sensational newspapers, sheets which will print anything, regardless of public welfare, if only it promises to bring a few thousands of circulation.

But this is not a matter for legislative control and, though the Secretary is fully aware of the situation, he was doubtless wise in confining his remarks principally to what may be mended by lawmakers. Such defects as the police have can be cured only by executive action; such defects as newspapers have can be cured by public opinion; but the defects in the laws can only be cured by amending them.

The bench, typified by Chief Justice Taft; the bar, by committees of the American Bar Association; the lay public, typified by Secretary Hoover, have now spoken upon this subject, and their opinion is unanimous. The press is doing its part. It now remains for the legislative bodies to choose the path so clearly pointed out to them and give the people the relief that is so sorely needed.

Specifically, in California, this means the speedy enactment of the report of the commission headed by Maj. W. K. Tuller, providing for swifter, surer and more just punishment for crime.

A DEMOCRATIC ISSUE

With democracy supposedly trembling in the balance in Europe, our own government has been struck a body blow by the query of the young man who wants to know what he should do matrimonially. His request for information as to what the government advocates in the way of ideals for marriage and how large a family it would like him to have is, at last reports, still riding the circuit of official departments.

The young man, it is to be feared, will be a long time waiting for an answer. The size of families in the United States has never been definitely set by act of Congress. It is a matter which department heads will do well to let alone.

Col. Roosevelt had decided ideas on the subject of race suicide, but, if one remembers rightly, he stopped short of demanding a law. The present situation offers an excellent opportunity for the Democrats in a year when they have no other issue. There is nothing to prevent them from making a campaign in favor of four or fourteen offspring and demanding that the Republicans come out in the open and take a stand of their own.

It must be admitted with regret that they handle such matters better abroad. Had such a request come to Mussolini an immediate mandate on the subject would have been forthcoming. Mussolini would have ordered just as many offspring as he thought Italy needed, and woe to the family that fell short of its personal quota.

NOT SO PROPER

Now they claim that Chicago proper has a population exceeding 4,000,000, but, as Chicago isn't proper, this doesn't mean anything.

WHAT'S IN A NAME

A film actor of some prominence is peeved at editors in general and at one in particular because this editor seeks to blame him for the action of a Chicago ballroom in installing slot machines to dispense pink face powder to its male patrons.

The actor protests that a sheik in his native habitat is a real he-man and is at a loss to account for the giving of this appellation to what formerly were called lounge lizards and cake-eaters, with a consequent reaction unfavorable to him. The curious changes of word-meanings involved in the mushroom growth of slang phrases have puzzled many a student (perhaps Jonah's gourd is a better comparison, since slang withers usually as quickly as it grows) and the actor is not likely to get an explanation of the unexplainable. One has to be steeped in a language for more than one generation before one can claim full understanding of it.

One can only refer the actor to Shakespeare, who exclaimed, "What's in a name?" without pausing to declare that there is a good deal. The actor is probably a victim of bad advice when he started his screen career and partly the victim of his series of press agents, who have permitted the public to understand that he is a sort of male Lorelei. Articles which appeared under his name in one of the "confession" magazines, in which whoever wrote them gave advice to the lovelorn did not help any in overcoming this impression.

The point can better be appreciated by recalling that the real name of the actor, Rodolfo Guglielmo, if translated almost literally into plain American would be "Red" Williams, surely a fighting enough moniker to satisfy the editor who thanked God for Five-Yard McCarty. But he did not choose this two-fisted appellation; instead he preferred to parade before the public with a label which, not quite so literally, means "little red valentine."

LITTLE SONGS
By James J. Montague.

I penned a little song of hate
To fill an enemy with fear,
But I admit that up to date
He keeps his customary cheer.
I thought perhaps my spiteful song
Would make him droop and pine away
As he deserves, but I was wrong,
He's growing jollier day by day.

I wrote a little song of joy
To make the troubled world less sad,
Its woes and sorrows to destroy
So it might carol and be glad.
I put my heart and soul and mind
In this most laudable endeavor,
But quite as far as I can find
The world is just as sad as ever.

I wrote a little song which sought
To rouse, encourage and inspire
To make all men do as they ought
And light ambition's glowing fire.
I made my message loud and bold,
It left my seething pen red hot,
But recently I have been told
That men are still a lazy lot.

I'm growing rather callous now,
I guess I must have missed my aim,
No shining laurels crown my brow,
I have not either wealth or fame,
I'm just a disappointed bard
Who has not righted any wrongs,
And I'm convinced it's doggone hard
To run the world with little songs.

Cause of "Rabies" Discovered

LOS ANGELES, July 21.—[To the Editor of The Times:] It is interesting to note that The Times has not become hysterical over the dog question now rocking the political cradle of the City Council.

When the Humane Animal Commission, supported by the taxpayers and appropriations from the Community Chest, cover their territory thoroughly, without secondary cost to people who would humanely turn in strayed, discarded and dead animals, there will be no cause for quadrennial, or thereabout, political dog bouts.

Up in the Yukon they do not believe in rabies. When a dog froths at the mouth, has a fit and trouble in swallowing they call it a worm fit and give proper remedial treatment.

Residents of the Yukon discovered that rabies is a misunderstood malady. During the time in Dawson City, a few years ago, when women and children were ordered by the police to stay indoors and dogs were being shot on all corners by constables appointed for the purpose, an old white man, who had lived with the Indians in the interior of Alaska long before there was a Yukon, appeared in the city and flatly asserted that there had never been a case of rabies in the country.

He declared the dogs that were frothing at the mouth and coughing were suffering from worms, owing to the fact that the winter time had afforded no grass for them and a substitute had not been given them. He challenged Arnold F. George, one of the oldest journalists in the Yukon, to investigate.

He did.

In the first dog opened the bowels were perforated in fifteen places with worms in the peritoneal cavity. In absolutely every one they found severe cases of worms.

It is needless to say that in a few days, as soon as medical attention could be given the dogs, the rabies scare of the Yukon was allayed. Up in the Yukon, where dogs nearly outnumber the population of some villages, the Indians only laugh when you talk about a man dying from dog bites.

International Courtesy

PASADENA, July 15.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Regarding the article in Sunday's issue on Canadian bootlegging you remark justly on the attitude of the Canadian government. However, to one as familiar with Montreal as you are with Los Angeles there seems to be a lack of understanding, you assume that bootlegging and corruption there are on a similar scale to your city. It seems safe to say that the Province of Quebec is the most moral and orderly of any section of the world.

The discovery of frauds in the Montreal customhouse is entirely disconnected with local matters, that port does an enormous business extending over this whole continent.

The fact that there is any illicit dealing in liquor in Quebec is because of the effect of the United States prohibition laws; that Canadians do not resent the imposition of expense and trouble caused them by unwise legislation here speaks for a kindness on their part. Could not The Times take a hint in international courtesy?

Backs Shortridge

LAGUNA BEACH, July 20.—[To the Editor of The Times:] Senator Shortridge has the big idea in his plan for a national seashore park. All along the Southern California coast private interests are shutting out the public from the shore.

The counties are apathetic, the coast towns have not the necessary resources, the State does not act. It will be a hard task to sell the idea to eastern members of Congress, but the Senator is well equipped for the big jobs and that is why we are keeping him in Washington. G. B. DUNHAM.

Loyally Serve the Public

LOS ANGELES, July 19.—[To the Editor of The Times:] I am not a department-store employee and have no ax to grind, but I believe a condition exists in Los Angeles which warrants the consideration and sympathetic co-operation of the public.

Hundreds of men and women loyally serve the public in department stores throughout the year at meager salaries, many of whom receive no vacation. Yet there are a number of employers who have refused to permit their stores to close Saturdays, even for the half day.

The better type of department stores have recognized the value of a half-holiday for their employees during July and August, thereby enabling them to benefit by the improved health and the increased loyalty to their institution of their help.

Week-ends during the hot months would mean much in the lives of the overworked and under-paid employees who have scarcely any time to enjoy the beauties of Southern California. FRED A. NEIL.

AUGUST WATER LILIES

When August water lilies float,
I sit and dream they are a boat,
And o'er the mirrored water blue
I dream I'm floating back to you.
Each swan I pass, of snowy white,
Shall make my drifting a delight,
And if I glide the water blue,
With heavy heart I can't find you,
Then I will drift and drift away,
And in my boat I'll ever stay.

SMALL TOWN STUFF

BY THE SUBURBANITE

It often is mighty comforting to live in easy reach of a big, thoroughly equipped hospital, but I hope that when my time comes to face the last illness it will be in some little town like Ourville. Of course, Ourville will have grown tremendously by then, for that will be a long time if there's any truth in a certain saying about the good of folks who die young, and people in Southern California can't help growing, in spite of some folks like me who prefer small towns. But still I know I'll miss a lot when that time comes if I'm in a really big city.

For some days it has seemed that death was just around the corner and determined to call at our house, and really everyone in Ourville knew it. And everyone who knew it, whether a friend of ours or not, came forward with some show of kindly interest and offer of assistance. Everyone knows we have no car, so everyone who has a car offered the use of it. "If there's anything you need—day or night—just holler," was the way they said it. Old Mrs. Detrick was right there to wash up the dishes and the children while my wife was at grandma's bedside. Mr. Marks, the grocer, thought nothing of running out in overcoat and pajamas to open up his store at night for something the minute wanted, and when we needed milk Mrs. Marks insisted we take all of hers. Bert Hingtgen, the station agent, made us take all the ice when ice was what we needed. "Don't hesitate to wake us up at any time if you need the telephone," urged Mrs. Bertoncini, the Mexican woman, whose husband deserted her recently and who has plenty of troubles of her own, dropped everything to do some washing in a hurry—and how beautifully it was done! Ryan and David and Charlie Brass ran errands for us as eagerly as if it were some one of their own who was ill. Mr. Scripps brought our mail and reminded us he was a light sleeper and always ready to do anything. Mrs. Street, who runs the hot-dog stand on the beach, was almost a stranger, but that night we needed lots of milk she dealt her soft-drink business a cruel blow to give us all she had. Mrs. Kals dropped her preserving to hurry down and spend the whole night helping, though she was very tired. Sixth-elder and Hartman offered their cars, and Mr. Brown offered his chauffeur, too. The McKeans didn't have something we wanted to borrow in the dim gray dawn, but Bob scooted away to another town to get it. And all the women folks in reach of us did something kind and thoughtful.

It seemed as if the pulse of Ourville beat in tune with the slow, laboring pulse of grandma. The atmosphere was charged with sympathy, so charged that grandma murmured that it did her good to be reminded how much unselfish love there is in the world. It was an atmosphere which couldn't have pervaded any of those great, good institutions Henley described as "half cloister and half jail," worthy and necessary as they are.

RIPPLING RHYMES

RECOMMENDATION

"I recommend this whiskers dye," the druggist said to me; "It's made of concentrated lye, nut galls and chicory. The makers' standing is supreme, they turn out nothing punk; you'll find this whiskers dye a scream, although it can't get drunk. It stains your whiskers golden brown or any standard hue and all the pretty girls in town will try to flirt with you." I bought a jug and took it home, with a complacent grin, and dyed the ringlets on my dome, the spinach on my chin. At first it seemed a great success and my alfalfa shone, but in two days, to my distress, it turned to rusty roan. And there were streaks of blue and green and yellow here and there; no fierce a mess was never seen as I was in despair. I hailed the druggist and his clerk, my handiwork I displayed; "Behold," I said, "your fiendish work, behold the work you've made. My whiskers, in the days of yore, though turning gray were fine, and you decoyed me to your store to spoil that beard of mine. You recommended Miller's dye in words that seemed to burn, and now men laugh at me horses shy, whichever way I turn." The damsels giggle as I go, they can't control their glee, and youthful jesters pause and throw large chunks of brick at me." "The makers claim that it is great," replied that drug-store bird; "we but repeat the facts they state, we have to take their word." No note of satisfaction came, my protests he withstood; he said he would not bear the blame or make the damage good. My ruined whiskers now are worn where few can see or scan, and I must to my woe and mourn my misplaced faith in man. I dodge and sidestep all my friends and angrily I spurn the thing a neighbor recommends—so thus we live and learn.

THE ACACIA TREE

No magic brush can paint the matchless tree,
With all its myriad branches. Artistry
Admits defeat, and nature's skill excels!
With beauty rare each lacy bough foretells
The symmetry of some tomorrow's growth,
When it unfolds in leaves and blossoms both;
Then, like a canopy with perfume sprayed,
The acacia tree superbly is arrayed
In gorgeous garb, with tracery of gold,
And speaks its evolution—centuries old.

Scoffs at Story of Love for "Red"

Mrs. Clarice Taylor

GRANGE AFFAIR HELD 'BUNK'

Clarice Taylor Charges Husband Trying to Scare Her; "Red" Says Infatuation News to Him

Declaring that her husband was attempting, by focusing the bright glare of publicity upon her, to force her to compromise their contested divorce suit, Clarice Taylor yesterday stated she would make her husband "eat his words" concerning asserted indiscretions in which Harold (Red) Grange figured.

Her fight to disprove the charges, made public yesterday with the filing of a cross-complaint by the husband, Clarice A. Taylor, will be carried into the courtroom, she asserted. A score witnesses will be called to refute every point of his assertions, according to instructions to her attorneys, Brantley and Spray.

"BUNK" SAYS GEORGE

The cross-complaint states that Mrs. Taylor was very friendly with several men other than her husband. It specifically sets forth that she became infatuated with "Red" Grange, visited upon going to his room at the bungalow and on one occasion sat upon his lap and embraced him.

Ralph Grange, interviewed yesterday at his home in Wheaton, Ill., and asked to declare the charges to be "bunk," replied:

"My husband is bluffing." Mrs. Taylor stated, "He thinks that by dragging a nationally known person like Grange into the case and throwing the consequent publicity upon me, he can scare me out. But he can't frighten me, I'll disprove everything he has said."

BUT THROUGH MANAGER

Grange stated he had met the Taylors through his manager, C. C. Pyle, who is Mr. Taylor's cousin. He was with them on several occasions, he said, but as for any infatuation upon either side, the gridiron star stated "there's none to me."

Pyle, learning that Grange had been dragged into the case, asked that his point-be made clear. There is never any attention on Grange's part, he said, and he used Grange's name only to show the habits of his wife.

"The Galloping Ghost," has returned to Wheaton to resume his college education, that of iceman. He intends to get in shape for the coming football season. Having finished a contract whereby he performs before the camera in Hollywood, "Red" shook all traces of his movie role, a pastel-colored tweed cap and a pith sun helmet.

AGE MAKES SHOWING IN LONG SWIM

Woman 66 Years Old and Man of 75 Finish Second in Five-Mile Contest

By a "Times" Staff Correspondent

VENICE, July 22.—Age made a splendid showing in the annual five-mile swim of the Bay District Long-distance Swimming Club today for the Wilson trophies.

Mrs. Ingvall Kolb, 24 years of age, of Santa Monica, a native of Finland, finished first among the women entrants. Mrs. Anna Van Skike, 66 years of age, was second.

O. B. Wilson, Venice druggist and donor of the prizes, was first of the men. J. H. Stotesbury, 75 years of age, was second of the men to finish.

Only five of the nine entrants finished. Three lifeboats, manned by guards, accompanied the swimmers to pick up the exhausted. Miss A. Harrison, 18 years of age, gave out nearly at the finish. Miss Edna Gale, 22 years of age, finished the course.

The course was from the Venice Plunge to a point a half-mile this side of the barge, and back.

MRS. MARY L. STURGIS FUNERAL CONDUCTED

Funeral services for Mrs. Mary Luella Sturgis, pioneer resident of California and widow of the late S. D. Sturgis, for many years a Los Angeles business man, were conducted at the Breese Brothers chapel, 855 South Figueroa street at 3 o'clock Wednesday afternoon. Burial was in the mausoleum at Inglewood Cemetery. Mrs. Sturgis, whose death occurred at the family home, 2620 Juliet street, after an illness of more than two years, had been a resident of the city the last thirty-seven years. Her husband's death occurred here in 1917.

DYE STRIKE MOB DISPERSED

Aside from a number of minor disturbances, quickly quelled by police and deputy sheriffs, the second day of the cleaners and dyers strike passed without undue incident yesterday.

A single arrest marked the day, George Beck, a driver for the Sunshine Service Cleaners at 1835 Delmas avenue, Wilmar Station, was arrested by San Gabriel police on a charge of carrying concealed weapons, but was released a few hours later with a suspended sentence.

The arrest followed a demonstration by strikers and unionists in front of the Supreme plant in an effort to force loyal employees from the shop. Deputy Sheriffs Ellison, Danielson and Hammel responded to the call for aid and quickly dispersed the mob.

EMPLOYERS FIRM

Efforts of the strikers to extend their walkout to the plants virtually unmolested were balked as the lines were taken up by the employers held firm. The strikers also were reported to be concentrating on pressing parlors in an effort to have tailors join them in the Imperial walkout. Up to a late hour yesterday, only two persons had joined the strikers, according to Samuel Shively, head of the public relations department of the Cleaners' and Dyers' Plant Owners' Association.

A force of police officers, on guard at each of the major dyeing and cleaning plants which so far have been the scene of the strike little if any disorder, prevented a repetition of the violence enacted on the first day of the walkout, when a number of plants were stormed by union pickets in an effort to intimidate loyal workers and force them to join the unionists.

"The employers are sitting tight," Mr. Shively said. "Rather than meet the impossible demands of the union, they are prepared and ready to close their plants entirely and make the walkout complete by a lockout. Almost $1,000,000 worth of clothing has been tied up by the unjustified strike, but this will be taken care of as well as possible under the circumstances.

END EXPECTED SOON

Strike leaders, Mr. Shively said, also have informed him that they will seek to pull out the inside men employed by the retail plants—those plants which employ their own drivers and have their own delivery systems.

So far, however, he added, but five of the retail plants have been affected and it is expected that the remainder will continue to operate on a normal basis with their loyal workmen.

As far as can be judged, he said, the strike has been fairly effective, but he anticipates that the strikers' ranks soon will be broken in the face of the solid opposition of employers, and that the men will begin returning to their jobs in a short time.

From Glendale also came reports that strikers had sought to coerce loyal employees to leave their jobs. They were unsuccessful, however, and the strikers were dispersed by police, who placed guards about two establishments. A number of Glendale plants have been brought to a virtual standstill by the walkout.

Delightful Affair

One of the most interesting and delightful events of the day will be the talk given this morning at 11 o'clock in the Ambassador Theater by Mme. Elinor Glyn on "Egypt," this being the second of a series of talks given by Mme. Glyn, as her contribution to the fund for the Assistance League Day Nursery, the entire proceeds being devoted to this fund.

Many luncheon parties are being given by hostesses and members of the board of the league, which will immediately follow the talk. The third and last talk given by Mme. Glyn in this series will be an evening affair August 8, on the Parrot Perch of the Ambassador, and the hour is 9 o'clock, the subject being "Russia," when Mme. Glyn will touch on the characters in some of her recent writings as well as give reminiscences of her various visits to that country.

Through the courtesy of the Ambassador management a dinner de luxe will be served for those attending the talk at a nominal fee and also a special supper will be served in the Cocoanut Grove following the talk.

BILTMORE CIGAR MAN KILLS SELF

Horse Races Blamed for His Undoing in Suicide Note of Fred H. Sturdevant

Addressing a note to "Dear Dad and Mother," in which he said that the horse races had gotten the better of him, and that the payment of insurance that would follow his death seemed the only way to meet his financial obligations, Fred H. Sturdevant, 39 years of age, cigar salesman at the Biltmore since its opening, yesterday committed suicide by shooting himself through the right temple with a shotgun.

Mrs. Minnie Sturdevant, mother of the self-victimized man, is near death in the Good Samaritan Hospital, according to reports of the investigating police officers, Schonz and Stoughton, of University Division. She has not yet learned of her son's death, which occurred at their home, 5004 South Van Ness Avenue.

NEPHEW OF NICARAGUAN CHIEF HERE

JOAQUIN E. LIZANDO

"You know, this Presidential situation in my country is purely a family affair," he said. "For the last 100 years the Presidency of Nicaragua has been in our family.

"Uncle Carlos, who, by the way, is still recognized as President by the United States, although he was forced to flee to Los Angeles, is the scholar of the family.

"Uncle Emiliano, on the other hand, has been out fighting for his country since he was 20 years of age. He was the only man who could have ousted the tyrant Zalayo, ten years ago, and I think he used the only sure means of regaining the Presidency last fall."

He brought first news of the eruption in Nicaragua of Mt. Santaya, a volcano in the center of the Nicaraguan coffee district, which, he says, has this year thrown off such a steady rain of volcanic ashes that the coffee crop, economic mainstay of the nation, has failed.

BALLOT ON CITY HALL AUTHORIZED

Council Orders Vote on Amendment Permitting 28-Story Structure

The City Council yesterday ordered placed on the August 31 ballot a charter amendment legally authorizing the 28-story City Hall now being built. The people by an overwhelming vote at the April 30 special election gave their approval to the 28-story City Hall, but this was only a straw vote, in order to secure an expression from the people before the architects' plans were completed. A charter amendment could not have been legally submitted on April 30. So to make legal the people's vote of April 30 the charter amendment will be submitted at the August 31 election. This ratification of the "straw vote" was also desired at this time so as to make legal the city's contracts with the City Hall architects for the 28-story building.

A "straw vote" proposition, as to daylight saving also may be submitted at the August 31 election if the County Board of Supervisors adopts a recommendation made yesterday by the City Council. The recommendation was made that the Supervisors place on the August 31 ballot a "straw vote" as to whether the people desire "daylight saving" in Los Angeles county next summer beginning next May.

MAJ.-GEN. LEJEUNE TO INSPECT FILMING

Maj.-Gen. John A. Lejeune, commandant of the United States Marine Corps, will arrive in Los Angeles from Washington, D. C., on or about August 1, to inspect the filming of the final scenes in "Tell It to the Marines," the marine spectacle being filmed with the co-operation of the government at the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer studios. Official confirmation of Gen. Lejeune's visit was given Irving G. Thalberg, associate executive in charge of the production, by Maj. J. P. Wilcoxx, liaison officer between the government and the studio during the making of the picture.

Diet and Health

By Lulu Hunt Peters, M.D.

ANSWERS TO MOTHERS

God could not be everywhere; therefore He made mothers.—Jewish Proverb.

BREAST MILK AND ARTIFICIAL FEEDING

Mrs. G.—There is no difference of opinion among physicians as to the superiority of breast milk over the artificial food, although it is true that artificial feeding has been much simplified and is less hazardous than it used to be. The baby's own mother's milk is designed especially for her baby and he should have his heritage, if she is well enough to nurse. It is estimated that 95 per cent of the mothers can nurse their babies.

Breast milk has just the right proportion of protein, fat, sugar, mineral elements and vitamins, especially if the mother has been eating correctly. It does not have to be modified. There are no bottles to sterilize; there's no danger of contamination from tuberculosis or scarlet fever or typhoid or other diseases from those who might be infected and handle the milk.

The breast-fed baby is not nearly so subject to digestive disturbances as the artificially-fed baby, and he has a far greater chance of life.

If a mother cannot nurse her child entirely, she should nurse him partly, for even partial feedings of breast milk give the child more resistance and more ability to digest an artificial formula.

The factors making for good milk in the mother are mental and physical poise, correct diet, sufficient sleep, fresh air and a certain amount of exercise. Same as the factors for good health, you see. The diet, naturally, is extremely important. The mother should have a quart of milk daily, in some form, liberal amounts of raw vegetables and fresh fruits, some nuts or flesh foods or cottage cheese for protein, and only sufficient energy food (starches and sugars) to keep her at normal weight. It is not necessary or desirable for the mother to gain beyond normal weight.

We have an article on Diet during Pregnancy and Nursing, which goes into the subject much more thoroughly. You may have this by sending self-addressed, stamped envelope with your request. Allow two weeks for its receipt.

JAUNDICED BABIES

Mrs. R.—It is not unusual for the normal baby to be slightly jaundiced or yellowish from four to fifteen days, beginning on the second or third day after birth. It is thought that this yellowness of the skin is due to an increased bile pigment which the liver is not quite energetic enough to share into bile, or to an increased destruction of the red cells in the blood.

If the baby's digestion, appetite, sleep, temperature, etc., are all normal, you can believe that the condition is what is known as the physiological jaundice of the newborn.

SYMPTOMS FROM TEETHING

Mrs. C.—The modern idea is that teething is a perfectly normal process and it is in a well-developed, healthy child. However, teething may cause slight disturbances in the normal child, and in the child who is not so well favored. Sometimes local and general disturbances occur which often can be attributed to teething. The children are irritable, sleepless and cry a lot, and have a stationary or loss of weight.

Teething should not be thought of as the cause of the child's illness until other things can be ruled out.

Mrs. M.—We have an article on Cradle Cap and Eczema in Babies, you may have this by sending a self-addressed, stamped envelope with request.

MINCED VEAL CUTLET

One and one-half pounds knuckle, one and one-half teaspoonfuls salt, pepper to taste, one cupful white sauce, two eggs, one tablespoonful finely chopped parsley, one-quarter teaspoonful powdered mace. Breadcrumbs.

Put the veal on to boil in very little water, add salt, pepper and small onion. Boil slowly until tender (the water must have boiled away.) Put the meat through food chopper; add the white sauce, chopped parsley, mace and a well-beaten egg; mix well. Spread on platter and set in cold place for two or three hours. (This can be made the day before.) Take a tablespoon into floured hands and shape into cutlets. When all are shaped, dip into well-beaten egg (one egg and one tablespoonful of milk,) then into bread crumbs. Fry in very hot cooking oil until browned nicely.

RASPBERRY AND CURRANT ICE

Two cupfuls red raspberries, one quart ripe red curranta, two cupfuls sugar, four cupfuls water.

Wash the currants; put in saucepan with two cupfuls of water; boil five minutes; mash through strainer. Put the raspberries on with one cupful of water; bring to a boil; mash through strainer, then add the currant juice, sugar and water. Boil two minutes. When cold pour in freezer and freeze.

LAMB AND VEGETABLE CASSEROLE

One pound neck lamb chops, four cupfuls carrots, one cupful small onions, two cupfuls small potatoes, one teaspoonful salt, one-eighth teaspoonful pepper, one tablespoonful flour, one tablespoonful caramel, one tablespoonful cut parsley, two tablespoonfuls drippings.

Wash, scrape and cut the carrots into one-half inch rounds and put onions (not cut) into casserole with the drippings and one cupful water; put in oven thirty minutes, place the chops on top of the carrots and onions. Sprinkle with salt, flour and pepper and add a cupful of hot water; cover and place in hot oven one hour. Add caramel and sprinkle top with parsley and serve in casserole dish. This is very attractive and tasty. The neck chops are very tender if cooked this way.

WATERCRESS AND HARD-BOILED EGG SALAD

Line a salad dish with shredded lettuce, wash and clean the watercress and make a bed of it on the lettuce; slice the whites of eggs very fine and place on top of watercress. Press the yolks of eggs through potato ricer or strainer and sprinkle over top.

PEACHES WITH MARSHMALLOW

Wash, pare and crush about six peaches, enough to make three cupfuls; add sugar, put in glass bowl and lay the four halves of peaches, which have been pared, stone side up, on top of crushed peaches; sprinkle the halves with a little sugar; cut the marshmallow in small pieces with scissors and sprinkle over top; have all ice cold.

WHEN MOTHER DOES THE LAUNCHING

It would seem that when mother undertakes to launch her children into the business and professional world, she makes a better job of it than father.

I have been meeting a lot of capable mothers lately, whose children owe them debts of—well, anyway, material gratitude. But these mothers are apt to become just a trifle hard in the doing, in protecting their children from the personal struggle.

There is one very famous motion-picture actress in particular who has been able to remain sweet and charming, in spite of the hard financial battles that have been fought to win her glory—just because mother shouldered all that side of fame for her. If any business associate wanted to curse over hard bargains, they could curse mother, but little daughter was not to be worried with those harsh details.

Aimee Semple McPherson's mother also took this financial and business burden off of her evangelistic daughter's shoulders as much as possible, so that when the Angelus Temple's affairs reached vast financial and business proportions, daughter's religious inspiration need not be preoccupied with this side of her work.

ONE WOMAN MANAGER

I know a woman with a husband and four children, all of whom she has launched. After two years of ill health and unemployment she pulled the wires to secure a political billet for hubby. She pulled the wires to get her oldest son a job in Standard Oil, where he did her infinite credit. She did all the unpleasant pushfulness that proved necessary to get another son on the stage. She is now concentrating on finding the oldest girl a stylish husband. And when that is off her hands the other girl will be waiting for her attention. Her children are bright, worthy children, but inamma grows a little harder, a little more scheming with the years. If at first the snubs and frustrations wounded her sensibilities, she has become callous to such things now.

And I wonder if that is one of mother's duties. I wonder if we should cultivate social acquaintances and learn to pull wires, and shoulder all the hard sledding for our children in their careers. I am not enough to be a homey mother, a sexy lover, a mother, just a

Leading skin specialists of the world urge it—it has given naturally clear complexions to more women than any other method known

Simple, natural ways now are given first place by authorities. Modern beauty culture has largely discarded the artificial ways of yesterday.

The following rule is being widely urged by experts. It is credited with bringing more women beautiful complexions than any other method known—just keeping the pores clean and the skin healthy, with the gentle olive and palm lather of Palmolive, used this way:

DO THIS—NOTE HOW YOUR SKIN IMPROVES

Wash your face gently with Palmolive Soap, massaging it softly into the skin. Rinse thoroughly, first with warm water, then with cold. If your skin is inclined to be dry, apply a touch of good cold cream.

Do this regularly, and particularly in the evening. Use powder and rouge if you wish. But never leave them on over night. They clog the pores, often enlarge them. Blackheads and disfigurements often follow. They must be washed away.

Follow these rules day in and day out. Your skin will be soft and lovely—naturally colorful and clear.

COLOMBIA DOCKS WITH NOTABLES

Philadelphia Capitalist to Buy Orange Grove Here; Dramatic Critic Arrives

A varied list of prominent travelers, including authors, theatrical personages, social leaders, debutantes and travelers from the four corners of the world arrived in Los Angeles Harbor yesterday aboard the Panama Mail liner Colombia from New York by way of Panama, Central America and Mexican ports.

All his life W. L. McQueen, Philadelphia capitalist, has been a globe trotter. He visited Los Angeles several years ago. Since his last visit here he has been touring the four corners of the earth with Mrs. McQueen.

Los Angeles, the couple stated yesterday as the liner Colombia was coming to her berth, is the finest spot in the world to live. The couple are coming here to purchase an orange grove, and plan to build a home in Los Angeles.

E. H. Crosby, for thirty-eight years dramatic editor of the Boston Post, with Mrs. Crosby arrived on their fourth visit.

Speaking of actors and the stage in general, Crosby said:

"George Arliss and Cyril Maude, in my opinion, are two of the foremost actors on the American stage today. The plays of today are devoted entirely too much to dwelling on the frailty of humanity, portraying the seamy side of life instead of the better side of human nature.

"Musical comedy is killing itself by nakedness and vicious lines and the only reason that this type of entertainment is patronized is simply due to the fact that they are in the majority the only type of play produced."

Mrs. Crosby has crossed the Atlantic Ocean thirty-eight times and is president of the Castilian Club of Boston, and an officer in fourteen other women's organizations. The couple will spend a month here before returning home.

Two of the most prominent and beautiful young social debutantes on the liner Colombia were Miss Virginia Harley and her sister, Helene. They are the daughters of a pioneer family of Defiance, O., and plan to spend several months here visiting friends. The sisters were awarded first prize for the best costumes at the masquerade ball held aboard the Colombia the night before this port was reached.

PRIEST'S EXTRADITION LAGS

Technicalities Delay Papers For Goodwin's Return; Actor Accused of Forging Dead Man's Name

Technicalities yesterday served to delay preparation of extradition papers for Rev. Phillip A. Goodwin, actor-priest of the American Catholic Church who is being held in New York for return to Orange county to face a charge of murder, also halted the planned shipment for burial of the body of Joseph J. Patterson, local stock broker, whose slaying is attributed to Goodwin by Orange county authorities.

Instead of being shipped to Charleston, Mo., old home town of the slain man, the body was brought to the Los Angeles county morgue, it was announced yesterday, where X-ray photographs will be made to definitely determine the cause of Patterson's death.

The body of Patterson, who was last seen alive on March 13 last, and who at that time was said to have been in the company of Goodwin and an Abe Dewey, Utah cowboy friend of the priest, was found in Santa Ana Canyon on March 22, last. The hands and feet of the slain man had been tied, and the clothing saturated with gasoline and set afire. Orange county authorities express the belief that the man was not dead when his body was burned.

Patterson's body, once buried as unidentified, was identified early this week by R. E. Patterson, a brother, of Miami, Ariz.

HUNT COWBOY

Orange county authorities, while awaiting the return of Goodwin, are endeavoring to effect the arrest of Dewey, with whom the priest is known to have gone to San Diego for two days, leaving on the date Patterson was last seen.

According to Deputy Sheriffs Keating and Davidson, checks totaling all but a few dollars of Patterson's account at a downtown bank, have been branded as forgeries of Patterson's signature. One of the checks was drawn in favor of Dewey, while the others were drawn to Samuel Reador, said by the officers to be the name used by Goodwin in opening an account in another bank from which the money was withdrawn by checks indorsed by Goodwin.

HELD FOR HEARING

Following the completion of the X-ray photographic work, the body of Patterson will be forwarded for burial to Missouri. The brother, who has been aiding authorities in their investigations, will return to Miami at that time.

Rev. Phillip A. Goodwin

Goodwin has been held without bail for hearing on the 27th inst. He has denied all knowledge of the crime of which he is accused and of Reador. He was garbed as a priest when arrested in the National Vaudeville Artists' Club in New York, and a Masonic pin, a pair of dice and numerous newspaper clippings dealing with his ordination as a priest were found in his possession.

CAMERAMEN NOT TO BE UNIONIZED

Head of Cinematographers Refuses to Sanction Move in That Direction

Flat refusal to sanction any movement to unionize motion-picture cameramen was voiced yesterday in a statement made public by Daniel B. Clark, president of the American Society of Cinematographers.

In opposing efforts to induce the photographers to join unions, Mr. Clark said:

"The society does not oppose unions as a matter of policy or principle. They are very necessary factors in some industries. In the motion-picture industry itself, I don't suppose that there is any question they have proved the salvation of the calling of the projectionists.

"However, the union has no place among the cinematographers at the present time. Cinematography is essentially an art and the cameraman an artist. We regard his work as individual and distinctive to such a degree that it cannot be stereotyped into a set basis for a wage scale, nor do we think that it will permit of even an 'equitable' arrangement in the form of a sliding scale or the like.

"We do not for a moment take the position that the millennium has arrived in salaries or working conditions for cameramen but we believe that the continued recognition on the part of producers of the constructive work that the American Society of Cinematographers is doing will do much more for the benefit of all concerned."

"EASY MONEY" FOUND COSTLY

In exchange for $320 "easy money" and a few bottles of illicitly obtained liquor, James L. McDonald, former member of the District Attorney's prohibition enforcement squad, faces the prospect of spending from one to five years of his life in the penitentiary and losing an income of $100 a month for life.

This was disclosed yesterday in Judge McLucas's court where McDonald was sentenced to serve the prison term in San Quentin on a charge of extortion, preferred against him in connection with his asserted activities as a hi-jacker.

Attorneys for the accused man told the court that a prison term probably would mean that McDonald no longer would receive compensation from the government for his service during the World War. McDonald, it was pointed out, had served in the Canadian army during the earlier stages of the war and enlisted in the American forces when the United States joined the conflict. He was later released as disabled and was drawing approximately $100 a month at the time of his arrest.

Church Holds Record Daily Bible Classes

With an enrollment of 755 children of twenty-one nationalities, the Euclid Heights Presbyterian Church believes it has the largest daily Bible school of any single church west of the Mississippi River and perhaps in the United States.

Besides the Bible school, the church has craft and sewing work for boys and girls, and a large exhibit of the work, reed trays, toys and the like, was given at the church last night. Most of the parents of the children attended.

Rev. Frank M. Cross, pastor of the church, is the son of a minister and has two brothers in the ministry. All four members of the family have been pastors of Euclid Heights Presbyterian Church. This also is believed to be a record. The church is at 3045 Whittier Boulevard.

EXCHANGE CLUB TO HEAR FOUR SPEAKERS

Four speakers are on the bill for the Los Angeles Exchange Club luncheon-meeting at the Biltmore today. They are "Bill" Essick, scout for the New York Yankees, who is in Los Angeles looking over local baseball players; Taylor Holmes, actor-comedian; Russell M. MacLennan, advertising manager of the First National - Pacific - Southwest banking group, and H. W. Welton, the "funmaker" of the local Exchange Club. Essick will speak on "Baseball as It Should Not Be Played;" MacLennan on "Publicity," and Welton on "Suitable Garb for Ball Players and Proper Decoration for the Field." Holmes will tell some stories. The musical program will be furnished by Mr. and Mrs. Sydney King Russell. They will render some of Mr. Russell's compositions.

DRY AGENTS GET STILL IN PAINT SHOP

Federal Men Confiscate Large Quantity of Sugar, Mash and Alcohol

Raiding a large garage and paint shop at 118 West Pico street yesterday morning, Federal prohibition agents arrested four men and confiscated two seventy-five-gallon stills, 200 barrels of mash, a large quantity of sugar and other raw material and considerable alcohol.

Those under arrest are Sam Rich, 1143 Venice Boulevard, proprietor of two bottle manufacturing plants; Louis Freedmonds, owner of the raided garage; Peter Saggia, 222 West Fifty-seventh street, and George Glacina, 1800 Mozart street. The suspects were arraigned before United States Commissioner Head yesterday afternoon and their bail set at $2000 each. Preliminary hearing was set for next Monday, but a continuance is expected.

Maj. Blain A. Dixon, new chief enforcement officer, and chief Field Agent Wuncoop led the raiding party. The Federal officers declared they believed the place has been in operation about a month.

ROBBING CONCESSION CHARGED TO TWO LADS

George Prodan, 11 years of age, and his two brothers, Nick and Tony, 10 and 9, respectively, were charged with burglary of a concession at 214 Strand, Redondo Beach, in complaints filed yesterday in Judge Keeler's Juvenile Court. The boys are the sons of Mr. and Mrs. Tony Prodan of the beach city. Reports that the boys had been molesting bathers at the beach led to an investigation by the juvenile authorities which culminated in the burglary complaints being filed.

TUNNEL USE INCREASED BY TROLLEY

Figures made public yesterday by the Los Angeles Railway show that on the 15th inst. the company's cars carried 83,160 passengers through the North Broadway tunnel, while at the same time the street-car service showed no deterring effect on the regular automotive traffic through the tunnel.

The railway company, checking the automobile traffic on April 1, last, before street cars were routed through the tunnel, found that 11,364 passenger vehicles and 577 trucks passed through the tunnel that day. A second check made on April 29 after the "E" and "3" lines had been routed through the tunnel 12,382 passenger cars, 780 trucks and 676 street cars.

A third check on June 10 showed 12,530 passenger cars, 981 trucks and 1062 street cars—while the final check of the 15th inst., even more positively established the fact that the use of the tunnel by street-car passengers living in the north and northeast sections of the city has not lessened the motor-vehicle traffic.

WOMAN CLUB LEADER BURIED IN RIVERSIDE

Mrs. Kent was widely known in club circles, having been a member of the Woman's Club of Hollywood, the Friday Morning Club and a past regent of the Hollywood Chapter of the Daughters of the American Revolution. She was formerly State librarian and State secretary of the last-named organization.

AUTO BILL LESS THAN EX-WIFE'S

Director Finds Alimony Greater Luxury Than Used Car or New Mate

It costs a great deal more to support an ex-wife than it does to maintain a second-hand automobile, Stuart Paton, widely known picture director and artist, maintained yesterday.

An ex-wife, now, is a luxury that Paton cannot afford, he declared to Judge Gates. On the other hand, he said, his automobile cost him only $30 and is a comfort well within even his limited means.

He was in Judge Gates's court again in response to the insistent demand of Lillian Cairncross, his former wife, that he do something about the $7000 arrearage in alimony due her under the terms of her divorce decree.

"Oh, I'm sure he can raise $50 a month at least—enough to support his child, anyway. Anyway try it until September 1, and we'll see how he gets along," the court ruled.

Avoid Poorly Balanced Breakfasts

That's Where the Great Dietary Mistake is Made

IF YOU feel tired, hungry, "fidgety" hours before lunch, don't jump to the conclusion of poor health. Thousands have unenergetic mornings because they start the day with wrong breakfasts.

To feel right, you must have a well-balanced, complete breakfast ration. At most other meals—lunch and dinner—you get it. But breakfast is a hurried meal, often badly chosen.

It is food that "stands by" you through the morning. Don't deny yourself the natural stimulation this rich food offers you.

ESTELLE TAYLOR SIGNS

Will Be With United Artists Several Years; Charles Mack in Roosevelt Film; Miss Perry Wild West Girl

BY GRACE KINGSLEY

That small bird which let us in on the fact that Estelle Taylor was going to sign with United Artists was warbling right in tune with events, it seems. John W. Considine, Jr., and Roland West, executive heads of the producing organization, yesterday announced the fact that Miss Taylor has affixed her signature to a long-term contract with Feature Productions, Inc.

ESTELLE TAYLOR

By the terms of the contract Miss Taylor will play leading roles in forthcoming pictures which Feature Productions will make for United Artists release.

Mr. Considine said he believed Miss Taylor's first assignment would be to play a leading role opposite Rudolph Valentino in the Cellini story which the star will begin soon after his return from New York.

It is understood that a stipulation was made to the effect that Miss Taylor should be loaned to Cecil B. De Mille if he decided she was to play the role of Mary Magdalen in "The King of Kings." In this event her first United Artists picture would be deferred.

"Mr. West and myself consider Miss Taylor one of the screen's most accomplished actresses," Mr. Considine said. "We predict new and sensational triumphs for her under the United Artists banner."

Miss Taylor leaves today for Colorado Springs to join her husband, Jack Dempsey, and will remain there three or four weeks, unless a wire from Cecil De Mille should recall her hastily for the big biblical feature.

She Wants to Be Wild

Probably it will be hard for you to imagine Helen of the "Helen and Warren" stories, stepping out and taming a wild buckaroo. But that is just what Kathryn Perry, who has been playing the Helen role so long that she was in danger of becoming identified solely with the sweetly submissive Griselda ladies of the home and fireside, is going to do.

KATHRYN PERRY.

Miss Perry, we learn, has all along, all the time she was pretending on the screen to have no thought outside her home, been just honing and hankering to be a Wild West girl with a gun on her hip and all that sort of thing.

According to announcement by Sol M. Wurtzel, Miss Perry will play the feminine lead opposite Buck Jones in his next picture, "Desert Valley," film version of a story by Jackson Gregory. Orville Dull will direct.

Margaret Livingston Busy

William Fox officials, aided by their exhibitor reports, have decided that Margaret Livingston shall become a feature comedy star and are now hunting stories for her. Meanwhile, F.B.O. officials remember her powerful character impersonations when with Thomas H. Ince, and decided they want her to portray a half-caste South Sea gal.

Margaret Livingston

So Margaret has been loaned to play the feminine lead in "Breed of the Sea," which Ralph Ince will direct as well as play the dual leading role therein. He only recently directed and played in "Bigger Than Barnum" for F.B.O., which is drawing the crowds where released in the East.

"Breed of the Sea" is an adaptation by J. G. Hawks of one of Peter B. Kyne's powerful sea novels, "Blue Blood and Pirates," published in the Saturday Evening Post and unraveled as only Kyne can do with sea yarns.

Dorothy Dunbar, Pat Harmon, Shannon Day and Alphons Ethier have important parts and production starts immediately. J. Grubb Alexander wrote the continuity and Allen Siegler will photograph.

Jerry Miley in It

Jerry Miley has been cast in a leading role in "The Understanding Heart," which Jack Conway will direct for Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer. The story is by Peter B. Kyne.

JERRY MILEY.

The actor is a friend of the author, and the two have worked out the characterization together. Miley is a native son, and is the son of a millionaire. He has been pursuing fame in pictures about two years, coming here from Paris, where he had begun to study for a diplomatic career.

The company will leave Sunday night for Yosemite, where some scenes of the picture will be made.

Lillian Rich in It

LILLIAN RICH

This announcement was made by Harry Kerr and J. H. Bachman, officials of the newly formed company. Production is scheduled to start this week under Al Kelly, director.

The present role will be Miss Rich's first part as a free-lance actress since her recent break with the De Mille organization.

Ken Maynard Starts Work

In a drenching downpour of motion-picture rain, work started last night on the second Ken Maynard picture for First National. "The Unknown Cavalier" this picture will be called. It is being produced by Charles R. Goers with Albert Rogell directing.

KEN MAYNARD

"The Unknown Cavalier" is Marion Jackson's screen version of Kenneth Perkins's popular novel, "Ride Him, Cowboy!"

Mabel Walker Willebrandt Asserts Modification of Volstead Act Seems Far Off

"Sentiment in general throughout the United States in favor of prohibition has not changed materially in the last two years, but the forces against prohibition have become so well-organized and vocal that the issue has been magnified."

That was the statement yesterday of Mabel Walker Willebrandt, California woman and assistant United States Attorney-General in charge of prohibition work for her office. Mrs. Willebrandt arrived in Los Angeles yesterday from Washington and San Francisco. Her visit here she stated was primarily to be able to see her sister, Mrs. J. Warner Brown of Shanghai, China, who is visiting her father, D. W. Walker of San Gabriel, and returns to the Orient within a few days.

While Mrs. Willebrandt refused to discuss the various phases of the case of Col. Ned Green, prohibition director for Northern California, now being presented before the Federal grand jury in San Francisco and where she will return next Monday, she gave freely her opinions on national prohibition.

A well-planned and cleverly executed publicity campaign by the forces opposed to prohibition, she believes, has resulted in producing what seemed recently to be a stronger sentiment against prohibition than really exists.

"But even the most optimistic proponent of just modification of the amendment won't predict any fulfilment of his hopes for a long time to come," she declared.

Strict enforcement of prohibition throughout the Middle West is now nearly a fact, she thought, and believes that it can be accomplished on the east and west coasts. Political graft and other corruptions, attributed in recent years to prohibition, she declared, existed just as much before, though prohibition may have given a different outlet.

Willard Louis Succumbs to Typhoid Fever

Willard Louis, comedy player and well-known member of the local film colony, died yesterday afternoon when unexpected complications set into a severe case of typhoid fever.

The popular comedian and "heavy" was stricken with the fever about three weeks ago. He was just finishing an important starring part in "The Doormat" at the Warner Brothers' studio. He was rushed home and placed under the care of physicians.

A few days ago, it was announced that Louis was out of danger. Yesterday morning, however, a severe fever set in and in spite of efforts of his physicians, Louis never recovered. He passed away late in the afternoon.

Funeral services will be held from the Scovner undertaking parlors of Glendale, where Mr. Louis lived, Saturday afternoon. The comedian leaves a wife and mother.

State Will Lead World in Energy, Says Hungarian

Europe stands on the threshold of losing her former importance as the world's economic center and that honor is destined for California and the Pacific Coast in the near future, in the opinion of Dr. Stephen Klein of Budapest, Hungary, and managing director of the Hungarian General Credit Bank, who is at the Biltmore with his family.

Dr. Klein, who heads the largest financial institution in Hungary, and who is one of the most widely known and recognized financiers and economists of Europe, is in the United States to study American financial and industrial methods.

According to Dr. Klein, the western coast of America has the world's greatest store of undeveloped resources, together with the pioneer spirit, the power to organize and the ability to control. California and the Pacific Coast have gained recognition, Dr. Klein says, for taking the lead in the development of hydroelectric energy. This ability to generate cheap power should help materially in the West's advancement industrially and agriculturally, he believes.

MEXICAN CULTURE LEAGUE CELEBRATES

Directors of the Mexican League of Culture celebrated the first anniversary of the league last night at Knights of Columbus Hall with an unusual program of Mexican and Spanish music and literature, which was given by a number of leading artists from Spain and Mexico. Salvadore Gonsalo Becerra, president, addressed the gathering and announced that the league has established branches in Siestmona, Cal., Santa Monica and Belvedere.

SYNOD ELECTS DR. PRITCHARD

Vermont-Avenue Pastor in Presbyterian Post

Honor Follows Twenty-eight Years of Service

Retiring Moderator Tells Church's Great Work

"Anarchy would pull down the pillars of modern civilization before the League of Nations could have a called meeting if it were not for the vitality of religion," declared Dr. Joseph A. Stevenson, retiring moderator, at the opening session of the Presbyterian Synod of California, conducted at the First Presbyterian Church of Hollywood last night when Dr. A. B. Pritchard was elected to succeed Dr. Stevenson as moderator.

Dr. Pritchard, the new moderator, is pastor of the Vermont Avenue Presbyterian Church. His election came as the recognition of twenty-eight years of faithful and devoted service to the Presbyterian Church of this district.

More than 500 ministerial and lay delegates registered at the conference church yesterday and about 1000 more delegates are expected to arrive today from Presbyterian centers of California and Nevada. The guests were given a warm welcome last night by Dr. Stewart P. MacLennan and his congregation. Sessions will be continued daily until and including the 29th inst.

FAREWELL SERMON

In his farewell sermon as moderator, Dr. Stevenson called attention to the guns of criticism being leveled at the church, and, while admitting that much of this criticism is deserved, declared that the hope of the world is to be found "in her divine mission and dissatisfactions."

"If everybody were perfectly satisfied with present conditions, King Tut would have plenty of company and the world would be doomed," said the speaker. "The idealists have always been pitted against he materialists, but history shows that, in the long run, the idealists win. Jesus has been characterized as an oriental dreamer, an impractical idealist. In fact, He was too practical. If a man will take His ideals as a working plan for twenty-four hours he will find that his life must be made over. The church has not always lived up to her own ideals, but she has ever inscribed upon her banner truth, honesty, integrity, purity, peace and brotherhood.

WORLD'S GREAT NEED

"Make a list of the men who have been great benefactors of mankind, mark off those who had no great religious convictions and you will not have left a corporal's guard," continued Dr. Stevenson. "The world ever stands in need of right legislation, of education and sanitation, but she needs that regeneration that comes through the ministration of the church. After all, leagues of nations will not save the world—but a new league with God, that shall produce a new type of manhood, at peace with his brothers because at peace with his Father, will save it."

Answering those "whose fluency is equalled only by their ignorance" and who assert that the church is a parasite, living at the expense of mankind, Dr. Stevenson said that a true investigation will reveal that the church is a producer.

"The church offers opportunities for investment that pay fine dividends—which cannot be counted on a cash register, but which will abide when cash registers are gone," said the speaker. "The church is an apartment-house that handles big ideas—and the highest ideals."

BUNKER HILL BATTLE FOUGHT AT MEETING

A meeting called by the West First Street Improvement Association to protest the proposed plan of the Greater First Street Association to cut down Bunker Hill developed into a stormy session at the Fremont school last night when the gathering became divided over the discussion which took place both for and against the plan. O. W. O'Dell, who presided, declared that the razing of Bunker Hill would cost the taxpayers over $60,000,000.

F. L. Mowder, secretary of the Greater First Street Association said the plan would only cost about $12,000,000 and would benefit every property owner in the district. Mr. Mowder introduced representatives of Leeds & Barnard engineers who displayed the tentative plans to level First street from Hill to Fremont street. They pointed out that this would make First street the main artery from the Civic Center to Hollywood and other points of the city.

Others in favor of the plan said that it would restore First street as a business center again. A number of others favored building a tunnel instead of cutting the hill.

MISS HAZEL CLOUGH SOUGHT BY RELATIVE

The Times is in receipt of a letter from Mrs. Louise Schmidt of Millard, Neb., seeking aid in locating her sister Miss Hazel Clough, who is thought to be in Los Angeles. Mrs. Schmidt states that she and her sister recently were named as beneficiaries of an estate which cannot be settled until the sister is located. Miss Clough is asked to write to Eva C. Kinne, 363 East Forty-ninth street, Portland, (Or.) for further details regarding the estate.

McCORMACK PROVES POPULARITY ANEW

Every Seat in Shrine Auditorium Filled for Concert of Irish Tenor

BY ISABEL MORSE JONES

The power of the Irish master of song to draw a crowd should never be questioned after his performance at Shrine Auditorium last night. The inimitable John McCormack lured 6400 people to fill every seat in the vast hall, packed the stage with 500 more and jammed the orchestra pit with 200 additional lovers. Whether they were all music-lovers or not, one could not say, but it is certain that they were all lovers of John.

The program was just the same as always—a serious opening with Handel's "O Sleep, Why Dost Thou Leave Me?" and an old Italian song by Vinci with a surpassingly beautiful encore which displayed his power of long sustaining a difficult and florid phrase. The same sweetness with the appealing quality which wins all hearts not immune to sentiment, was there and when he opened his second familiar group of Russian incantations the audience was hushed and expectant.

William Van Der Burg, 'cellist, and Edwin Schneider, accompanist and composer, were the assisting artists and contributed largely to the success of the evening. Mr. Van Der Burg has a pleasing tone and a facile technic which enables him to toss off difficulties with attractive savoir faire. The Shrine Auditorium is a bit large for either McCormack or Van Der Burg but no one instrument could expect to fill that huge palace with sound.

Edwin Schneider is a jewel of an accompanist. He never intrudes, but the listener is constantly and happily aware of him. His phrases ripple from his fingers as easily as McCormack's golden tones issue from his well-trained throat. In many of the finer songs of the McCormack repertoire he establishes the atmosphere of musicianship.

"DEAR OL' LUNNON" WINS BOWL CROWD

Sir Henry Wood Shares Honors With Flutists Maquarre and Plowe

Los Angeles is from now on and forever proclaimed a musical city! Ten thousand people gathered in the Hollywood Bowl last night to hear Sir Henry Wood conduct a fascinating orchestral concert and at the same time John McCormack drew over 7000 to the Shrine Auditorium.

It was a British night at the Bowl with Sir Henry conducting the "London Symphony" by Vaughn Williams, prefaced by well-chosen remarks in the British accents of Robert Nichols, the poet, and a real London fog enveloping the amphitheater and lending the occasion a delightfully vague and mysterious charm.

There is not a doubt of the supreme ability of the Queen's Hall conductor to arrange and to conduct an orchestral program which will appeal to all listeners after last night's performance. He seemed to bring back the old Bowl intimacy and enthusiasm and the men obeying his baton responded with rare warmth. The rearrangement of the orchestra back to the seating position used by Mr. Rothwell in the winter, and the lowering and shading of the shell lights made a marvelous improvement in the enjoyment of the listeners. The Brandenburg Concerto No. 4 in G for two flutes, solo violin and strings, by Bach, was a highlight of the program.

The solo parts were taken by Andre Maquarre and Jay Plowe, flutists, and Sylvain Noack, violinist. The three movements of this number seemed to end entirely too soon for the satisfaction of the enthusiastic audience. The clear flute harmonies combined with the rich melodious tones of the violin as the theme was woven in and out among the other stringed instruments of the orchestra had a pleasing and vibrant effect.

The "London Symphony," by Vaughn Williams, which was played last season, was received enthusiastically by the Bowl audience. The symphony is a musical description of phases of London and its life. Through the entire piece the low, ominous, rumbling of the Thames, as introduced in the first movement, was heard. So realistic was the orchestral interpretation of this, as well as other descriptive passages, that definite pictures arose in imaginative hearers' minds.

Brahms's Academic Overture with its German melodies and its use of the full power of the larger orchestral instruments sounded well in the Bowl while Lisdow's "Valse Badinage" and Rimsky-Korsakoff's clever "Bumble-Bee" were happily contrasting and done with a superlative lightness and charm. The concert closed with Enesco's Rumanian Rhapsody marked by brilliant and colorful melodies of the gypsies.

SEA-FARING ROMANCES HIGH IN FAVOR NOW

No sooner did James Cruze return from two and one-half months on the Pacific Ocean filming "Old Ironsides" than Frank Lloyd, the man who directed "The Sea Hawk," announced his plans for a similar expedition for scenes in "The Eagle of The Sea," his first picture for Paramount.

According to Lloyd the company, including Florence Vidor and Ricardo Cortez, will depart within the next few days for ports unknown. Three old-time windjammers and a score of smaller boats are now being "brought down to date" for the production. Inasmuch as "The Eagle of the Sea" takes place upon the Spanish Main during the period of 1820 all modern equipment upon the vessels is being discarded and the old-fashioned articles put back on.

From the Pages of Fiction

Bessie Love,

Appearing at Loew's State this week in "Lovey Mary," a picturization of those, oh, so human people who dwelt in the pages of Alice Hagen Rice's "Mrs. Wiggs of the Cabbage Patch."

Christie Stars Hosts Tonight at Duplex Show

Two players of the Christie Comedies, Bobby Vernon and Vera Steadman, will fill the roles of star host and hostess tonight at Grauman's Egyptian Theater to welcome parties staged by officials and employees of the Southern California Telephone and Telegraph Company and Barker Brothers.

This pair of fil mcomedians have been chosen in line with Sid Grauman's regular policy of having some celebrated stars present at the Hollywood playhouse to receive the theater parties constantly being formed by industrial, civic and social organizations to attend the duplex presentation of Mary Pickford in "Sparrows" and Douglas Fairbanks in "The Black Pirate."

Bobby Vernon, one of Christie's leading comedy stars, has just finished "Till We Eat Again" and will soon start on "Dummy Love," two pictures in a series of eight comedies he is making for Educational Film Exchanges. Vera Steadman is a regular Christie comedy leading lady, and has just completed parts in Metropolitan's "Meet the Prince" and the Al Christie feature comedy, "The Nervous Wreck."

Stars Appear at Loew's State Tomorrow Night

Bessie Love and William Haines, stars of "Lovey Mary," the new Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer photoplay, which comes to Loew's State today, will make personal appearances on the stage of the theater this evening.

Bessie Love is an accomplished Charleston dancer, and will dance both with Rube Wolf and Ted Doner, while William Haines will relate some interesting incidents which occurred during the filming of this unusual King Baggot production.

A large delegation of Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer players and officials will be at the theater to witness the personal appearances of Miss Love and William Haines, and the thirty winners of the Ocean Park bathing-beauty pageant also will be on hand, among them "Miss Los Angeles," the winner of the bathing-beauty pageant, who will go to Atlantic City this year after her appearance at Loew's State Theater, to enter the national Atlantic City bathing-beauty contest.

METROPOLITAN HAS CLARA BOW AS STAR

At the Metropolitan Theater today, "Mantrap," a Paramount picture with Ernest Torrence, Clara Bow and Percy Marmont in the leading roles, begins an engagement for one week. The play was adapted from the novel of the same name by Sinclair Lewis. It is a Victor Fleming production.

START CROOK PLAY

"Going Crooked" will get under way at Fox studios before the close of the month. The play was written by William Collier, Sr., and Aaron Hoffman. It is the story of a lady crook, and Bessie Love, in the leading role, is the only member of the cast thus far announced. George Meiford will direct.

Mormons Sing at Hollywood Next Wednesday

The Hollywood Bowl will be the focal point for one of the largest assemblages of Mormons in the history of California next Wednesday when the Mormon Tabernacle choir from Salt Lake City accompanied by more than 1000 leading citizens of Utah, makes an appearance in the amphitheater.

In honor of its first trip from home, the choral group will be accompanied by officials of the stage and of the Mormon Church, arriving in special trains in Los Angeles next Monday afternoon. David A. Smith, a presiding bishop of the Mormon church, heads the choir.

United States Senator Reed Smoot of Utah, now in Long Beach, has been invited to join the group of dignitaries.

The presentation of the choir in Los Angeles comes as the first appearance of the group outside the tabernacle in the history of Mormonism in Utah.

Comprising 294 voices with eighteen soloists, the choir is one of the best known singing bodies in the United States. The Mormon Tabernacle in which they regularly sing in Salt Lake City has been an object of pilgrimage upon the part of music lovers acquainted with Mormon musical history for many years. Never before has the choir appeared other than in the church.

Anthony C. Lund, former head of the music department of the University of Provo, is director of the choir. A program of popular, operatic and other classical numbers will be presented. The choir appearance is not a part of the regular symphony concert season at the Bowl.

WILL STUDY CARTHAY

City School Head Requests Photos of Theater Architecture

Charles Roach, in charge of the visual education department of the Los Angeles city schools, has requested Fred Miller for photographs of the interior and exterior of the Carthay Circle Theater to be used in a set of art appreciation slides before the junior and senior high schools.

"It is our purpose," writes Mr. Roach, "to show the modern buildings of Los Angeles and how they adopted their various styles and periods of architecture."

The Circle Theater is unique inasmuch as it is dedicated to the pioneers of California, the only showplace, it is claimed, in the world, of its kind. The architecture is a combination of old mission, ornate Spanish, tied together with modernistic ideas of treatment."

THEDA MAKES DEBUT IN COMEDY FEATURE

Theda Bara, the first motion-picture actress to make a name for herself in vampire roles, has renounced her former habit of luring men with serpentine attitudes and soulful eyes, and has entered the ranks of comediennes starring in two-reelers. Her debut in this class, as the woman of mystery in "Madame Mystery," a Hal Roach comedy, is an added feature of the Figueroa program opening today with "The Passionate Quest."

Miss Bara is said to lack none of the ability that made her the queen of vampires in her new type of role, and is supported by a cast including Jimmy Finlayson, Tyler Brooks and Oliver Hardy.

With Miss Dwan and fifty-four members of his company, besides "Tony" and eighteen horses, Mr. Mix will arrive in Salt Lake City next week to film some scenes for the second picture.

HOLT ARISES TO DEFEND WESTERNS

Public Likes Lot of Action In Films, Says Star of Open Spaces

Despite the frequent howlings of the blase people who prefer to have their drama take place within the confines of four walls, the pictures of the wide-open spaces seem to be one class of entertainment most consistently patronized by the public.

In this line of outdoor attractions are very few personalities. Jack Holt, who is appearing in "Born to the West" at the Criterion this week, is one of them.

Jack's first job in pictures was jumping a horse off a forty-foot cliff into the Russian River, and ever since that time he has continued to play the roles of the outdoor type with but a few exceptions.

He was removing his chaps after having finished the last scene for "Forlorn River," a Zane Grey story, when he chose to discuss what seems to be the everlasting popularity of the western and out-in-the-weather drama.

"Not being a first-class showman prevents me from explaining why the public likes these stories," said Holt. "If you glance at the magazine stands you will note that a number of the best selling periodicals are devoted entirely to this type of story which seems to be further evidence that the public likes this sort of entertainment. I can't give reasons for this.

"I do not believe any one can say such and such a thing is bound to result in a certain reaction from the public. Nobody knows why the public likes one type of picture and not another.

"If you force me for an answer, I can give you nothing definite. The only thing I can do is express an opinion. The picture with a locale in the West, the South Seas, aboard ship or in a logging camp must contain a touch of the melodrama with plenty of fast action and sweeping movement. The screen must base all its drama on movement, and this action is most plentifully supplied by the outdoor story. This type of drama is raw and harsh and fast. It has a dash that is compelling. Besides, there is seldom anything repellant or sordid about an outdoor play."

It was suggested to him that he make a picture based on that colorful and romantic period of history, the medieval period. Holt stated that he might try to do such a picture, basing it on a story of one of these roving knights who fought and loved and wandered. A knight who would cut his way through robber bands to rescue his lady love imprisoned in a tower. But first of all Holt plans to make a tour of Europe.

"I am making arrangements," said Jack, "to get away about the first of the year, and make a tour of England and the continent. After that I may be better qualified to talk about castles and knights."

Add New Member to Large Cast for Production

Conrad Nagel has been assigned the role of Capt. Harding in the Metro-Goldwyn-Mayer production "The Mysterious Island," according to an announcement from Hunt Stromberg, who is producing this Jules Verne fantasy.

Production is well under way with Maurice Tourneur directing. Scenes in which Nagel does not appear are being filmed at present, as the actor is completing the male lead in Edward Sedgwick's production "Tin Hats."

Nagel is the last important member of the cast of "The Mysterious Island" to be signed. Lionel Barrymore, Sally O'Neil, Warner Oland, Jacqueline Gadsden, Karl Dane, George Cooper, Roy D'Arcy, and Adda Gleason have already been announced. The entire picture is being photographed in technicolor. It will also include numerous underwater scenes that will be personally directed and filmed by J. E. Williamson, whose special process of undersea photography will be enlisted in this endeavor. The undersea sequences will be made off the cost of the Bahama Islands.

More Players Announced for 'Partners Again'

INSPIRATION GETS MIRANDA FOR TITLES

WINS PLACE AS EDITORIAL MANAGER FOR WORK ON PICTURE

The signatures of Walter Camp, Jr., president of Inspiration Pictures; J. Boyce Smith, Jr., general manager, and Tom Miranda, title writer, were penned on the dotted line Wednesday as a result of his work in editing and titling "The Amateur Gentleman," the newest Richard Barthelmess starring vehicle.

Under the contract Inspiration is entitled to Miranda's exclusive services as "editorial manager" for the term of one year and he will have particular charge of the selection of story material for special productions offering wide scope to the talents of Gardner James, who was recently placed under long-term contract.

FICTIONIZE SCREEN PLAY

"Whispering Smith" and "The Riddle Rider" are soon to be new fiction characters as well as screen heroes, according to William Lord Wright, supervisor of serials and westerns for Universal. The novelizing of screen dramas is believed to be an unusual procedure and results will be watched closely by screen authors. Frank Spearman, who created "Whispering Smith," is now at work on the novel form of the original story now before the camera. It will be published following the release of the chapter play, which features Wallace McDonald, supported by Rose Blossom and J. P. McGowan.

NAVY FAVORS LONG BEACH

City Considers Construction of Landing Dock

Ships May Change Place of Anchorage

Many Officers Now Reside in Beach City

LONG BEACH, July 22—An asset for Long Beach equivalent to an industry employing 19,000 men, is within the reach of the city, provided Long Beach will spend approximately $12,000 in providing an adequate and safe landing for the personnel of the Pacific battle fleet in the new Long Beach Harbor. This was the gist of a report made to the Harbor Commissioners here by Maj. McGlone, harbor engineer.

Not only can Long Beach become the principal landing place for all fleet activities, by creating a suitable naval landing dock for the exclusive use of the fleet, but, the Harbor Commissioners were told, plans are being considered now by fleet commanders to move the anchorage of the battleships to a point directly off Long Beach. Such a move is imminent, it was said, because of the increasing commercial traffic at the entrance to Los Angeles Harbor, where the fleet has had its anchorage for several years.

Long Beach, it is pointed out, has always been the shore home of the ranking officers of the fleet when the ships are in port, and in addition, hundreds of enlisted men maintain their families here. Under existing circumstances, a sub-chaser of the fleet brings the officers to their homes in Long Beach in the afternoon, landing here being made at the end of Pine-avenue pier, in the open seaway. Enlisted men going ashore and planning on a stay in Long Beach, are obliged to board electric cars at San Pedro and come to Long Beach in a roundabout way. The construction of a regulation landing dock, within the inner harbor, where landings from navy small boats could be made with ease, comfort and safety would do away with the expense entailed to the enlisted personnel who ride street cars, and would make landings for naval officers living here a matter of ease and convenience, it is urged.

That the money will be forthcoming and the naval landing be constructed was predicted today by harbor officials, who approved Maj. McGlone's report and will urge the City Council tomorrow to authorize the expenditure of the money. A tentative site for the landing has been selected by naval officers, who have conferred with harbor officials. It is located on Channel No. 5 and is conveniently situated with relation to other sections of Long Beach.

Naval officers have assured Maj. McGlone, he said, that if a suitable landing place is provided, an ever increasing number of officers and men would live in Long Beach in preference to other places.

NEW ELKS' HOME

Ontario Lodge Converts Second Story of Business Block

ONTARIO, July 22.—Workmen today started remodeling the second floor of the Fernand Block, at the northeast corner of Euclid avenue and a street, for the Ontario Lodge, B.P.O. Elks, who recently purchased the building.

The work, which is being done by the Campbell Construction Company, and will be rushed as rapidly as possible, will include the refinishing of the exterior of the brick structure, and reconstructing the upper floor to contain club and lodge rooms, kitchen, property room and secretary's office. The ground floor will continue to be leased to commercial interests and the income thus derived, it is said, will pay for the maintenance of the entire structure.

WOMAN FAILS IN SUICIDE ATTEMPT

SANTA ANA, July 22.—Mrs. C. S. Smith, wife of the president of a Long Beach packing concern, who was found yesterday at Seal Beach seated in her automobile with her throat slashed, will probably recover, according to information today from Orange County Hospital, where she was taken by Seal Beach officers.

A small razor found in the automobile indicated to officials that she had attempted to take her own life. A letter found in the car, addressed to Mrs. Smith, indicated that her husband had started divorce proceedings. Doctors at the hospital said Mrs. Smith was under the influence of a drug when she was brought in. The woman gave her street address as 3717 East Second street, Long Beach.

ARREST SMOKERS IN NATIONAL FOREST

REDLANDS, July 22.—J. H. Sanborn, ranger for this district of the San Bernardino forest reserve, has made six arrests in the past few days for violation of the county ordinance which prohibits smoking in the reserve except at camps and places of habitation.

Complaints were filed against the six in the court of Justice A. B. McCrary in Mission township, and the cases will be heard on July 28. They are against W. S. Burroughs of Redlands; M. Pearson of Huntington Beach; H. Weather of Los Angeles, Ray Farquhar of Los Angeles, T. Maria of Los Angeles and Henry Shrader of Riverside.

CORONER'S JURY REPORTS

ONTARIO, July 22.—At the Coroner's inquest held this afternoon at the Richardson funeral home, 830 West A street, over the remains of John G. Whittaker of 520 North Vine avenue, who died Tuesday night at the San Antonio Hospital, following a friendly scuffle with a fellow-employee at the Hotpoint plant here Monday afternoon, the verdict returned placed no responsibility for the accident. The jury simply stated that they found "death due to peritonitis caused by a kick, which was inflicted by P. C. Baird."

Fneral services for Whittaker will be held at Richardson's funeral home tomorrow morning at 10 o'clock, with the Rev. Benjamin A. Fye of Westminster Presbyterian Church officiating.

PLENTY OF CANDIDATES

Last Day for Filing Petitions Finds Many Ready and Willing to Accept Positions

SAN BERNARDINO, July 22.—There's no scarcity of candidates for political office in San Bernardino county. As the hour for filing nominating petitions closed tonight a total of 120 candidates for Federal, State, county and township offices had entered the campaigns for the August primary. This figure includes the State and Federal candidates but the record number of petitions on file represents largely the aspirants for township offices.

In the campaign for county offices there are but three contests. The contested offices are District Attorney for which George H. Johnson, incumbent, and Fred Duffy of San Bernardine are candidates; Recorder, with F. P. Feraud, incumbent, of Redlands; Clarence Baxter and C. E. Showalter, San Bernardino, in the race and Sheriff. In this contest are Walter A. Shay, incumbent, and T. G. McDonald of Rialto.

Harry L. Allison, Clerk; Howard L. Way, Surveyor; A. E. Allen, Assessor; M. W. H. Williams, Treasurer; Vincent L. Both, Auditor; John W. Batchelor, Tax Collector, and Miss Ida M. Collins, Superintendent of Schools, are the county officers who will be unopposed.

Three candidates, James Russell and John Anderson of San Bernardino and W. M. Bristol of East Highlands are entered in the contest for Supervisor of the Fifth District. In the Second District, Chairman C. E. Grier of Upland is opposed by James G. White, also of Upland.

Assemblyman Isaac Jones of Ontario is opposed by Arthur O. Dillon, also of Ontario.

FACTIONAL FIGHT IN IMPERIAL COUNTY

EL CENTRO, July 22.—Political candidates in Imperial county today engaged in a last-minute rush to get their nominating petitions into the County Clerk's office in order that their names will appear on the primary ballot August 31. More than sixty names were filed as candidates for the various county and township offices when the entry list was closed at 5 o'clock.

Main interest in the campaign in Imperial county this year centers around the fight being made by the Mark Rose political faction to defeat Superior Judges Franklin J. Cole and M. W. Conkling and Dist.-Atty. Ernest Utley.

Three successive grand juries named by these judges criticised the financial statement of the Imperial Irrigation District. Following the disclosure by the 1925 jury that hundreds of thousands of dollars had been wasted in sending farmer lobbyists to Washington to work for the all-American canal, charges of malfeasance in office were filed against the district directors and prosecuted by the District Attorney.

Members of the American Conservation Club, sponsors of the Rose regime in district affairs, openly declare that they want judges and a District Attorney who will keep hands off their irrigation district. Attorneys J. S. Larew and A. C. Finney of El Centro are the Conservation Club's candidates for judges and Elmer Heald of Calipatria is the club's candidate against Dist.-Atty. Utley.

CLERKS BUSY WITH LAST-MINUTE RUSH

BAKERSFIELD, July 22.—Subject to the electoral will of the voters of Kern county at the August primaries, 115 candidates for county office had filed their nomination papers at a late hour today, the closing date for the reception of such nominations. The force of County Clerk Frank E. Smith has been working at feverish speed all day checking signatures on the scores of nomination papers, including those for party committeemen.

Most of the county offices will be contested by two or more candidates, in but few instances county officials running unopposed.

FEW CONTESTS IN VENTURA ELECTION

VENTURA, July 22.—As the books in which the nomination papers of candidates for public office in Ventura county are filed closed this afternon at 5 o'clock, a total of sixty-three candidates were listed to be voted on at the primaries on August 31.

The election in most quarters evidently will be quiet as the incumbents of the offices of Sheriff, County Clerk, County Superintendent of Schools, County Surveyor, Assemblyman, County Treasurer and County Auditor and Recorder, who are candidates for re-election, are unopposed. Asst. Dist.-Atty. James Hollingsworth is the only candidate for District Attorney.

Interest will be shown in the race between Dist.-Atty. Edward Henderson and Attorney B. L. Gregg for Superior Judge to fill the office vacated by the resignation of Judge Merle J. Rogers.

TO DEED LAND TO PASADENA

Railroad Company Makes Offer in Compromise to Crown City

PASADENA, July 22.—Proceedings under way to condemn property owned by the Santa Fe Railroad adjacent to its tracks and fronting on North Broadway between Holly and East Walnut streets are expected to be dropped following the receipts today by the city of a compromise offer from the railroad which proposed to deed the city free of charge one-third of its holdings.

The condemnation proceedings were instituted following the decision to widen North Broadway, making it a principal north-and-south thoroughfare. The offer from the railroad company was made to City Manager Orbison by M. W. Reed, one of its attorneys, and will be submitted to the Board of City Directors probably next week.

Favorable decision is expected inasmuch as it is reported that the railroad is willing to agree further that the property which it retains will not be used for industrial purposes. The widening of Broadway between East Green street and Holly street, a distance of three blocks in the center of the downtown section of the city, is expected to cost $331,000.

Scant Reward for Efforts of Ontario Yeggs

ONTARIO, July 22.—Burglars who operated in Ontario at an early hour this morning, entering the Drew Carriage Company at 216 North Euclid avenue, and the Ontario Vulcanizing Works at 201 West A street, received scant reward for their efforts.

Entrance was obtained to the Drew establishment by cutting a screen and forcing a window opening onto an alley. Here the thieves made away with some small change from one of the cash registers, but were evidently frightened away before completing their work, as several dollars were scattered about the office floor and two revolvers that had been taken from one of the showcases were dropped in their flight.

At the vulcanizing plant nothing was taken as the introduers failed to gain entrance to an inner office. Patrolman Sydenstriker discovered the robberies at 4 o'clock this morning.

BLOW LAUNDRY SAFE

Robbers Get Away With Small Amount at Fullerton

FULLERTON, July 22.—The safe of the Fullerton Sanitary Laundry, 225 West Santa Fe street, was blown early today by robbers who used nitroglycerin, according to a report made to the Sheriff's office.

A sum of $40 in cash was taken, but a number of checks for large amounts were left untouched. Herman Zabel, finger-print expert of the Sheriff's office, said after an investigation that the job was that of professionals.

A mattress taken from a couch in the women's rest room of the laundry building was packed around the safe door, deadening the sound of the explosion. The safe door was blown completely off, and bits of the mattress were found sticking to the glass panel in the office partition. Entrance into the building was made through a rear window.

Deputy sheriffs who investigated today said they were not of the opinion that the robbers were the same that broke into the Home Oil Company office in Anaheim Tuesday night.

CITY TO CONTINUE PUBLICITY POLICY

SANTA MONICA, July 22.—The advertising budget for the 1926-27 campaign of the Greater Santa Monica Club has been fixed at $26,250, the executive committee making the announcement at its noonday luncheon. President W. W. Bennet was authorized to build up a campaign organization for raising this amount through subscription.

Continuation of the policy calling for page advertising in the Los Angeles Times was established, the executive board to use its discretion with any moneys which might be subscribed in excess of the budget, which includes a contingent fund to care for campaign expenses and possible collection losses. A volunteer group of representative business and professional men will handle the subscription campaign, the personnel to be announced later.

WORKMEN ESCAPE DEATH

BAKERSFIELD, July 22.—Three employees of the Southern California Edison Company, although painfully bruised and cut, miraculously escaped death when one side of a twenty-five-foot steel tower which the men were erecting eighteen miles north of Camp 12 in the Poso Selda, fell, carrying one of the men to the ground and landing on the other two. The injured are Sidney Drew Russell, Nels and Donald Holdaway.

HALTS COURT PROCEEDINGS

VISALIA, July 22.—Considerable excitement arose in the trial of Joe Mendes, Tulare dairy man charged with assault with a deadly weapon upon Aotone Rogers, his father-in-law, and Mrs. Lena Mendes, his young wife, when Mrs. Rogers, mother of the girl, went into hysterics under the strain of the proceedings and was carried from the court room. The case is being tried before Superior Judge J. A. Allen of Tulare county.

IS IT BURGLARY OR BUSINESS?

Pasadena Justice Takes Question Involved in Suit Against Installment Merchants Under Judicial Advisement

PASADENA, July 22.—When a furniture company enters a man's home during his absence by picking the lock on the door and repossesses furniture on which payments are delinquent, is it burglary, forcible entry or some similar crime, or is it merely good business practice? Justice J. Russell Morton will decide tomorrow, following today's session of Justice Court.

Russell Hergert, a salesman, was the complaining witness today, and charged the F. E. Conway Company of Los Angeles with forcible entry of his home during Hergert's absence. Representatives of the company are said to have broken into the house and removed two pieces of furniture on which payments were due.

The defendants argued that the contract states that if payments become delinquent, the company has the right to repossess the furniture, and that, therefore, Hergert knew of the impending action and had no right to throw obstacles in the way of the company's agents who broke into the house.

Dep. Dist.-Atty. Marchetti urged a dismissal on the ground that Hergert knew that the company intended to take back the merchandise. Justice Morton, however, declared that the question involved the protection of homes from forcible entry and reserved his decision until tomorrow.

STRIKE TALK AT FRESNO

Union Leaders Urge Men to Resent Adoption of American Plan

FRESNO, July 22.—Hints of a general strike of the building trades in Fresno if an attempt is made to put the American-plan policy into effect as announced by the San Joaquin Valley Industrial Association, were heard in union-labor circles here today, although no formal statement was forthcoming from the unions.

Union men said that no individual is authorized to make a statement for the unions, and none would disclose what action, if any, was taken by the executive committee of the trades council in session last night.

Those among the union men who would discuss the labor situation precipitated by the withdrawal of the Fresno Builders' Exchange and the announcement of the American plan policy, while declining to be quoted, said the first attempt to put the American plan into actual effect would be construed by union men as an "overt act," and hinted that the commission of the act would precipitate a general building trades strike.

"We do not know what we will be called upon to battle or when," said one union official who asked that his name be not made public, as none had been authorized to act as spokesman for the unions.

"When they actually begin the open shop, when they cut wages and increase working hours and abolish working rules that have been in effect here for years, will be time enough for us to meet the situation, which we will do because we will not take this bitter dose sitting down," he said.

The only development in the situation today was the issuance of a public statement by J. O. Martin, president of the Builders' Exchange, in which he announced that a meeting of the exchange has been called for next Thursday night, at which the organization will be abolished and its work carried through the industrial association, by which the American plan declaration was issued.

Business Men Pay Tribute to Dead Chinaman

SAN DIEGO, July 22.—While hundreds of his friends and many employees of Tia Juana establishments stood around his grave, Patricio Mee Hong, known as the "Father of Tia Juana" and a wealthy merchant of that town, was buried near the border village yesterday. About 500 cars followed the hearse on its trip to the little cemetery and every saloon, gambling house and dance hall was closed for three hours in honor of the man who made his money in the town and, in turn, helped to make the town with his money.

Hong, head of P. Mee Hong & Cia., went to Tia Juana about twenty years ago, a poor man. His first saloon did a good business but his real prosperity came when the United States decided on prohibition. Thirsty Americans made many demands on the Mexican town. Hong built and prospered: When he died he owned the San Diego Bar, the Hotel Mexico and several other enterprises in Tia Juana.

The "Father of Tia Juana" died last Sunday at Mercy Hospital here after an attack of appendicitis. He is survived by his widow, two daughters and a son.

GOVERNOR TO ATTEND

Executive Will Open Pageant of Children at Long Beach

LONG BEACH, July 22.—This city's annual summer playground pageant, scheduled for July 28 at Recreation Park, will be formally opened by Gov. Richardson, it was announced here today. The Governor, who has established his summer capital in Long Beach, as in former years, has advised school playground officials that he will attend the pageant with his party.

An honor guard composed of Boy Scouts will escort the Governor and his party to their seats. Members of the City Council, Board of Education and a number of playground executives from other cities on the Pacific Coast will be guests of honor.

"The Landing of the Pilgrims," "The Making of the Flag," and a number of other historical episodes will be featured on the big stage, which is to be 253 feet wide and forty-nine feet deep. Several hundred school children of the city will participate.

CHURCH BELL FALLS

Old Tower of Mission Gives Way Under Strain

SAN DIEGO, July 22.—While a priest was ringing the bell for mass early this morning at the San Luis Rey mission, a part of the bell tower collapsed and the bell and a quantity of debris fell to the ground.

The part of the tower destroyed had been rebuilt several years ago, but apparently the remaining material was not strong enough to sustain the bell and withstand the vibration caused by the pendulum-like motion of the clapper and the swinging of the bell.

No one was injured when the tower collapsed, but reports of the accident increased as they spread and from sources came the erroneous information that the mission tower had been completely destroyed. The damage is estimated at about $200.

TIRE COMPANY MEN PICNIC AT BEACH

REDONDO BEACH, July 22.—Twenty-five hundred employees of the Goodyear Tire and Rubber Company of Los Angeles and their families and friends held the seventh annual picnic of the organization here today. Events of the morning included aquatic sports and a bathing-beauty parade, and following the picnic lunch in the municipal park a program of athletic contests was held on El Paseo street. A golf tourney on the Palos Verdes links and special programs in the theaters were supplemented by dancing at the Redondo Pavilion with music by the Goodyear Orchestra. Special-rate tickets and extra train service were provided by the Pacific Electric Railway Company.

FUNERAL AT COVINA

COVINA, July 22.—The funeral service of Mrs. Ethel Curtis who died suddenly Sunday at the Covina Hospital as a result of an attack of appendicitis, was held this afternoon at the parlors of Custer and Christiansen. The service was conducted by Mrs. W. W. Bennett, reader of the local Christian Science Church. Mrs. Curtis was the mother of John Jarmuth, secretary of the Glendora Chamber of Commerce and Douglas Jarmuth of Los Angeles. She is also survived by her father, Albert Hemstead of this city.

Fresno Voters Take Part in Recall Today

FRESNO, July 22.—Fresno voters will go to the polls tomorrow to decide whether or not Mayor Al E. Sunderland shall be recalled, and if so which of three candidates shall be elected his successor.

At their last meeting prior to the recall election, the City Commission this morning failed to take any action on the $1,252,641 budget for 1926-27, which with its attendant prospective tax rate increase of 20.9 cents, is one of the paramount issues of the recall campaign, inasmuch as Sunderland's departments receive 63 per cent of the budget appropriations.

Sunderland late yesterday issued a statement, in which he said that he has not called upon the commission to consider the budget because he wanted to await the outcome of the recall and not force upon a possible successor a budget that might not be to his liking.

With a registration of 17,419 for the recall election, it was estimated today that a vote of about 40 per cent will be cast tomorrow.

ADOPT ZONE SYSTEM FOR COLLEGE TOWN

CLAREMONT, July 22.—Sponsored by the Claremont Chamber of Commerce and other civic organizations, the issue of zoning the city of Claremont for residence and business purposes will soon be placed before the City Trustees. A complete plan has been recommended by prominent city planners, which will give Claremont one of the most satisfactory zoning ordinances of any city its size in Southern California. Eight classes are provided, covering single-family dwellings, courts, apartments, business buildings, garages, parks, industrial buildings, and all other types of construction.

With five subdivisions now being developed in Claremont, the expansion of the Pomona College campus assured and plans for new city improvements made, the zoning issue is in the foreground of public thought and early action is expected on the proposed ordinance.

MULTITUDE PAYS LAST SAD TRIBUTE

LEMOORE, July 22.—The double funeral today for Principal Farley M. Auble of the Grangeville school and his wife, Alice Auble, also a teacher in that school, killed Monday when a train struck their automobile, was the largest ever held here.

Rev. L. V. Lucas officiated. The grave-side rites were participated in by Hanford Lodge of Elks and the United Spanish War Veterans, of which Mr. Auble was a member, and by the auxiliary of the latter, to which Mrs. Auble belonged. Many were unable to get inside the chapel in which the funeral was held, and the cortege was more than a mile in length.

WOMAN SAVES BOY'S LIFE

Former Swimming Champion Braves Strong Tide to Bring Youth to Shore

REDONDO BEACH, July 22. (AP)—Leaping in a dangerous rip tide encumbered by all of her clothing with the exception of her shoes, Miss Bobbie M. Middlemas, 24, in her girlhood a champion swimmer, today effected the rescue of an 18-year-old youth who was being carried out into the ocean.

Miss Middlemas had been driving down the Esplanade at the beach when she noticed the rip tide forming. Her experienced eye told her that the youth, later identified as Everett Fleming of Watts, was in trouble.

She stopped her automobile, slid down a fifty-foot cliff to the beach, kicked off her shoes and dove into the water. In spite of the handicap of her clothing, she reached Fleming as he was disappearing below the surface.

Seizing him, she swam outward and away from the ripping current and then turned for the shore. Just as she reached the line of breakers, however she collapsed from exhaustion. In the meantime a party of bathers had started to her assistance and they succeeded in dragging Miss Middlemas and Fleming up on the beach.

Both of them were unconscious and a passing physician succeeded in reviving them after a brief interval. Fleming was taken immediately to his home while his rescurer got into her automobile and drove away before officials arrived at the scene.

Miss Middlemas is a prominent member of the Los Angeles Athletic Club and is well known in the aquatic world. She was a member of the swimming teams of that organization for many years.

TRACES OF OLD-TIME ISLANDERS

Scientific Men Advance New Theory as to Inhabitants of Channel Islands

SANTA BARBARA, July 22.—Belief that Santa Barbara Channel Islands were at one time inhabited by natives of the South Sea islands who were forced here by compulsory migration was expressed in scientific circles here today following the return of Norton Stuart, curator of Santa Barbara Natural History Museum. Mr. Stuart made extensive excavations, found ancient cave dwellings and signs of life closely resembling that found on the Malay Peninsula and nearby islands.

Mr. Stuart stated that many artifices of the Indians have been found which are similar to those found in the South Sea Islands and in the Malay Peninsula. It would be interesting, he said, to have an archaeologist dig up the story of these island Indians and perhaps find some positive connection between the former inhabitants of the island and the South Seas or the Malay Peninsula. Over 15 per cent of the language used by the Chumashan Indians who lived in this region is of Polynesian extraction, according to the curator. Before this investigation he believed that the inhabitants were of the Chumashan tribe only but now he is of the opinion that there is a possibility of foreign influence.

INCREASE CAPITAL

San Diego Store to Greatly Enlarge Business

SAN DIEGO, July 22.—The capital stock of Holzwassers, Inc., was increased to $1,000,000 and that of the Sunshine Realty Company to $2,000,000 at a meeting of directors of the two allied enterprises today. It is expected that the State Corporation Department will approve the increased capitalization as it is the intention of the Sunshine company to start work immediately on a new four-story concrete building at Fourth street and Broadway as an addition to the Holzwasser Department Store adjoining.

Officers of the Owl Drug Company, now occupying the corner ground floor at Fourth and Broadway, are coming here next week to confer with Holzwasser directors regarding disposition of the drug store location during construction of the new building.

The new building corporation desires to remove the present Owl building and does not wish to build around the structure. Owl drug officials are said to be considering several plans and an agreement is expected when they confer with Holzwasser directors next week.

NEWSPAPER MEN MEET

Orange County Scribes Organize a Press Club

SANTA ANA, July 22.—Members of the Orange County Press Club attended in large numbers last night the second meeting of the club, held in Hewes Park, with Mr. and Mrs. D. Eyman Huff as host and hostess. A count showed 114 to be present, among whom were editors, reporters and advertising men, representing virtually every one of the twenty Orange county newspapers. As special guests Ben Read, executive secretary of the Southern California Editorial Association; Lincoln Quarberg of the United Press Bureau in Los Angeles, and Ralph Brown and W. E. Mountfort of the Long Beach Press-Telegram met with the Orange county newspaper men.

An invitation of W. O. Hart of the Orange Daily News to hold the next meeting in Orange was accepted. Mr. Huff was asked to attend as a guest of honor.

Enthusiastic comments on Orange county were brought back from the convention of the National Editorial Association, held recently in Los Angeles, by Ben Read, secretary of the Southern California Editorial Association. "A kindly feeling was had by the editors toward Orange county," he said. "They had the time of their lives and ran out of adjectives in praising the Southland. The stories they sent to their home papers in the East ran to several column lengths often on the front page.

ACCIDENT VICTIM WINS DAMAGE SUIT

SANTA ANA, July 22.—Mrs. Roxanna Archer, who received injuries when run down by an automobile driven by Thomas Wright, Jr., in Tustin, was awarded $3250 damages against the youth and his father, Thomas Wright, Sr., by a jury which heard her $10,000 damage suit in Superior Judge E. J. Marks's court yesterday.

The jury was out from 3:37 p.m. until 7:50 p.m. in reaching its verdict. The defense was granted a stay of execution for ten days, indicating plans for an appeal. Attorneys Barbee and Vernum of Long Beach represent Mrs. Archer in the case, Clyde Bishop of Santa Ana being counsel for the Wrights.

SCHOOLS WORTH MILLIONS

BAKERSFIELD, July 22.—An increase of approximately $400,000 in Kern county school property during the last year brings the total valuati on to $7,197,951, according to figures compiled by the County Superintendent of Schools. The peak in building has been reached and passed and the most recent achievement is the construction of the $60,000 high school at Maricopa this year.

No Indictment in Tong War at Santa Barbara

SANTA BARBARA, July 22.—On the third day of the grand jury investigation of the Chinese tong war, an indictment against three members of Bing Kong tong was refused this morning. Bing Bing Fee, Bing Kong member, held in the County Jail was immediately released.

The jury was called to investigate the killing of Ging Han, Hop Sing leader on July 1, the first Chinaman to fall victim in the Pacific Coast war. From Hop Sing tong headquarters a few days ago came the word that the Hop Sings would not retaliate for the numerous killings of their members, leaving the matter to the settlement of the courts. If conviction was not obtained, however, they said it would be another matter. Refusal of the grand jury to return an indictment is taken as evidence that the Hop Sing tong now will strike back in the custom known only to Chinese.

ROB POOL HALL

Kern County Officials Find No Trace of Bandits

BAKERSFIELD, July 22.—Officials of Kern county are searching for two bandits who last night raided a Delano pool hall and at the point of guns robbed the proprietor of approximately $130 in money, watches and cigarettes. Few details of the daring robbery are on record at the Sheriff's office, where Marshal Jack Hoppell of Delano made a brief report and returned in quest of the two men. They are said to have entered the establishment unmasked and forced the caretaker to deliver the valuables.

Deputy Sheriff Bob Prewitt was sent to Delano this morning to make an investigation and to assist in a search for the bandits, but at a late hour he had not returned from the northern city.

OLD OFFICER BACK ON FULLERTON FORCE

FULLERTON, July 22.—Douglas Chambers, whose resignation as a member of Fullerton's traffic squad was announced during the extensive police "shake-up" instituted recently by the Board of Trustees, is again a member of the force, Chief T. K. Winter announced this morning. Chambers' resignation was accepted by Chief Winters on the 1st inst., and since his retirement from the force, it is said that petitions, bearing the signatures of hundreds of Fullerton citizens, have been presented to the board asking his reinstatement.

When the resignation of J. S. Elder as Trustee was announced last week, it was rumored that his retirement from the board would possibly be followed by the reinstatement of several of the officers released from the force during the "clean-up." John Trexler, appointed patrolman recently, who has been filling the position of traffic officer temporarily since the 1st inst., is to resume the duties of patrolman, it is announced.

PIONEER WHO DIRECTED TYING OF EARLY WESTERN ROADS DIES

Joseph Stahr, 76 years of age, employee of the Southern Pacific for more than half a century and a resident of Los Angeles for the past ten years, will be laid to rest in Ogden, Utah, after funeral services conducted here today at the Church of the Latter Day Saints, 153 West Adams street, at 1 p.m.

Mr. Stahr had several ribs fractured and was reported to have suffered internal injuries when in crossing the street at Forty-eighth street and Vermont avenue last Saturday, he was struck by an automobile. He died at his home, 1117 West Forty-ninth street.

The pioneer railroader was born in Germany and came with his parents to America when but 2 years of age. The first home in the new country was established at Buffalo, N. Y. The family set out for California and arrived here when Joseph Stahr was a youth of 16, taking the circuitous route around the Horn.

Railroading appealed to the young man and he became an employee at Sacramento. Later, he removed to Ogden, Utah, where he became a construction foreman and as such directed the driving of the spike which united the Union Pacific and Central Pacific at Promontory Hill, thus bringing the first locomotive to the Pacific Coast.

Married in 1882 to Miss Charlotte Critchlow, whom he met in Ogden, he and his family lived there until 1916 when they removed to Los Angeles. When pensioned eight years ago, Mr Stahr was construction foreman of the Southern Pacific car shops here.

He leaves a widow and ten living children, Mrs. Anne Fox and Joseph Stahr, Jr., of Salt Lake City; Mrs. Maude Brown, Mrs. Margaret Burgess and John W. Stahr of Ogden; Glenn C. Stahr of Culver City, and Mrs Ruby Lightner, Mrs. Marion Roach, Afton Stahr and Mrs. Dorothy Drury of Los Angeles.

ARRESTS INCREASE HEAVILY

County Jail Figures Show Total of 12,292 Booked in Past Year With Drop in Age Average

Twenty-six per cent more prisoners were booked in the County Jail during the fiscal year ending June 30, according to a report made yesterday by Sheriff Traeger to the Board of Supervisors. This makes a total of 12,292 prisoners booked during that period, it was reported. Of the total arrests 21 per cent were for violations of the Wright or Volstead acts, making a total of 2625.

Of the number arrested, 690 were assigned to the Sheriff's detention camps, an increase of 21 per cent over the previous year. It was also pointed out that major crimes increased 20 per cent during the year. Criminal investigations by deputy sheriffs and constables totaled 28,830, according to the report. Out of a total of 13,085 automobiles reported stolen, cars valued at $680,000 were recovered, it was reported.

It was pointed out by the Sheriff's statistics that the Sheriff's men, of which there are 350 available for outside duty, must patrol a territory of 4009 square miles. It was estimated that this is for a population of 338,000. The Sheriff has established a system of substations to cope with this condition.

The report also shows that the average age of prisoners has become lower. In the fiscal year ending June 30, 1925, 2138 prisoners between the ages of 15 and 20 were booked. This increased during the year to 2328, an advance of 8.8 per cent. Forty-one per cent of all prisoners booked during the fiscal year were under 25 years old, it was shown. The civil department of the Sheriff's office transacted business amounting to $1,285,000, says the report.

The time limit for filing nominating petitions for the primary election to be held on Tuesday, August 31, next, expired at midnight last night. The office of the Registrar of Voters was thronged throughout the afternoon and evening by those either filing belated petitions or rechecking signatures already filed.

All petitions filed in the various counties of the State will be checked by local officials and dispatched to Secretary of State Jordan, who will compile an official list of candidates and certify the names of those who will appear on the August ballot.

Persons eligible to vote in California who have not yet signed the register have until the 31st inst. to qualify as electors for the primary. In view of the registration of more than 622,000 voters in Los Angeles county alone it is believed that the total for the State will exceed 2,000,000.

Temple at 301 North Broadway this afternoon, and his stand on crime - prevention and law - enforcement was enthusiastically indorsed by the large audience which crowded the assembly hall. Mrs. Wheeler presided, and a reception for Mr. Merriam followed, in which he was thanked for his many services to the cause of women and the home during his ten years in the California Legislature and his four years as Speaker of the Assembly. Mr. Merriam has just opened headquarters in the Lankershim Hotel, Suite 210-211, and has already had many callers assuring him of support for the Lieutenant-Governorship and offering aid in his candidacy.

In an open letter yesterday to the voters of the Tenth Congressional District, Lin William Price, Republican candidate or Congress, comments upon Boulder Dam as a campaign issue as follows:

"I charge that my opponent, Joe Crail, sought the political support of W. B. Matthews, counsel for the Los Angeles City Bureau of Power and Light, and was informed that if Ralph Criswell did not run for Congress, that he (Crail) would be given the support of that bureau.

"I charge further that Crail, through such requests, definitely aligned himself with Hiram Johnson's machine, which seeks to foist a slate of candidates and a $500,000,000 indebtedness to the people of California at the coming election.

"I further charge that were it not for the dominating tactics of this local group, known as the power-and-light crowd (which has evidenced like tactics in the Owens Valley,) the people of California and her sister States, through their accredited representatives, would have made Boulder Dam construction a reality long before this.

"Fearing that aroused public sentiment would bring about the passage of pending Boulder Dam legislation at the last session of Congress, this self-same group willingly acquiesced in keeping the Boulder Dam issue alive that their candidates might ride into office at the coming election on that issue."

More than 10,000 signatures of voting citizens were obtained when petitions for the indorsement of Attorney Walter A. Ham as candidate for the position of Superior judge were circulated, it was announced today.

The names were signed without the declared affiliation of Ham with any political party. He is the first candidate to run for election at the August primaries on an independent ticket.

Indorsement of Ham as Superior Judge was also given by 350 local attorneys, fellow-members at the local bar, where Ham has practiced for the past thirteen years.

Ralph L. Criswell yesterday qualified as candidate for the Republican nomination to Congress from the Tenth District by filing his petition with Registrar of Voters William Kerr. Among those heading the names on the petition were H. H. Kinney, secretary to the Mayor; Boyle Workman, president of the City Council, and Councilman Otto J. Zahn, Franw Shaw, Edward E. Moore, A. J. Barnes, City Engineer Shaw, Deputy City Attorney Lewis E. Whitehead, City Controller John Myers, Deputy City Controller Chester C. Ashley, City Clerk Robert Domingues and W. B. Matthews, chief counsel of the Municipal Water and Power Department.

"The amendment which is being offered the people on the November ballot, segregation the short-line and the long-line railroads, is entitled to your support in the interest of fairness," said Senator Lyman M. King, candidate for Lieutenant-Governor, to the Kiwanis Club of Palo Alto yesterday in the course of his talk on the State tax system and what can be done to better it. "We would have given the short-line roads, like the Yosemite and the Santa Maria lines, a lower rate than was assessed against the big roads like the Southern Pacific, the Santa Fe and the Salt Lake, when the King tax bill was framed, if we could have done so and not rendered the bill unconstitutional.

"The point is that though the railroads pay on their gross receipts, at the same time the rate of assessment goes back to the valuations of the lines. The relationship of the gross receipts of the long lines to their valuations is not the same as that of the short lines. They should be segregated, then the Legislature can do justice in the situation.

"But then there are several places in which the State tax system can be changed for the benefit of the people," said the author of the King bill, who makes known his intention to frame a new system and offer it to the people, the basis of his campaign for office.

George W. Rochester has been indorsed by the Young Men's Republican League of Los Angeles county as a candidate for the Republican nomination for the State Assembly in the Seventy-fifth Assembly District, according to the statement of Chairman George A. Glover of the league's executive committee.

Mr. Rochester is an attorney, an ex-service man, and a member of the Los Angeles Fire Commission on appointment of Mayor Cryer.

"Additional governmental funds must be obtained to complete the development of the Los Angeles-Long Beach Harbor," W. H. Evans, candidate for the Republican nomination in the Ninth Congression District race, declared last night to an audience assembled in the Masonic Hall at Montebello.

"Community Co-operation" was the subject on which Evans spoke yesterday noon when addressing members of the Kiwanis Club at Eagle Rock.

The candidacy of Rex B. Goodcell for the Republican nomination for Governor is attracting the support of many prominent war veterans throughout the State. Leo D. Daze of Los Angeles, prominent in both the American Legion and Veterans of Foreign Wars, has announced his support of Goodcell. Daze is a past commander of the Los Angeles county council of the Legion, is past department commander of the Veterans of Foreign Wars, is past commander and one of the organizers of Victory Post, American Legion of Los Angeles and a former State executive committeeman of the Legion. In his statement Daze says:

"Judge Goodcell was the first gubernatorial candidate to make known his platform; that platform pledged aid to the veterans' cause in every possible way, particularly the State bond issue to be voted upon in November to provide funds for continuing the veteran welfare work in California.

"In a personal way and as a public official Judge Goodcell has always shown a friendly interest in the welfare of the veterans—and by this I mean the veterans of all wars—and is entitled to their support. It is my candid opinion that as Governor of the State of California he would do everything possible to further their cause, especially the disabled who will require and should have public recognition."

A meeting in Westlake Park under the auspices of the Daylight chapter of the Eastern Star at 12:30 today will be addressed by Dep. Dist.-Atty. H. S. G. McCartney, former State Senator, who is a candidate for the Superior bench to serve the unexpired term of Judge J. Perry Wood, resigned.

Immediately upon the completion of this address, McCartney will speak to another meeting to be conducted in Barker Brothers' auditorium, where he will tell the Women's Republican Club of his twenty years of public service.

To clear up confusion relative to the candidacy of Judge Frederick C. Valentine to succeed himself on the Superior Court bench, Judge Edward C. Bishop yesterday made the following statement:

"The fact that I am a candidate for election to the Superior Court vacancy caused by the resignation of former Judge L. H. Valentine may be prejudicial to the campaign of Judge Frederick C. Valentine, I fear, unless the attention of the electorate is called to the similarity of names.

"Therefore, in justice to Judge Frederick Valentine, for whom I entertain the highest regard, I wish to point out that when it is stated that I am running to fill the 'Valentine vacancy,' it is the vacancy left when Judge L. H. Valentine, former presiding judge, resigned. It so happens that we had two Judge Valentines on the Superior Court bench at one time, and it would not be fair that this coincidence react to the disadvantage of Judge Frederick C. Valentine. I have heard that some persons have the impression that he is not a candidate, and I certainly would not wish to receive any votes that would otherwise go to him, particularly in view of the fact that those who wish to can vote for both of us. Judge Frederick C. Valentine is very much in the race and on the job in his department every day."

Greeting with prolonged applause Gov. Friend W. Richardson's statement that "as long as a law is on the statute books I think it ought to be enforced," members of the Los Angeles County Women's Christian Temperance Union at a meeting yesterday afternoon heartily approved of the determined stand the Governor has taken on law enforcement.

The Governor, in a brief address, declared anew his interest in State institutions having to do with the welfare of many California unfortunates. "The school for the blind at Berkeley has had my special consideration," he stated, "and as a result a splendid new building has been erected, while plans call for another to be completed next year. Additional teachers have been added, and for the first time in twelve years this institution has been placed in a position to care adequately for those who make it their home."

The $6,000,000 appropriation for new State institutional buildings in the last budget will assist in solving many problems of a humanitarian nature, the Governor further pointed out, and in the meantime hospitals for the insane are curing and restoring to society 50 per cent of their inmates, while the three schools for delinquents are setting these young people back on the right road.

Characterizing the home for the feeble minded as the most pathetic of all State institutions, the Governor told the women of the new institution being erected near Pomona, as well as the enlargement of the old buildings which will allow for adequate care of children.

Col. George J. Denis, leading pioneer lawyer, statesman and citizen has given his indorsement to John W. Luter for Superior Court judge, and is urging his friends to support and vote for him. Col. Denis, it will be recalled, was sent by President Wilson as special commissioner of the United States to Paris during the World War; being selected from America as a man best qualified and fitted to look after the important affairs at that critical time.

Application of the home and farm loan system to all working people, who would receive loans from the State at 5 per cent over periods of twenty years, is advocated by Buron Fitts, chief deputy district attorney of Los Angeles county, candidate for the Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor.

The Sixty-fourth Assembly Republican Club and the Twelfth District Civic League have indorsed Sidney T. Graves as a candidate for Supervisor from the Third District. Clarence W. Horn, vice-president of the Republican Club, in a letter to Mr. Graves advising him of the indorsement, says: "Your splendid record as a public official for the past eight years, and your knowledge of the Third District especially fit you to hold this important office."

Senator Roy Fellom of San Francisco, candidate for Republican nomination for Lieutenant-Governor, yesterday filed his nominating petition consisting of 4300 names obtained in San Francisco and Oakland. Simultaneously with filing his nominating petition Senator Fellom issued the following statement:

"In filing my petition I am putting the whole wet and dry question before the voters of the State at the primary election. My campaign will be concentrated on my chief plank, which is a referendum by the next Legislature for modification of the Volstead Act."

"EXTRAS" UNNECESSARY

Engineer Under Oath Testifies $250,000 Worth of Work on Storm Drain Not Needed

That $250,000 of the "extras" charged against the West Adams storm drain were unnecessary and that the responsibility for ordering them rested on the shoulders of Public Works Commissioner Dunn and that they were ordered without the approval of the city's inspection, engineering and legal departments, was developed at yesterday's hearing by the City Council's Public Works Committee into the improvement costs.

The principal witness yesterday was H. P. Cortelyou, engineer of construction in the department of Inspector of Public Works, and his testimony, which was given under oath, was in many ways the most sensational given so far in these hearings.

For it was Construction Engineer Cortelyou who was on the West Adams job for the city as its construction by Contractor Peter R. Gadd progressed. Engineer Cortelyou, in answers to questions by Councilman Colden, City Attorney Stephens and Assistant City Attorney Whitehead, testified that in his (Cortelyou's) opinion between 75 per cent and 85 per cent and possibly 90 per cent of the piling and concrete foundations placed under the West Adams storm drain were unnecessary.

PILES UNNECESSARY

"The driving of the piles," testified Engineer Cortelyou, "except in Moynier Lane, was unnecessary and the concrete mattress on which the storm drain was laid in many sections was not necessary except in one or two instances.

"When this question of the necessity of additional work came up after the contractor had stopped placing rock foundation and tile subdrains for the storm drain at his own expense, I took Commissioner Dunn and members of the engineering and inspection departments for a complete inspection of the West Adams job. We thought that we had convinced Commissioner Dunn that the contractor by using crushed rock and tile subdrains at his own expense and as a part of his general contract would provide a solid foundation for the storm drain. Then came the order of the Board of Public Works to go ahead with the piling and the concrete mattress to be billed as extras."

It was at this point that Councilman Ciden brought out that this action of the board was taken on motion of Commissioner Dunn in the face of contrary recommendations by Inspector of Public Works Rock and Mr. Cortelyou of City Engineer Shaw's recommendations for piling foundation only in Moynier Lane, and without consulting the City Attorney's office as to whether or not the contractor could be required to do this work as part of his general contract, or whether he would be permitted to bill it against the property owners as "extras."

ENGINEER'S TESTIMONY

Much of the testimony of Engineer Cortelyou was devoted to showing in detail where the extra work done by Contractor Gadd was unnecessary. It had been previously testified that the piles had been driven after test pits of borings had been made.

"If I had been in complete charge of the work, I would have directed that excavations be made to determine the character of the soil before the piles were driven," the witness stated. "I question even if a rock foundation was needed under the storm drain at many points where a foundation was placed.

"If the contractor had done as I told him to do, and installed tile subdrains as required by his contract, then the rock mattress would not have been necessary. The contractor refused to do as I ordered and appealed to the Board of Public Works. My report to the board was filed, and the board ordered the foundation and piling to proceed as extra work. I am convinced that concrete mats were laid as extras under the storm drain in places where the subsoil was dry.

"I took Commissioner Dunn to the Arroyoa de la Sacatela storm-drain job which was then being built and showed him how the tile drains were drying the subsoil even under worse conditions than in Adams street. Later Inspector Rock said that orders had come from the board to go ahead with the piling."

On the question of the value of Section 16 1-2 of the general city specifications under which Contractor Gadd presented his bill of $208,985 for "extras" on the storm drain, the witness said that Section 16 1-2 was a valuable provision for the protection of the property owners if the provisions were not "abused or misused." He said that if the section were amended to provide that "extras" must be bid at prices varying as to the quantities of the extras that were found necessary and at prices the same as or less as set forth in the City Engineer's specifications then, the engineer said, the contractors would make no effort to put in any extras except those that were absolutely necessary as there would be no profits in the "extras."

She is not certain where and when Beers was married, his mother stated, but the couple will be back today to speak for themselves. They will make their home at 2322 Grandview Drive.

Beers and his bride have been honeymooning in San Francisco for several days, it was learned.

SANTA MONICA—
For Sale, Ex., Wanted, To Let

A LOVELY HOME, JUST A LITTLE WAY FROM THE SEA

On Santa Monica's most noted street, with its wonderful view of canyon, mountains & ocean we have for sale a new home.

A bit of the charm of Old Spain has been caught in this house, from its red-tiled entrance to the garage, with its large storage room and servants' apartments.

The large living room, 17x28, and the library adjoining are unusually attractive. The dining room opens onto a tiled patio and the entirely enclosed yard. On this floor is also the guest bedroom with a beautiful bath in Nile green and black tile. Upstairs are two master bedrooms and another tiled bath. These rooms are charming in their beamed ceilings, finished as are the living rooms, in driftwood. The garage, with its overhanging balcony, contains three-room servants' apartment. A large storage room, and space for two large cars. Cellar and furnace, of course.

In all, a home with distinctiveness and an air, yet with a feeling of comfort & happiness. In any other place than Santa Monica you would pay much more than the modest price of $25,500, for which we can deliver it. Shown only by appointment, but at your convenience. Just see H. D. C. Parker, with
